Former German Army Officers Demand Equal Recognition From West

MAKE THEIR PRICE FOR HELPING AGAINST REDS

Hamburg, Germany, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Three conditions have been proposed by a group of former German army officers called "The Brotherhood (Die Bruderschaft)" for West Germany's entry into the West's military defense against Communism. These are:

1—Full sovereignty and equality for Germany as a nation.

2—A United Europe with a common army in which the German units would serve on equal terms and under their own commanders.

3—"Restoration of the honor of the German soldier and eradication of the shame of Nuernberg"—where many officers were convicted of war crimes.

A petition to the Bonn government outlining these terms was adopted unanimously at a meeting of 500 members of the organization here last night. Thousands of ex-soldiers had signed the petition previously.

CRUCIAL SESSION IN U. N, EXPECTED

Retiring President Deems Meeting Sept. 19 Most Important

Manila, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Carlos P. Romulo, retiring president of the United Nations general assembly, said tonight the session beginning Sept. 19 "is universally considered the most crucial since establishment of the U. N."

Just before his departure for Lake Success, N. Y., Romulo said trouble may pop even before the session starts. He expects Soviet Russia to oppose the seating of Nationalist China by the credentials committee, which he will appoint.

Besides the Korean question, which the general assembly may have to take over to prevent a Soviet veto of the U. N. plans to help the South Korean Republic, Romulo listed these problems on the agenda:

Nationalist China's complaint alleging Soviet Union threats to China's territorial integrity and the peace of the Far East;

The U. N. attitude toward Spain;

An international regime for Jerusalem;

Disposition of former Italian colonies;

Charges by the United States, the United Kingdom and Australia that Russia has failed to repatriate or account for war prisoners; and

The question of freedom of information, including the draft covenant on the subject and proposals of the subcommittee of freedom of information which met in Montevideo last May.

COUNCIL REPORTS ON ACHIEVEMENTS

Source Of Electric Power Reported To Be Adequate At Last

The Monroe City Council today in a lengthy report to the citizens of Monroe explained the status of various projects undertaken by the council and the progress on each during their two years in office.

It was pointed out by the council that the report is in keeping with their policy of advising the public on improvements and progress being made in Monroe.

Included in the report is an account for 23 contracts which have been awarded and several of which have been completed in connection with the municipal power plant.

For the first time in many years, Monroe now has an adequate source of power, according to the report. The council related that a new 100,000 pound boiler is being installed at the power plant and a new 7,500 KW turbine generator. This unit is now in operation.

In addition to the various improvements at the power plant, the city has constructed numerous new transmission, feeder and extension lines throughout the city.

The council in its report expressed regret at the inconvenience caused by tearing up streets in the downtown area and pointed out that this was for the purpose of receiving electrical lines in this area and for installing street lights.

Along with these projects, the city has completed a $118,118 airport building at Selman field, assisted the Public Health Board of

Columbus, Neb., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A 20-year-old man, father of two children, told police today how he choked and beat to death with a hatchet a pretty, 16-year-old car hop who resisted his advances.

Found on the edge of Lake Babcock, three miles north of Columbus, was the battered, nearly nude and decapitated body of Bonnie Lou Merrill, high school junior from Silver Creek, Neb.

Named in the first degree murder charge filed this afternoon by County Attorney Arthur W. Kummer was Roland Dean Sundahl of Norfolk, Neb., a laborer who lived with his wife and two children in a small house back of his parents' home in Norfolk.

Police Chief Edward Nicholite said Sundahl gave him this version of the incident:

Teachers To Be Paid On Experience Basis

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Eight Louisiana College presidents were told today to use only Louisiana teaching experience as a yardstick in recommending any faculty pay raises.

The new policy was announced by the state board of education, whose committees met in closed session here for the past three days. The board also approved 1950-51 budgets for the institutions it administers and named Northwestern State College's athletic director, H. Lee Prather, as its temporary president.

A board attache said the policy is similar to one followed by Louisiana's elementary and high schools. He said it is designed to bring college teacher pay in line with public school salaries, raised to a $2500 a year minimum several years ago.

FRANKLIN CATTLE BUYER IS SLAIN

14-Year-Old Negro Boy Admits Attack On George E. Dixon

Winnsboro, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—A 14-year-old Negro boy has admitted the slaying of a 76-year-old Winnsboro cattle buyer whom he robbed of $10, it was reported today by George Ferrington, city marshall.

The youth was identified by police as Willie Addison of Winnsboro. He was picked up by officers at his home about 9:45 a.m., and sometime later he confessed to the murder.

Assistant Coroner, Dr. L. F. Robinson, asserted the victim, George E. Dixon, died of a skull fracture, caused by two deep cuts on the head, above and back of the right ear. A sharp instrument which has not been found, is believed to have been used by the attacker, Robinson said.

Addison admitted taking a billfold containing $10 from the dead man's body. He told police that he had disposed of the billfold by throwing it into Ash slough. After taking the money the Negro youth said that he hid it under a Barrel in a local store. The money had not been found late Saturday, authorities said.

A Search for Dixon began Friday evening when he failed to come home for supper. Concerned over her husbands whereabouts, Mrs. Dixon called a friend Mrs. Bailey Martin, who informed her of last seeing the cattle buyer near the slough that afternoon.

Mrs. Martin's story was as follows: "A neighbor and myself were sitting on my front porch about 3 p.m. when we saw Mr. Dixon enter Ash slough with a Negro boy. He asked the boy if he would meet him later. A little later I saw Mr. Dixon return down the slough and the Negro came out sometime later. I never saw Mr. Dixon leave the slough again." (Ash slough runs on the outskirts of Winnsboro).

The body was found by George Ferrington and Woodrow Wilson, assistant city marshall, who led a searching party and made the dis-

Tokyo C. Of C. Aids U. N. Troops In Korea

Tokyo, Sept. 2.—(AP)— The Tokyo chamber of commerce and industry this month began a drive to collect comfort kits for the United Nations soldiers fighting in Korea.

The call no sooner went out than the chamber office was swamped with school children, girl students and office girls. Their principal gifts were harmonicas and Japanese dolls.

The pocket-sized dolls, they explained, were intended as good luck charms.

HIT AT TAEGU

U. S. First Calvary Attacked By Estimated 6,000 Red Troops

AMERICANS PRESSED BACK APPROXIMATELY ONE MILE

By Leif Erickson

With first cavalry division in Korea, Sunday, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Tank supported Communist troops attacked first cavalry division positions Saturday in a concentrated thrust toward Taegu.

An estimated 6,000 North Koreans hit the cavalry on the northwestern front, and a division spokesman said the Reds had penetrated a little more than one mile.

(An eighth army communique Sunday morning apparently covering later action noted a 3,500 yard (two-mile) penetration in the northwest).

The first cavalry said the Reds maintained continuous pressure all along the division front.

The spokesman said the withdrawal had been orderly and did not mean a breakthrough. American flanks were holding firm but a withdrawal in the center was necessary because of heavy Red pressure.

There was heavy fighting on hill 518, about four and one-half miles northeast of Waegwan. The crest of the hill changed hands so many times it was uncertain at 11 a. m. today who held it.

Cavalrymen attacked this hill Saturday.

Waegwan is 12 air miles and 15 road miles northwest of Taegu, American advance base in South Korea.

Continuous Red artillery and tank fire roared from the west bank of the Naktong river, just south of Waegwan. There were no reports of any successful river crossing in that area.

The Reds were estimated to have six to 10 tanks just west of hill 518, and 31 artillery pieces about 10 miles north of there, a division spokesman said.

The spokesman added that "the enemy is being contained all along the line and the first cavalry is attempting to regain the ground it

Counter-attacking U. S. troops have retaken Haman, lost earlier to massive North Korean assault (1), which has punched wedges in U. S. defense lines. There was heavy fighting at Songjin. North of this area the enemy made Naktong River crossings. A second major offensive may develop north of Taegu (2), where much of the Communist strength is believed massed. In northeast (3), South Koreans have retaken Kigye and gained north of Pohang. (AP Wirephoto)

Expects War Or Peace Decision In Few Months

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Benton (D.-Conn.) said today the question of war or peace may be settled in the next few months by American success in answering Russian propaganda.

Benton, a former assistant secretary of state, wrote Chairman McKellar (D.-Tenn.) of the senate appropriations committee urging an increase in funds for the exchange of students with other countries and for the maintenance of American libraries abroad.

President Truman asked $89,000,000 for these activities and the "Voice of America" foreign broadcast program but the house trimmed the fund to $77,000,000.

Declaring that the safety of the United States may depend on the job done in this field, Benton wrote McKellar:

"I am only sorry that since the Korean outbreak the state department has not developed even bolder plans on a far wider scale."

'PEACE-OR-WAR' SHOWDOWN URGED

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator McClellan (D.-Ark.) called today for an ultimate "peace-or-war" showdown with Russia as lawmakers pledged support for President Truman's plan to boost the nation's fighting forces to 3,000,000 men or more.

McClellan, a member of the senate appropriations committee, was one of the first in congress to speak out for the sort of preventive war Mr. Truman told the country in a Friday night radio talk that the United States does not believe in.

With other lawmakers applauding the president's decision to push up military manpower, McClellan called for all-out mobilization.

He said American strength should be built up as quickly as possible to the point where the United States could demand through the United Nations that Russia agree to join this country in disarming and international inspection guaranteeing that such an

REDS DESPERATE

U. N. Lines 'Generally Holding Firm' Except For Loss In Waegwan Area

MARINES RETAKE YONGSAN, ADVANCE ABOUT ONE MILE

By Russell Brines

Tokyo, Sunday, Sept. 3.—(AP)—North Korean Communist army unleashed a massive general offensive along the entire northern front today and attacked desperately in an attempt to get their southern drive rolling again.

All the 120-mile battle perimeter from Masan on the southwest to Pohang on the northeast exploded into action.

The northern power drive gained nearly two miles against the U. S. first cavalry division near Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of the American supply base of Taegu.

American officers have listed the Waegwan-Taegu corridor as the Reds No. 1 route for a push on the lifeline port of Pusan, 55 air miles southeast of Taegu.

It is the sector where first cavalry troops opened an attack Saturday seeking to seize three vital heights. Intelligence officers explained at that time the move was to forestall a major Red offensive there.

The Reds' general attack in the north extended from Waegwan eastward 55 air miles to the east coast above Pohang, a U. S. eighth army communique this morning said the United Nations line was "generally holding firm." But it listed the 3,500 yard loss near Waegwan.

SPECIAL SESSION DATE INDEFINITE

Will Be After Long Returns 'Within The Next Ten Days'

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long may wait until after he returns "within the next ten days" to call a special session of Lousiana's legislature, acting Gov. William J. Dodd said today.

Gov. Long, on a western vacation ordered by doctors, announced last week he plans a special session. Because of the war, his poor health and letters he received, the governor said, he decided to ask the legislature to cancel a Nov. 7 election on a proposed constitutional convention.

Gov. Long said then he would either return to issue the session call or ask Lt. Gov. Dodd, acting in his absence, to do it. Today, Dodd told a reporter:

"The governor says he's not quite ready. There is a strong possibility he'll wait until after he gets back, probably within the next ten days. It won't hurt to wait."

A convention next year to rewrite Louisiana's constitution, one of Gov. Long's campaign pledges, was proposed by the 1950 legislature. It must be approved by the people Nov. 7, when voters would also name convention delegates. The proposal stirred statewide controversy until the governor announced his decision to seek its cancellation "with regret."

The deadline for aspiring delegates to qualify is Sept. 15. General election ballots — to include their names, some two dozen proposed constitutional amendments and the names of party nominees for the U. S. senate and congress —would not be prepared by the

H. HALE DIES AFTER CRASH

Victim Of Another Collision Reported 'Very Low' Last Night

One auto-crash victim died and another's condition was termed "very low" last night by hospital attendants at the St. Francis sanitarium.

Homer D. Hale, of Calhoun and co-owner of the L and H Wrecking Co., died from injuries received in a head-on collision with another automobile driven by Thomas Craig on the Milhaven Road Wednesday. Hale sustained face lacerations and a crushed chest.

In critical condition was Cherie Landess, 23, visting with relatives here who sustained a fractured skull and the amputation of her left leg, as a result of an accident Monday night.

The accident occurred ten miles east of Monroe on Highway 80. Two other persons were injured in the same crash, but were not in serious condition. They were James Terry, of Brookhaven, Miss., and Mrs. L. B. Herron, 2202 Jasmine street, who received broken arms and multiple lacerations.

Still in the hospital but out of danger were four persons injured early Thursday night in an auto accident on Louisville avenue.

Reported doing fine were Mrs. Osbourne Willis, 3707 College boulevard, and her two daughters, Marcia Lynn and Judy. Eugene Heckford, driver of one of the cars, was reported to be doing all right.

Brother Holds Sister In Seclusion For Many Years

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 2.—(AP)—An anonymous tip led to the discovery of a woman, who police said today they were convinced had been kept a prisoner for years by her brother.

Investigators identified her as Miss Mary Elizabeth Galligan, 47. They expressed the belief that her brother, Bernard, 60, had kept her in hiding because she was mentally ill and feared she might be sent to a mental hospital.

There was a strong possibility too, they said, that in keeping the secret of his sister's illness, Galligan was following the wishes of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Galligan, who died ten years ago.

Miss Galligan, dressed entirely in black and her gray hair bobbed, was found in a locked bedroom, police said.

Her brother's explanation as to why he kept the room locked, said police, was:

"I've got to keep supervision over her; don't I?"

Beyond that, said Police Inspector Joseph R. Bendler, Galligan would not discuss his affairs.

Miss Agnes Griffin, a cousin of the Galligans, said, however, that Miss Galligan suffered a nervous breakdown 12 years ago. Physicians then said, Miss Griffin related, that her cousin was mentally and incurably ill.

Miss Griffin recalled that the chief concern of the sick woman's mother was that her daughter be kept out of a mental hospital.

Bendler said that two of the investigators who found Miss Galligan were "convinced that this man (her brother) kept his sister a prisoner for years."

"How long, we don't know," he said. "We do know that the windows were screwed tight. They saw him lock the door of her room after they first saw her."

Bendler said that Miss Galligan had the appearance of "a sick woman who is in need of care." Taken to police headquarters, she constantly held her head lowered as she played with her fingers.

"I don't want to be here. I want to go home," she said. "If my

MacArthur Calls For More Ground Support In Korea

By A. I. Goldberg

He said in a report to the United Nations that naval forces have grown in strength and effectiveness, but added: "My gravest concern is for a prompt buildup of the now outnumbered ground forces of this command."

MacArthur is the commander of all U. N. forces trying to push North Korean invaders back to the 38th parallel, across which they invaded South Korea June 25.

"The information I have received on the size and type of units offered by member nations," he said, "shows a united and determined spirit in the nations of the United Nations to repel the invader of the republic of Korea that is gratifying.

"I still feel it my duty to report to you that contributions must be forthcoming without delay if this threat to international security is to be resolved promptly."

He added: "I am glad to report that during the period of this report (Aug. 1-15) the cohesion displayed by the United Nations forces of this command has proved the validity of the United Nations concept of peace."

The report is his third. It gives a general description of military operations in the Pusan bridgehead between Aug. 1 and 15. MacArthur said that strategic withdrawals were required because the ground forces were still outnumbered.

MacArthur's second report, on operations for the latter part of July, was submitted to the U. N. through the U. S. mission to the United Nations Aug. 17. Russia's Jakob A. Malik was president of the security council in August and refused to read the report into the records.

The second report said that, al-

The new policy was announced by the state board of education, whose committees met in closed session here for the past three days. The board also approved 1950-51 budgets for the institutions it administers and named Northwestern State College's athletic director, H. Lee Prather, as its temporary president.

A board attache said the policy is similar to one followed by Louisiana's elementary and high schools. He said it is designed to bring college teacher pay in line with public school salaries, raised to a $2500 a year minimum several years ago.

Tokyo C. Of C. Aids U. N. Troops In Korea

Tokyo, Sept. 2.—(AP)— The Tokyo chamber of commerce and industry this month began a drive to collect comfort kits for the United Nations soldiers fighting in Korea.

The call no sooner went out than the chamber office was swamped with school children, girl students and office girls. Their principal gifts were harmonicas and Japanese dolls.

The pocket-sized dolls, they explained, were intended as good luck charms.

HIT AT TAEGU

U. S. First Calvary Attacked By Estimated 6,000 Red Troops

By Leif Erickson

With first cavalry division in Korea, Sunday, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Tank supported Communist troops attacked first cavalry division positions Saturday in a concentrated thrust toward Taegu.

An estimated 6,000 North Koreans hit the cavalry on the northwestern front, and a division spokesman said the Reds had penetrated a little more than one mile.

(An eighth army communique Sunday morning apparently covering later action noted a 3,500 yard (two-mile) penetration in the northwest).

The first cavalry said the Reds maintained continuous pressure all along the division front.

The spokesman said the withdrawal had been orderly and did not mean a breakthrough. American flanks were holding firm but a withdrawal in the center was necessary because of heavy Red pressure.

There was heavy fighting on hill 518, about four and one-half miles northeast of Waegwan. The crest of the hill changed hands so many times it was uncertain at 11 a. m. today who held it.

Cavalrymen attacked this hill Saturday.

Waegwan is 12 air miles and 15 road miles northwest of Taegu, American advance base in South Korea.

Continuous Red artillery and tank fire roared from the west bank of the Naktong river, just south of Waegwan. There were no reports of any successful river crossing in that area.

The Reds were estimated to have six to 10 tanks just west of hill 518, and 31 artillery pieces about 10 miles north of there, a division spokesman said.

The spokesman added that "the enemy is being contained all along the line and the first cavalry is attempting to regain the ground it

Counter-attacking U. S. troops have retaken Haman, lost earlier to massive North Korean assault (1), which has punched wedges in U. S. defense lines. There was heavy fighting at Songjin. North of this area the enemy made Naktong River crossings. A second major offensive may develop north of Taegu (2), where much of the Communist strength is believed massed. In northeast (3), South Koreans have retaken Kigye and gained north of Pohang. (AP Wirephoto)

Expects War Or Peace Decision In Few Months

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Benton (D.-Conn.) said today the question of war or peace may be settled in the next few months by American success in answering Russian propaganda.

Benton, a former assistant secretary of state, wrote Chairman McKellar (D.-Tenn.) of the senate appropriations committee urging an increase in funds for the exchange of students with other countries and for the maintenance of American libraries abroad.

President Truman asked $89,000,000 for these activities and the "Voice of America" foreign broadcast program but the house trimmed the fund to $77,000,000.

Declaring that the safety of the United States may depend on the job done in this field, Benton wrote McKellar:

"I am only sorry that since the Korean outbreak the state department has not developed even bolder plans on a far wider scale."

'PEACE-OR-WAR' SHOWDOWN URGED

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator McClellan (D.-Ark.) called today for an ultimate "peace-or-war" showdown with Russia as lawmakers pledged support for President Truman's plan to boost the nation's fighting forces to 3,000,000 men or more.

McClellan, a member of the senate appropriations committee, was one of the first in congress to speak out for the sort of preventive war Mr. Truman told the country in a Friday night radio talk that the United States does not believe in.

With other lawmakers applauding the president's decision to push up military manpower, McClellan called for all-out mobilization.

He said American strength should be built up as quickly as possible to the point where the United States could demand through the United Nations that Russia agree to join this country in disarming and international inspection guaranteeing that such an

SPECIAL SESSION DATE INDEFINITE

Will Be After Long Returns 'Within The Next Ten Days'

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long may wait until after he returns "within the next ten days" to call a special session of Lousiana's legislature, acting Gov. William J. Dodd said today.

Gov. Long, on a western vacation ordered by doctors, announced last week he plans a special session. Because of the war, his poor health and letters he received, the governor said, he decided to ask the legislature to cancel a Nov. 7 election on a proposed constitutional convention.

Gov. Long said then he would either return to issue the session call or ask Lt. Gov. Dodd, acting in his absence, to do it. Today, Dodd told a reporter:

"The governor says he's not quite ready. There is a strong possibility he'll wait until after he gets back, probably within the next ten days. It won't hurt to wait."

A convention next year to rewrite Louisiana's constitution, one of Gov. Long's campaign pledges, was proposed by the 1950 legislature. It must be approved by the people Nov. 7, when voters would also name convention delegates. The proposal stirred statewide controversy until the governor announced his decision to seek its cancellation "with regret."

The deadline for aspiring delegates to qualify is Sept. 15. General election ballots — to include their names, some two dozen proposed constitutional amendments and the names of party nominees for the U. S. senate and congress —would not be prepared by the

U. N. Lines 'Generally Holding Firm' Except For Loss In Waegwan Area

MARINES RETAKE YONGSAN, ADVANCE ABOUT ONE MILE

By Russell Brines

Tokyo, Sunday, Sept. 3.—(AP)—North Korean Communist army unleashed a massive general offensive along the entire northern front today and attacked desperately in an attempt to get their southern drive rolling again.

All the 120-mile battle perimeter from Masan on the southwest to Pohang on the northeast exploded into action.

The northern power drive gained nearly two miles against the U. S. first cavalry division near Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of the American supply base of Taegu.

American officers have listed the Waegwan-Taegu corridor as the Reds No. 1 route for a push on the lifeline port of Pusan, 55 air miles southeast of Taegu.

It is the sector where first cavalry troops opened an attack Saturday seeking to seize three vital heights. Intelligence officers explained at that time the move was to forestall a major Red offensive there.

The Reds' general attack in the north extended from Waegwan eastward 55 air miles to the east coast above Pohang, a U. S. eighth army communique this morning said the United Nations line was "generally holding firm." But it listed the 3,500 yard loss near Waegwan.

On the west and south, where

H. HALE DIES AFTER CRASH

Victim Of Another Collision Reported 'Very Low' Last Night

One auto-crash victim died and another's condition was termed "very low" last night by hospital attendants at the St. Francis sanitarium.

Homer D. Hale, of Calhoun and co-owner of the L and H Wrecking Co., died from injuries received in a head-on collision with another automobile driven by Thomas Craig on the Milhaven Road Wednesday. Hale sustained face lacerations and a crushed chest.

In critical condition was Cherie Landess, 23, visting with relatives here who sustained a fractured skull and the amputation of her left leg, as a result of an accident Monday night.

The accident occurred ten miles east of Monroe on Highway 80. Two other persons were injured in the same crash, but were not in serious condition. They were James Terry, of Brookhaven, Miss., and Mrs. L. B. Herron, 2202 Jasmine street, who received broken arms and multiple lacerations.

Still in the hospital but out of danger were four persons injured early Thursday night in an auto accident on Louisville avenue.

Reported doing fine were Mrs. Osbourne Willis, 3707 College boulevard, and her two daughters, Marcia Lynn and Judy. Eugeno Heckford, driver of one of the cars, was reported to be doing all right.

Brother Holds Sister In Seclusion For Many Years

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 2.—(AP)—An anonymous tip led to the discovery of a woman, who police said today they were convinced had been kept a prisoner for years by her brother.

Investigators identified her as Miss Mary Elizabeth Galligan, 47. They expressed the belief that her brother, Bernard, 60, had kept her in hiding because she was mentally ill and feared she might be sent to a mental hospital.

There was a strong possibility too, they said, that in keeping the secret of his sister's illness, Galligan was following the wishes of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Galligan, who died ten years ago.

Miss Galligan, dressed entirely in black and her gray hair bobbed, was found in a locked bedroom, police said.

Her brother's explanation as to why he kept the room locked, said police, was:

"I've got to keep supervision over her; don't I?"

Beyond that, said Police Inspector Joseph R. Bendler, Galligan would not discuss his affairs.

Miss Agnes Griffin, a cousin of the Galligans, said, however, that Miss Galligan suffered a nervous breakdown 12 years ago. Physicians then said, Miss Griffin related, that her cousin was mentally and incurably ill.

Miss Griffin recalled that the chief concern of the sick woman's mother was that her daughter be kept out of a mental hospital.

Bendler said that two of the investigators who found Miss Galligan were "convinced that this man (her brother) kept his sister a prisoner for years."

"How long, we don't know," he said. "We do know that the windows were screwed tight. They saw him lock the door of her room after they first saw her."

Bendler said that Miss Galligan had the appearance of "a sick woman who is in need of care." Taken to police headquarters, she constantly held her head lowered as she played with her fingers.

"I don't want to be here. I want to go home," she said. "If my

MacArthur Calls For More Ground Support In Korea

By A. I. Goldberg

He said in a report to the United Nations that naval forces have grown in strength and effectiveness, but added: "My gravest concern is for a prompt buildup of the now outnumbered ground forces of this command."

MacArthur is the commander of all U. N. forces trying to push North Korean invaders back to the 38th parallel, across which they invaded South Korea June 25.

"The information I have received on the size and type of units offered by member nations," he said, "shows a united and determined spirit in the nations of the United Nations to repel the invader of the republic of Korea that is gratifying.

"I still feel it my duty to report to you that contributions must be forthcoming without delay if this threat to international security is to be resolved promptly."

He added: "I am glad to report that during the period of this report (Aug. 1-15) the cohesion displayed by the United Nations forces of this command has proved the validity of the United Nations concept of peace."

The report is his third. It gives a general description of military operations in the Pusan bridgehead between Aug. 1 and 15. MacArthur said that strategic withdrawals were required because the ground forces were still outnumbered.

MacArthur's second report, on operations for the latter part of July, was submitted to the U. N. through the U. S. mission to the United Nations Aug. 17. Russia's Jakob A. Malik was president of the security council in August and refused to read the report into the records.

The second report said that, al-

ALLEN J. CHRISTMAS

Allen Jackson Christmas, 54, died at his residence at Holly Ridge Saturday.

Survivors besides his wife, Mrs. Allen Christmas are: two daugnters, Mrs. Drury Bynum of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. M. L. Coleman, Jr., of Monroe; two grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Morrison, Dallas, Texas, and Mrs. N. C. Bryan of Dennison, Texas.

He was a member of the Holly Ridge Methodist Church. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church at Rayville on Monday, with Rev. E. B. Emmerich officiating. Burial, under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Rayville will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mr. Christmas has served as bookkeeper for Geo. Franklin and Son of Holly Ridge for the past twenty-seven years.

Late last night funeral services were arranged for 4 p. m. Monday in Rayville.

CALHOUN RITES

Winnsboro, La. Sept. 2.—(Special)—John C. Calhoun, Sr., died at his residence near here today. Funeral services are incomplete but will be held at Pine Grove Church, Rev. T. G. Polk officiating.

Interment will be in Pine Grove cemetery under direction of Brown-Young Funeral Home.

Surviving are John C., Jr., Temple, Tex.; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Dixon, and Mrs. Isabelle Townsend, both of Winnsboro.

MRS. MITTIE H. BRANTLEY

Mrs. Mittie H. Brantley, born April 23, 1881, a well known resident of West Monroe, died Saturday evening at seven o'clock following a long illness.

Mrs. Brantley moved from Farmerville, to Monroe, in 1927, where she has made her home since. She is the mother of twelve children. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Monroe, and was loved by all who knew her. Mrs. Brantley was also a Gold Star Mother, having lost a son, Sgt. Minor Brantley, who was killed in Germany in World War. II. She has had poor health for some time, and for the past three years has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Downey Wade, formerly Mrs. E. L. Whittington, 1217 South Second Street, Monroe.

Mrs. Brantley is survived by eight children, a number of grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren. The surviving children are: Capt. J. C. Brantley of the Monroe Fire Department; George W. Brantley, Tommie Brantley, Jessie Brantley, and Joshua Brantley, all of West Monroe; Mrs. Jacob Wetzel of Winslow, Arizona, Mrs. E. L. Teer of Texas, and Mrs. Downey Wade of Monroe.

Late last night funeral services were fixed for today at First Baptist Church, Monroe, Rev. C. C. Martin officiating. Interment will be in Riverview cemetery under direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home.

The move was timed just a few days in advance of the meetings of the Western Big Three foreign ministers and the North Atlantic pact leaders in New York to discuss Western European defense and Germany's role in that defense.

The Brotherhood rolls are secret, but it is reputed to have 4,000 or 5,000 members. It indicated that last night's meeting was the beginning of a widespread campaign to publicize its views. Further gatherings are planned in widely scattered German cities.

The petition said "our aim is: Europe, a united and free continent; Germany an undivided fatherland."

covery one-fourth of a mile down the slough. The officers stated that Dixon was laying on his back and his pocket book was gone. In his hand he clutched a handkercheif which had dried blood on it. Underneath the body his glasses were found in their case and a red back notebook.

Addison said he coaxed the cattle buyer to the secluded area under the pretense of showing him a cow which he intended to sell.

Addison was transferred from Winnsboro to an undisclosed jail for safe keeping, authorities said.

A coroner's inquest will be held at 10 a. m. Monday. Members of the jury will be: Edgar Sullivan, A. J. Stephens, J. C. Tyler, D. Humphries and George Nobles. Dr. L. F. Robinson, acting coroner, will preside.

Sheriff Hiram Waller said a complete investigation would be made into the matter to determine whether or not addison had had an accomplice.

Funeral services will be held today at the Lone Cedar cemetery with the Rev. T. G. Polk, officiating, assisted by Rev. A. C. Trapp. Interment will follow under the direction of the First National Funeral home of Winnsboro.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jane Dixon; one daughter, Mrs. Lena Keene of Winnsboro; one son L. C. Dixon, Winnsboro; three brothers, P. L. Dixon, Winnsboro, Joe Dixon, Monroe, Louis Dixon, Sandy Hook, Miss.; and two grandchildren.

high school. He is A. G. Cook, Jr., son of a former editor of the News-Star, who now a retired rear-admiral, has been named full time civilian defense director of the city of San Francisco.

Those who have lived for many years in Monroe will well remember the Cook family and another member, Duncan Cook, is at this timedistrict manager of the Louisiana state department of conservation with offices in the Ouachita National Bank Building.

The honor is quite an unusual one and is being received with interest in Monroe. Incidentally, although only barely past the age of 50 years, Rear Admiral Cook retired last July 1, after 30 years of service for his country which included active service in the recent war.

Friends of Photographer Ed Hayman think he has a charmed life. He has taken extreme chances with himself and still is alive and well! No he did not try any such stunt as Russian roulette, but he did do some stiff experimenting with what was generally declared to be toadstools.

Back in Ohio (he's a Yankee who migrated to the deep south) he used to delight in hunting mushrooms and up there amazed and horrified his friends by his proclivities which comprised eating 'em all be they toadstools or mushrooms and never once did he sicken and die!

Right now his wife is away at a photograph school and he is batching on Auburn avenue which has suddenly developed in his back yard what appeared to him t obe mushrooms. He got some specimens and to be a bit careful this time, he took them to Dr. F. P. Rizzo. "Don't dare to eat those things," the man of medicine declared. "They are deadly poison!" Not satisfied, a member of the staff of the home demonstration department was interrogated. She also condemned the specimens shown her.

But Thursday night, in the face of all opposition, intrepid Ed cooked up a big batch of the produce and ate with unusual relish for his supper. Next morning he awoke feeling fine and thus further emboldened, he ate a second batch the following night. When seen on the street Saturday he declared he never felt finer in his life!

New students from Monroe who have been accepted for admission at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., where the 118th fall ter mwill open on September 11, are: Miss Sue Windes, daughter of Mr .and Mrs. Eugene F. Windes of 2505 Myrtle street and Miss Clara Guthrie Munholland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Munholland of 1605 Fairview.

A new student from the Monroe vicinity, who will enter Stephens College, is Miss Margaret Jeanette Abel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Abel of Ferriday.

Richard Allen, time of arrival here August 31, is a new addition to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Fisher. The maternal grandparents are Mrs. William A. Taylor, the late Mr. Taylor, Ruston, and paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Fisher, Monroe.

E. S. (Red) Wells and Mrs. Wells, W5HE-J and W5HE-K respectively, in Splane addition, are designated to set up an organization of local amateur radio operators prepared to cope with any emergency information that may lie in their province. This plan is announced by Communications Manager F. E. Handy of the American Radio Relay League.

Duties among other lines will include liaison planning with the local Red Cross chapter and other relief agencies. Liaison will also be established with local protective services, such as the fire and police departments.

Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Holloway, have just returned from a month's vacation in Arkansas and Missouri. He will occupy the pulpit of his church for the first time sinc ehis absence twice today. He states that he never saw crops, grass and trees so green at this time of the year as right now. secretary of state until after Sept. 15.

Attorney General Bolivar Kemp has ruled the law calling the convention. Election can be suspended at a one-day meeting of the legislature. The parliamentary device, he said, would be a joint concurrent resolution, that is, a resolution offered and adopted by both senate and house.

"We're holding everything subject to the governor's wishes," Dodd said today. "Any announcement will have to come either from the governor himself or from his office, as authorized by him."

State Sen. C. E. Tooke, Jr., of Shreveport, meanwhile, reported Gov. Long had refused his request to seek withdrawal of a proposed amendment to the constitution. The amendment would authorize a $140,000,000 bond issue for highway improvement.

For statewide interest, the bond issue shared top honors in the Nov. 7 election with the convention call. Tooke said it should be postponed also, because of uncertainties created by the Korean conflict, and asked that its proposed withdrawal be included in the special session call.

He told the Shreveport Times Friday, however, that Gov. Long had notified him that "we most certainly won't include (it) in the special session call."

By law, legislators in special session may consider only subjects stipulated in the governor's call.

though eight nations were represented in naval and air operations no countries other than the United States and the republic of Korea had contributed ground fighting forces up to then. It asked for more troops without delay.

Between the two reports, the British sent one unit of 1,500 men from the Hong Kong garrison. Other nations have reiterated pledges of ground forces and a figure of around 30,000 has been talked of. The third report does not cover the period of the British unit's arrival.

Greece is the latest to offer ground forces, a brigade of about 5,000 men. Britain, Australia, Turkey, Thailand and Nicaragua have proposed to send forces of similar strength.

MacArthur's report hinted at reinforcements for the invaders from Red China, but said they may be Koreans.

"In the enemy rear areas, a large troops concentration was reported near the northeastern border of Korea, indicating possible recruitment of Koreans from southeastern Manchuria," he said.

He praised the efficiency of warships of eight nations operating under the control of Vice Adm. C. T. Joy.

"Such a coordination of naval strength by so many nations in an area so far distant from home naval bases is unparalleled in history," MacArthur said. "Recent augmentations to this formidable force have included significant additions of U. S. aircraft carriers."

Naval operations have had little enemy interference, he said, and the U. N. air fleet also operates with little air opposition.

MacArthur said the enemy is apparently impressing civilian labor, complicating the problem of identifying the enemy.

"However, the problem of avoiding the killing of innocent civilians and damages to the civilian economy is continaully present and given my personal attention," MacArthur reported. "The U. N. forces are urgently endeavoring to restrict destruction to the established military forces of the invader."

He said an international Red Cross observer, Frederick Bieri, is making sure that U. N. forces carry out mercy conventions in treatment of prisoners of war.

MacArthur said that more than 27,000,000 leaflets have been airdropped on Korea t obring accurate information to the population. Highest priority is given to warning messages and radio broadcasts designed to save human life, he said.

agreement is carried out.

"If Russia refuses to enter into the spirit of international cooperation for peace then, we would have our final answer and could be governed accordingly," McClellan said.

"Under such conditions, I would favor our firing the first shot in a war that then would be inevitable."

McClellan said he doesn't think the president's plan for an armed strength of 3,000,000 men goes far enough.

"I think that we are dealing with a desperate world situation in which our only hope of winning the peace lies in showing Russia that we are prepared to and can destroy her unles she joins in an international spirit of peace and good will," he said.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.) was another who considered the figure of 3,000,000 fighting men insufficient —"if we are faced with the imminent danger of an all-out war." Senator H. Alexander Smith (R.-N. J.) said he favors getting all the men neded, but he added he does not believe that a hot war is inevitable.

Sunday morning after Miss Merrill had finished her work at the Y-Knot drive-in cafe on the edge of Columbus.

When the girl resisted his advances, Sundahl said, he choked her "until her body went limp." Then, he beat her with a hatchet and hid her body in weeds by the lake shore, throwing the hatchet into the water.

Afterward Sundahl went to a nearby filling station, drank a cup of coffee and slept in his car.

An investigation into Bonnie Lou's disappearance started yesterday when Mrs. Clifford J. Merrill of Silver Creek, the girl's mother, came to Columbus to see her daughter. Unable to locate her, she notified police.

A check of acquaintances led to Sundahl who was taken into custody at his Norfolk home.

At first, Nickolite said, Sundahl denied knowing the girl. Then he said he was with the girl Sunday morning and "something snapped when I put my arm around her and squeezed." Still later he revised the account to tell how he choked and beat her when she resisted his advances.

Early today, Sundahl led officers to the spot where the body had been hidden.

Dr. H. D. Kuper, who conducted an autopsy, said death was caused "by severe head injuries apparently from some very blunt instrument which had completely crushed the skull."

the city of Monroe by increasing the contribution to that body, assisted in getting a one million dollar federal housing project consisting of 126 units for Monroe, and is now in the process of expanding the city's sewerage lines.

Six of the sewerage districts which take in Pargoud, Marie Place, West Parkview addition, Garnier Park Avenue development Highland park, south of the Loop road, the Junior College area, Old Country Club addition, South Grand and Carlton street, North Loop road, north of highland Park have already been formed.

Contracts on the lateral sewerage lines will be let the council said, as soon as the districts are formed, plans completed and advertised.

With reference to street improvements in Monroe, the report points to the widening of North Third street to Louisville avenue, widening of North Fourth street at the Breard street intersection and the widening of South Second street at the Winnsboro road intersection.

In addition 125 blocks of new streets have been opened up and graveled, 1297 driveway culverts installed, 175 street intersection culverts added, 8,648 feet of streets blacktopped in 1948, 39,396 in 1949 and 9,532 feet in 1950.

The council reported that a competent plumbing inspector has been employed to correct all cross-connections within our city and that Monroe's water is now acceptable to the Louisiana State Board of Health who has recommended it to the United States Public Health Service for provisional certification.

Plans for a meter checking department in the light and water departments are also being made, the council said. This program will provide accurate meters for all users of public utilities. It was pointed out that some meters in the city have not been checked since they were installed —some 25 years ago.....

The report further reveals that the National Board of Fire Underwriters have advised that Monroe is subject to an increase in fire rates unless present conditions are remedied.

The firm of Ford, Bacon and Davis has been employed to work out a program for the city by which insurances rates can be lowered, according to the report. The council said the plan when completed will be presented to the public.

The city buildings, buses, trucks and other sights, police said, seemed to awe her.

Her brother was also taken to headquarters on a technical holding charge of breach of the peace.

The case, Bendler said, first came to his attention when he received two anonymous tips from persons who expressed fear that there was something amiss at the Galligan home, a five-room apartment in a three-story building owned by the brother.

Subsequently, said Bendler, this is what happened:

Detectives went to the Galligan home yesterday and asked about his sister.

"My sister is all right," he said.

Galligan then unlocked the door of a bedroom. There they found Miss Galligan sitting in a rocking chair. The room was littered with rags. The window shades were drawn almost to the bottom so that the room was dark.

Asked why he kept his sister locked up, Galligan replied:

"She can get out if she wants to."

"How can she get out if you have the key?" he was asked.

"I've got to keep supervision over her, don't I?"

As to food for his sister, Galligan said:

"When she wanted to eat I gave her something. When she didn't, I didn't bother about it."

Three Attend Special Sales Training School

Three salespeople of the Monroe Furniture Company, Miss Elsie Tullos, William D. Durrett and Joe Durrett, Jr., have left to attend a special sales training school in High Point, N. C. this week. This school is designed to advance a mediocre retail furniture clerk to the station of a well-informed salesman and is under the sponsorship of the Southern Retail Furniture Association.

The school opened July 31 and there will be eight one-week instruction periods, each week complete within itself. Enrollment for each week is limited to twenty-five students in order to give each student a better opportunity to put into practice what he has learned from the week of intensive study.

At the head of the school is W. W. Morrison, former owner and operator of Morrison-Neese Company, one of the leading furniture stores in America. He is recognized as one of the outstanding furniture men in the U. S. A. To assist him in instruction will be eleven experienced and able faculty members and owners of some of the largest furniture factories.

The management of the Southern Furniture Exposition Building, cooperating with the school, is throwing the entire building open for these classes and clinics. Furniture carpets and bedding will be selected from displays in the building for demonstration purposes.

While in North Carolina, the three will visit large furniture factories in High Point, Thomasville, Winston-Salem, Hickory, Morganton, Lenoir and other towns.

50,000 Reds opened an offensive Thursday midnight which was stalled by Saturday, the Reds regrouped today and resumed their attack at the south end.

On the right flank of the 25th, American marines reinforced a counterattack being made by the U. S. second infantry division. American forces are trying to eliminate a deep Communist penetration.

When the 50,000 Reds opened their west and southern offensive, they massed their greatest strength near the confluence of the Nam and Naktong rivers, swung northeast against the U. S. second infantry division, rolled the Americans back eight and one half miles and captured the town of Yongsan.

Saturday, the second division recaptured Yongsan. Today, bolstered by the first marine brigade, the second division launched an attack along its entire 25-mile front, aimed at driving the Reds back across the Naktong.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth said the marines pushed ahead more than a quarter of a mile in the first hour of the drive. Marine tanks were in support.

The marines hit due west from Yongsan while the infantrymen struck northwest. This threw the leathernecks across the same terrain they traveled in helping the U. S. 24th division eliminate a 12,000-man Red bridgehead two weeks ago.

Hundreds of land and carrier-based planes attacked enemy targets in massed support. They bombed, rocketed, and machine gunned Red troops which already have suffered casualties well over 10,000.

Beaten to a bloody halt by counterattacking second and 25th division soldiers Saturday, the Communist surged eastward at dawn. Yak fighter planes supported fresh troops and reorganized remnants of two divisions that had been cut to pieces.

German general staff, said:

"We are willing to go with the Americans against Bolshevism. But we refuse to march with them as vassals. We want to be free men."

The move was timed just a few days in advance of the meetings of the Western Big Three foreign ministers and the North Atlantic pact leaders in New York to discuss Western European defense and Germany's role in that defense.

The Brotherhood rolls are secret, but it is reputed to have 4,000 or 5,000 members. It indicated that last night's meeting was the beginning of a widespread campaign to publicize its views. Further gatherings are planned in widely scattered German cities.

The petition said "our aim is: Europe, a united and free continent; Germany an undivided fatherland."

Addison said he coaxed the cattle buyer to the secluded area under the pretense of showing him a cow which he intended to sell.

Addison was transferred from Winnsboro to an undisclosed jail for safe keeping, authorities said.

A coroner's inquest will be held at 10 a. m. Monday. Members of the jury will be: Edgar Sullivan, A. J. Stephens, J. C. Tyler, D. Humphries and George Nobles. Dr. L. F. Robinson, acting coroner, will preside.

Sheriff Hiram Waller said a complete investigation would be made into the matter to determine whether or not addison had had an accomplice.

Funeral services will be held today at the Lone Cedar cemetery with the Rev. T. G. Polk, officiating, assisted by Rev. A. C. Trapp. Interment will follow under the direction of the First National Funeral home of Winnsboro.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jane Dixon; one daughter, Mrs. Lena Keene of Winnsboro; one son L. C. Dixon, Winnsboro; three brothers, P. L. Dixon, Winnsboro, Joe Dixon, Monroe, Louis Dixon, Sandy Hook, Miss.; and two grandchildren.

high school. He is A. G. Cook, Jr., son of a former editor of the News-Star, who now a retired rear-admiral, has been named full time civilian defense director of the city of San Francisco.

Those who have lived for many years in Monroe will well remember the Cook family and another member, Duncan Cook, is at this timedistrict manager of the Louisiana state department of conservation with offices in the Ouachita National Bank Building.

The honor is quite an unusual one and is being received with interest in Monroe. Incidentally, although only barely past the age of 50 years, Rear Admiral Cook retired last July 1, after 30 years of service for his country which included active service in the recent war.

Friends of Photographer Ed Hayman think he has a charmed life. He has taken extreme chances with himself and still is alive and well! No he did not try any such stunt as Russian roulette, but he did do some stiff experimenting with what was generally declared to be toadstools.

Back in Ohio (he's a Yankee who migrated to the deep south) he used to delight in hunting mushrooms and up there amazed and horrified his friends by his proclivities which comprised eating 'em all be they toadstools or mushrooms and never once did he sicken and die!

Right now his wife is away at a photograph school and he is batching on Auburn avenue which has suddenly developed in his back yard what appeared to him t obe mushrooms. He got some specimens and to be a bit careful this time, he took them to Dr. F. P. Rizzo. "Don't dare to eat those things," the man of medicine declared. "They are deadly poison!" Not satisfied, a member of the staff of the home demonstration department was interrogated. She also condemned the specimens shown her.

But Thursday night, in the face of all opposition, intrepid Ed cooked up a big batch of the produce and ate with unusual relish for his supper. Next morning he awoke feeling fine and thus further emboldened, he ate a second batch the following night. When seen on the street Saturday he declared he never felt finer in his life!

New students from Monroe who have been accepted for admission at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., where the 118th fall ter mwill open on September 11, are: Miss Sue Windes, daughter of Mr .and Mrs. Eugene F. Windes of 2505 Myrtle street and Miss Clara Guthrie Munholland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Munholland of 1605 Fairview.

A new student from the Monroe vicinity, who will enter Stephens College, is Miss Margaret Jeanette Abel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Abel of Ferriday.

Richard Allen, time of arrival here August 31, is a new addition to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Fisher. The maternal grandparents are Mrs. William A. Taylor, the late Mr. Taylor, Ruston, and paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Fisher, Monroe.

E. S. (Red) Wells and Mrs. Wells, W5HE-J and W5HE-K respectively, in Splane addition, are designated to set up an organization of local amateur radio operators prepared to cope with any emergency information that may lie in their province. This plan is announced by Communications Manager F. E. Handy of the American Radio Relay League.

Duties among other lines will include liaison planning with the local Red Cross chapter and other relief agencies. Liaison will also be established with local protective services, such as the fire and police departments.

Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Holloway, have just returned from a month's vacation in Arkansas and Missouri. He will occupy the pulpit of his church for the first time sinc ehis absence twice today. He states that he never saw crops grass and trees so green at this time of the year as right now. Usually they are badly burned up by excessive heat which this year was lacking. Maybe this is in accord with the slogan: "Keep Louisiana and Arkansas Green."

secretary of state until after Sept. 15.

Attorney General Bolivar Kemp has ruled the law calling the convention. Election can be suspended at a one-day meeting of the legislature. The parliamentary device, he said, would be a joint concurrent resolution, that is, a resolution offered and adopted by both senate and house.

"We're holding everything subject to the governor's wishes," Dodd said today. "Any announcement will have to come either from the governor himself or from his office, as authorized by him."

State Sen. C. E. Tooke, Jr., of Shreveport, meanwhile, reported Gov. Long had refused his request to seek withdrawal of a proposed amendment to the constitution. The amendment would authorize a $140,000,000 bond issue for highway improvement.

For statewide interest, the bond issue shared top honors in the Nov. 7 election with the convention call. Tooke said it should be postponed also, because of uncertainties created by the Korean conflict, and asked that its proposed withdrawal be included in the special session call.

He told the Shreveport Times Friday, however, that Gov. Long had notified him that "we most certainly won't include (it) in the special session call."

By law, legislators in special session may consider only subjects stipulated in the governor's call.

though eight nations were represented in naval and air operations no countries other than the United States and the republic of Korea had contributed ground fighting forces up to then. It asked for more troops without delay.

Between the two reports, the British sent one unit of 1,500 men from the Hong Kong garrison. Other nations have reiterated pledges of ground forces and a figure of around 30,000 has been talked of. The third report does not cover the period of the British unit's arrival.

Greece is the latest to offer ground forces, a brigade of about 5,000 men. Britain, Australia, Turkey, Thailand and Nicaragua have proposed to send forces of similar strength.

MacArthur's report hinted at reinforcements for the invaders from Red China, but said they may be Koreans.

"In the enemy rear areas, a large troops concentration was reported near the northeastern border of Korea, indicating possible recruitment of Koreans from southeastern Manchuria," he said.

He praised the efficiency of warships of eight nations operating under the control of Vice Adm. C. T. Joy.

"Such a coordination of naval strength by so many nations in an area so far distant from home naval bases is unparalleled in history," MacArthur said. "Recent augmentations to this formidable force have included significant additions of U. S. aircraft carriers."

Naval operations have had little enemy interference, he said, and the U. N. air fleet also operates with little air opposition.

MacArthur said the enemy is apparently impressing civilian labor, complicating the problem of identifying the enemy.

"However, the problem of avoiding the killing of innocent civilians and damages to the civilian economy is continaully present and given my personal attention," MacArthur reported. "The U. N. forces are urgently endeavoring to restrict destruction to the established military forces of the invader."

He said an international Red Cross observer, Frederick Bieri, is making sure that U. N. forces carry out mercy conventions in treatment of prisoners of war.

MacArthur said that more than 27,000,000 leaflets have been airdropped on Korea t obring accurate information to the population. Highest priority is given to warning messages and radio broadcasts designed to save human life, he said.

On the right flank of the 25th, American marines reinforced a counterattack being made by the U. S. second infantry division. American forces are trying to eliminate a deep Communist penetration.

When the 50,000 Reds opened their west and southern offensive, they massed their greatest strength near the confluence of the Nam and Naktong rivers, swung northeast against the U. S. second infantry division, rolled the Americans back eight and one half miles and captured the town of Yongsan.

Saturday, the second division recaptured Yongsan. Today, bolstered by the first marine brigade, the second division launched an attack along its entire 25-mile front, aimed at driving the Reds back across the Naktong.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth said the marines pushed ahead more than a quarter of a mile in the first hour of the drive. Marine tanks were in support.

The marines hit due west from Yongsan while the infantrymen struck northwest. This threw the leathernecks across the same terrain they traveled in helping the U. S. 24th division eliminate a 12,000-man Red bridgehead two weeks ago.

Hundreds of land and carrier-based planes attacked enemy targets in massed support. They bombed, rocketed, and machine gunned Red troops which already have suffered casualties well over 10,000.

Beaten to a bloody halt by counterattacking second and 25th division soldiers Saturday, the Communist surged eastward at dawn. Yak fighter planes supported fresh troops and reorganized remnants of two divisions that had been cut to pieces.

How To Change A Leopard

Can you change the spots on a leopard? The platitude says no. But the spots on that particularly dangerous breed known as "the reckless driver" can be changed. Municipal Judge W. M. Harper has given some good advice on this subject recently, but we'd like to add a few words of our own.

This thought is prompted by the approaching Labor Day holiday. The record-breaking carnage of the Memorial Day and Fourth of July week ends has been duly recorded by the National Safety Council—but possibly forgotten by too many of us. Will the Labor Day week end bring another casualty list of 400-odd persons killed in traffic and an uncounted number injured?

Most of us are responsible drivers of reasonable skill and prudence. We don't want to kill anyone—least of all ourselves.

But there are some drivers on the highways—say one out of ten—who are always potential accident-makers. The speed demons, the arrogant lane-weavers, the drunks, the law-flouters.

That is the only way to get quick results. Highway engineering, driver training, thorough education—these are desirable and worthwhile objectives. But their promise lies in the future.

Meanwhile, Labor Day is upon us. Concerted and vigorous action by state patrols and city police—backed by quick justice in the traffic courts—can hold deaths to a minimum, as many states demonstrated with a perfect or near-perfect record over the Fourth.

Strict traffic law enforcement is commonly believed by the politicians to be unpopular. This has been proved a fallacy so often by intelligent and courageous public officials that it no longer is worth arguing. There are always a few vocal objectors who apparently feel themselves above the law, but the public generally would welcome some assurance that "death will not take their holiday."

Thus it is the responsibility of all of us to get behind a crackdown on motor madness by police and traffic courts during the summer's last holiday.

Is it worth a three-cent stamp and five minutes of your time? Then write your mayor and governor. Let them know you want the laws enforced. Tell them you are with them in any all-out effort to put an end to holiday horror. They can do it with your help!

P. S. And another big way to help is to drive safely yourself.

Keep It Clean

Members of the cotton industry have a bit of advice for cotton growers in Louisiana and elsewhere throughout the south—"Keep It Clean." They aren't referring to risque jokes that cotton growers might tell or bad language they might use in addressing a balky mule or tractor, but to the job of picking cotton. Clean cotton, the ginners and buyers point out, not only looks better, but really is better. It gins better. It grades better. It brings the grower $10 to $20 a bale more.

Most any cotton that is picked, handled and ginned as carefully as possible will grade middling or better. Yet, much of the cotton sold in Louisiana, in some parishes 50 per cent or more, grades a grade or two below middling, costing the grower $10 to $20 a bale. Most of this cotton graded low because it was picked while it was wet, because it was full of leaves and other trash, because it was tramped too heavily in the wagon and wouldn't fluff good, because too much was picked before it was fully open, or because it wasn't protected from rain or dirt after it was picked.

Gins are equipped today to do a good job on bad cotton, but they can't make good cotton out of bad cotton. Cotton that is clean and fluffy to begin with just naturally gins better and grades better than cotton that is dirty, damp and packed. Some of the fine trash is impossible to get out after it has been matted into the fibres and will even be found in material woven from poor cotton. That's why the cotton industry says to the grower, "Keep It Clean!"

Neatness pays in picking cotton. We can't think of many better ways of making money than by just being neat.

Philippines Survey

How to get the Filipinos on their financial feet is the object of the American economy survey mission, already there and spreading out through the provinces. Under the Tydings-McDuffie Act of 1934, the U. S. set the islands free July 4, 1946, as promised, though it was less than a year after World War II and they had suffered severely from Japanese invasion.

President Truman rejected the request of President Quirino for a mixed commission of Filipinos and Americans. Thereby he avoided any semblance of political involvement.

The 23 mission members, all experts in the field of economics, labor and government, will, of course, before making their report on how best to aid the Philippines, study the relationship of the citizens of the republic to their government in time of turmoil and fiscal deficits.

The importance of the mission should not be minimized. It is not "just another investigation." American interest in the Philippines is vital, for they are an important part of the Pacific line of defense, and the U. S. has there 99-year leases of military and naval bases. The United States, which must defend them in war, is more than willing to help them to peacetime prosperity.

One of the best ways to make your troubles feel small is to ignore them — especially when talking to other people.

WALTER WINCHELL

BY JACK LAIT ...
(Walter Winchell is on Vacation)

Therefore it was not surprising to find under the door of the hut wherein I dwell, the following: CONFESSION OF A PART-TIME COMMUNIST

Yes, I was a secret member of The Party. For 11½ hours I was a concealed comrade. I was one of a dozen in a cell. Not with bars on it—just with the blinds drawn and the door bolted.

As a graduate of two universities, with more degrees than a thermometer, I naturally was confused and bewildered, knowing not which way to turn for my future.

I had only one Phooey Beta Kappa key wth which to unlock the Iron Curtain of a career.

Uncertainty clouded my horizon. I knew not whither to turn my educated feet. Destiny was out there somewhere in the beyond, but how could I determine its direction?

Should I be a Republican? That party had no jobs. Should I be a Democrat? The party of Hopkins, Tugwell, Murphy, Ma Perkins seemed too conservative for a youth with the blood of progress boiling within him.

What other outfits were there, then? I looked in the classified book under "Parties", and found "American Labor".

That gave me a tingling sensation. It was the only one labeled "American," and that appealed to my burning patriotism.

It was the organization of the great dissenter, Vito Marcantonio. It was the party of the little man who was the hope of little men, Fiorello LaGuardia. It was the flophouse of the malcontent, the dispossessed and the patch in the pants liberal. Something in my heart sang, "That's for you, kid." It was the call of the great out doors—Union Square.

To my chagrin I found it was almost as smug as the Democratic party, supported the New Deal with all its conservative worship of tradition and capitalistic adherence to the status quo. It was an open door to a New Deal bureau, which helped some, but my heart hungered for ideology.

Now there was something a rising young man could bite into.

The mundane prosperity, the alphabetical power, these were as the sounding brass and the tinkling cymbal, without Ideology.

I looked up Ideology in classified.

It wasn't listed, but my eye caught something near it, "Idiocy."

So I enlisted in the Communist party.

But I never spied. I didn't have to. In those good days the Communists not only could freely read any government documents, they wrote most of them.

I learned about fronts and transmission belts. Earl Browder was our chief. He was out of the penitentiary just then, and in good standing, an eminent Bolshevik. I was thrilled, naturally.

I could foresee Henry Wallace as president, William Z. Foster as secretary of state, and myself as chief justice of the supreme court—until other and better arrangements could be made, when a dictatorship of the Proletariat would take over and Union Square would be a concentration camp.

But, somehow, this stupid country kept putting roadblocks in the path of this inspired plan.

Bureaus, bureaus everywhere, but not one drawerful of Ideology.

It had all seemed so simple, and so beautiful. And now the country I loved failed to grasp Utopia.

In a moment of frustration I withdrew from the Communist party!

For years thereafter I was with it in spirit, though not of it in body.

I refused to answer when asked whether I had ever been a member of the party. There are no ways in America of making people answer queestions, such as there are in beloved Russia. So I stood on my Constitutional rights. Every citizen of this land has those rights. I learned that in Harvard.

Now, for certain reasons, I am prompted to make this confession. My country's congressmen want to know. They have Constitutional rights, too.

Yes, I was a Communist.

But I never was a spy.

I wouldn't know a pumpkin from a squash. I wouldn't know Alger Hiss from a pumpkin. I wouldn't know anything much. Except, of course, about Ideology.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

BLINDMAN'S BLUFF

Last night, in a mood for malt and malarkey, I stopped in to chin with Sammy Fuchs, proprietor of the Bowery Follies and honorary mayor of that unwashed neck of the Manhattan woods.

"What's new and gruesome in your baliwick?" I asked mine host.

"Nothing much," said Sammy, "except that Faker Kennedy died last week and left his eyes to a bartender down the block."

"Come again?" I said.

According to Sammy, the Faker was a professional blind man who had been rattling a tin cup on the Bowery for as long as he could remember. In spite of his calling, however, it was a standing joke around the flophouses that the cane-tapper could shoot off a bug's ear at a hundred paces.

"We used to kid Kennedy about his blindness," said Sammy, "but he never let on it was an act—if it was an act. And we were never sure because no one ever saw the old coot without his smoked glasses.

"Down at Gargan's Bar where the Faker used to hang out after hours," Sammy continued, "the proprietor had a kind of running gag at the bum's expense.

" 'When you die,' he used to say, 'will me your eyes. Mine are getting' pretty tired from lookin' at the sawdust.'

" 'I'll leave 'em to ya, Gargan, was the Faker's stock answer. 'And they'll come in handy if ya ever want to play marbles.'

"That's about how the talk went until one night not long ago when a couple of stick-up men walked into Gargan's and lined the customers up against the wall—all except the Faker who didn't budge from his usual place at the end of the bar.

"After the punks had cleaned out the register and what little was in the customers' pockets, one of them walked up to the Faker and jabbed a gun in his ribs.

" 'You wouldn't take pennies from a blind man, would ya?' said Kennedy.

" 'Don't gimme that pennies stuff,' said the thug. 'You guys always got a roll on ya.'

"The Faker made out as if he was fumbling in his pockets, and then suddenly made a grab for the gun, yanked it away from the hood and bopped him over the head with it. Then, using the body as a sort of shield, he pointed the gun at the other punk.

" 'Drop yer pistol,' he said, 'or I'll shoot the cigar outta yer mouth.'

"Well, it so happened the thug did have a cigar in his mouth, and when he heard the blind man's on-the-button reference to it he got panicky and dropped his gun. A dozen guys jumped him, and a few mintues later he and his pal were in the precinct house.

"After that, of course, everybody on the Bowery was sure the Faker was a fake, but he never owned up. 'They got me all wrong' he once told me. 'The stick-up guy was smokin' an Italian stogie and ya can smell them things a block away. And I guessed it was in his mouth by the way he talked.'

"A couple of weeks ago," Sammy went on, "Faker Kennedy got pneumonia, and the day after his body was carted off to Potter's Field a package showed up in Gargan's mail with a pair of glass eyes."

"Sounds like the old man was telling the truth after all," I said.

"Nobody is convinced, one way or the other," said the Mayor of the Bowery. "Maybe the eyes came out of the Faker's head, and then again maybe he picked them up in a hockshop. You know, you never can tell about these cuckoos—he might have wanted to play the gag out to the end."

New York Day By Day

New York — My latest radio shock happened when a lady interviewer, supposedly professional, asked an interviewee whether he or she had a spech-ee-al-ity, accent on the al. The last time I had heard speciality pronounced that way was by a big boy in a mental institution in Oklahoma.

After all, the poor boy wasn't being paid a king's salary, but this radio woman was collecting bushels of our deflated dollars for such talk.

Tom Waters, who won't mind my calling him an old trouper, writes me from Harrisburg, saying he will be 78 next Jan. 10, God willing. I like that idea of admitting that God's will may have something to do with it. I once heard a lady broadcaster say she'd be back with us again next Monday at the same hour. Long before broadcast time on Monday, she was dead. One of our professionally hicksie broadcasters has, ever since then, used the expression," . . . be the Good Lord willin'."

"I am the dean of all comedy pianists in this country as far as my research has taken me. I first did a piano act in public when I was a boy pianist in the local theatre Ferguson's, Shenandoah, Penna. My first traveling show was as a boy of seventeen. Charles H. McCarthy in One Of The Bravest played my home town as per above. It was a fire drama and he played under the auspices, of our local fire company. Night of Jan. 10th 1890. I played the show and do not know a note of music to read or play it. The ear has always sufficed. I played Rats the newsboy and did my piano specialty in the second act. My first Keith Vaudeville date, was week of March 14th at Keith's Bijou in Philadelphia. (Tom and Lottie Waters) Lottie and I did a comedy sketch and played the Keith and F. F. Proctor time in N. Y. She contracted pneumonia which quickly developed into hasty consumption and she died August 11th, 1900. Leaving me with two boys one six and the other 3. Both now living with their charming little families. When Lottie fell ill first at Proctor's 59th st. theatre, I joined Dumont's Minstrels. Your town is a standout in my memory. I played the Crawford Opera House there with One of the Bravest, stopped at the notable Sells Hotel. And have never since been in Wichita. Have had a notable career Mr. Driscoll. I Knew Them All.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

In Washington With

BASCOM TIMMONS

The courts of the United States have not yet determined finally whether it is libelous to call a person a Communist. In a sense, that is indicative of the confusion which prevails in the United States today over the whole subject of Communism.

Lacking a court decision to clarify the situation, individuals up to and including members of the United States Senate will not take the risk of referring to other individuals as Communists, apprehensive of libel action which might cost them prestige as well as possible damages. A Member of Congress has his constitutional immunity, and the present circumstances again demonstrate the wisdom of the "founding fathers" in placing that provision in the Constitution (It says that no member may be held liable at law for anything he says on the floor of Congress, and that includes committee sessions).

It is doubtful, of course, whether a decision of the United States Supreme Court would help much at the moment, for decisions of our highest court tend more and more to split hairs, and therefore to give no clear cut ruling, in a "yes" or "no" sense, on questions which puzzle the average person.

That also makes more understandable the popularity of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) who has been making a tour of New England, speaking to large and receptive audiences, who appreciate a man who strikes out on the general subject of Communists there are Communists in government, and quite a lot of them, though it's difficult to name names. For that reason, the present Korean crisis and its involvements have shaken the nation's capital more than foreign campaigns of the past, because the folks at home have been bluntly asking "Whom can we trust in Washington?

A placatory answer to that might be that all but a few in Washington can be trusted completely, but that doesn't satisfy most people because the Communists, with their careful training and their blind obedience to instructions can influence important decisions without non-Communists being the wiser.

So about the only advice we can give is the same passed on to a young and aggressive undergraduate from Yale, who says that a couple of professors on the faculty of Yale Law School are Communists and asks "Where can I find a list of Communists?"

About the only answer to that is to consult the FBI which has done a monumental job in combing the records of people suspected of subversive affiliations.

In Soviet Russia of course, they would all have been shot long ago.

In Paul Green's "Faith of Our Fathers," the outdoor drama playing here as part of Washington's Sesquicentennial Celebration, Major L'Enfant, the Frenchman who laid out the original plans for the nation's capital and is buried in Arlington National Cemetery, walks onstage with a roll of blueprints to show to General Washington.

Washington and Thomas Jefferson scan the plans, and Jefferson points out the several circles from which the main streets here radiate.

"But won't that be rather confusing?" asks Jefferson. Whether the audience on any particular evening is composed of local residents or tourists that line brings one of the real laughs of the show. The former have been confused for years and the latter, even if here for only one day have been baffled by the same layout.

L'Enfant brought the idea from Paris where the circles and their radiating boulevards were laid out by the architects of the French Revolution, so it is said, in order that cannons centered in the circles might be directed down any street at advancing mobs.

Nobody ever gave that idea much consideration here.

Investigations of government activities have been the target of criticism by senators and Congress for years and the indignation of the legislators sometimes seems, justified for the report of investigations run and on.

One of 192 pages just out gives the results of an inquiry into the Pajama situation. Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep.-Mich.) caught up to it. More than half the men in country sleep in pajamas, he told the Senate sarcastically. More rich than poor men sleep in pajamas, educated men favor them more than men of lesser education. Also they are worn more in cold than in hot climates.

And not a word in the report about the ladies and their preferences.

"And they have been finding all this out while we are fighting a war," said the viry irate senator from Michigan.

BIBLE THOUGHTS:

In Sunny California It's 123 Degrees

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The heat poured down on sunny California yesterday. It was 123 near Indio and 120 at Needles—all-time highs for September.

In northern California, Red Bluff had 114, and at Redding the temperature hit 113, matching the all-time high for that city.

Sacramento had 109, highest September reading in its weather bureau's history.

Both San Francisco and Los Angeles had maximum readings of 83.

Thurman Sensing,

CHURCH EDITORS CAN BE WRONG

As I view the rather amazing reaction—overwhelmingly favorable—to my editorial, "Methodist Editors Teach Socialism", which appeared in the July 15th issue of the News Bulletin, I realize that the seething unrest among Methodist laymen concerning the socialistic teachings of some of our church editors has been running very deep.

The rank and file of the Methodist Church are now beginning to realize, as perhaps never before, that while the church is sacred, their church editors are not. They are beinning to realize that it is possible for such an editor to be wrong—in his attitude and in his teaching.

My previous editorial dealt with an article in the June issue of the Adult Student, Sunday School publication of the Methodist Church. The author of this article used the 1946 record of Armour and Company as an illustration of "dangerous profits." He went on to say that "in one sense a profit represents an unpaid wage", and further stated that "even when profits go to stockholders, they go to a small number of people."

Methodist laymen do not like the idea of a church editor writing a Sunday School lesson belittling the profit system—the system which has built America and which has made possible the establishment of churches and schools and hospitals and which provides the money to pay the salaries of those who operate these institutions. They know that when a man decries profits and the distribution of dividends, he is directly attacking the American way of life, that he is promoting socialism.

The author of the article in the Adult Student has now written a letter to the Methodist bishop, here in Nashville, Tennessee, which has been mimeographed and rather widely distributed. They apparently consider the letter a full answer to my editorial. Actually, it answers none of the facts I set forth at all. It is mainly devoted to complaining about the "unfair distribution" I made of his remarks. It even continues the author's fallacious attitude toward dividends and stockholders, when he says, "I think it is true that in relation to the total number of people in our population the number of stockholders is relatively small."

He seems to have no conception of the function of profits and what becomes of profits in a free economy. There are slightly over 5,000,000 stockholders in the 100 largest corporations in the United States, compared with about 4,000,000 employees. But that is only a beginning. Every person who owns or has an interest in a life insurance policy—and there are 80,000,000 of them; every person who has a savings account; every person who depends upon a trust fund or retirement fund benefits from profits. Our endowed universities and churches and hospitals were founded with profits and the value of their endowment funds depends upon profits. The material welfare of the whole nation and all its people depends upon profits.

But even this attitude is not the worst aspect of this particular article. I have in my possesion copy of correspondence that one of the editors of the Adult Student had with an official of Armour and Company last February, long before the article appeared in print. The editor was advised that the profits for 1946, as set forth in the article, were technically correct but that they were highly misleading if they were to be used as an indication of Armour and Company's profit record. The Armour and Company official then went on to give the editor the record of the company over a period of years, showing a very modest net profit and hardly any compensation to the stockholders. As the official wrote me, "You will note that the situation was thoroughly explained to him, and just as thoroughly ignored." Such ignoring of the facts at hand and such deliberate attempts to prejudice the mind of the reader surely deserve no place in our Sunday School literature.

In view of this calculated distortion of the profit record of Armour and Company, any disclaimers of antagonism to our free enterprise system on the part of either the author or the editor can hardly be accepted as valid.

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

RAILWAY STRIKES

Majority editorial opinion is that the administration will remain firm in its intention not to aid the railway unions to secure increased contract benefits during government seizure of the railroads, but a considerable minority, noting possible election year pressures, reserves opinion on this point; and some editors argue that government seizure itself exerts pressure on railway management.—The large majority of editors feel that repeated refusals by the unions to accept recommendations of railway labor act fact-finding boards argues strongly now for compulsory arbitration of railway labor disputes.

Louisville (Ky.) Times (Ind.-Dem.): "The unions — the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors—have reason to believe that their chances of getting what they want, a 40-hour week with 48 hours pay for yard men and other wage increases for road men, are better under federal operation. . . The railroads have been taken over by the government several times, and nearly always the workers came out of it in better shape than when they went in."

Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator (Ind.-Dem.): "Mr. Truman announces firmly that wages and working conditions will continue as at present pending 'the final settlement of disputes between the carriers and the workers.' . . .And in view of Mr. Truman's just resentment at what he has labeled a broken pledge (by union leaders not to strike) it is improbable that he will bring any pressure to bear on the carriers. The railroads, indeed, have already gone beyond the fact-finding board's recommendations to the extent of offering an additional five cents an hour."

New Orleans (La.) Times-Picayune (Ind.-Dem.): "That White House statement is subject to change of course. The unions probably feel that political 'exigencies' will bring about the wage concessions they are trying to force. They count upon the surrender precedent created by President Roosevelt in 1943 to avert a nationwide rail strike in wartime-plus the close approach of a congressional election. . . ."

Indianapolis (Ind.) Star (Ind.-Rep.): "In seizing the railroads President Truman has done what will benefit him most politically . . . .Although the president has stated he does not intend to enter into direct wage negotiations with the unions, the very fact of government seizure puts intense pressure on management to settle and practically no pressure at all on the unions. Mr. Truman could have, and we believe should have, stopped this strike by injunction."

New York Herald Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "Seizure may put a slight additional pressure upon management, but under the circumstances it can hardly be very great. The whole episode is. . .a maneuver for slight advantages whch may tend to conceal from all sides the fact that none has been facing the real issues raised by this threat of paralyzing strike in time of national crisis. . . The unions have rashly hastened the day when the question of both union and management responsibility in the vital industries will have to be more directly attacked."

Chicago Tribune (Ind.): "The only remedy is a new law forbidding strikes or lockouts growing out of any dispute falling under the railway labor act. Such a bill is pending in the senator labor and public welfare committee. . . . Men who work for railroads are like policemen and soldiers; they are essential to the maintenance of order and to the national defense . . . .If they don't like their jobs, railroad men as individuals are free to seek others."

St. Louis (Mo.) Post-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "Presumably the Government will run the railroads until management and the unions, probably with government officials sitting in, reach a settlement. What all this adds up to is a sort of a de facto amendment of the railway labor act. National strikes have, in effect, been outlawed. This seems to cut th ground under Senator Donnell's bill to ban railroad strikes and impose compulsory arbitration of disputes. . . . The present procedure, unsatisfactory as it is, at least requires the two sides to keep negotiating."

Oakland (Calif.) Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "What may be worth consideration aside from declared issues is the apparent disposition of two sides in a dispute to have the federal government, rather than collective bargaining, settle the issues. Labor may believe the government will meet many or all of its demands; management may figure that if these demands are met during a period of government seizure, the government will be obligated morally to grant rate increases to meet the costs."

How To Change A Leopard

Can you change the spots on a leopard? The platitude says no. But the spots on that particularly dangerous breed known as "the reckless driver" can be changed. Municipal Judge W. M. Harper has given some good advice on this subject recently, but we'd like to add a few words of our own.

This thought is prompted by the approaching Labor Day holiday. The record-breaking carnage of the Memorial Day and Fourth of July week ends has been duly recorded by the National Safety Council—but possibly forgotten by too many of us. Will the Labor Day week end bring another casualty list of 400-odd persons killed in traffic and an uncounted number injured?

Most of us are responsible drivers of reasonable skill and prudence. We don't want to kill anyone—least of all ourselves.

But there are some drivers on the highways—say one out of ten—who are always potential accident-makers. The speed demons, the arrogant lane-weavers, the drunks, the law-flouters.

That is the only way to get quick results. Highway engineering, driver training, thorough education—these are desirable and worthwhile objectives. But their promise lies in the future.

Meanwhile, Labor Day is upon us. Concerted and vigorous action by state patrols and city police—backed by quick justice in the traffic courts—can hold deaths to a minimum, as many states demonstrated with a perfect or near-perfect record over the Fourth.

Strict traffic law enforcement is commonly believed by the politicians to be unpopular. This has been proved a fallacy so often by intelligent and courageous public officials that it no longer is worth arguing. There are always a few vocal objectors who apparently feel themselves above the law, but the public generally would welcome some assurance that "death will not take their holiday."

Thus it is the responsibility of all of us to get behind a crackdown on motor madness by police and traffic courts during the summer's last holiday.

Is it worth a three-cent stamp and five minutes of your time? Then write your mayor and governor. Let them know you want the laws enforced. Tell them you are with them in any all-out effort to put an end to holiday horror. They can do it with your help!

P. S. And another big way to help is to drive safely yourself.

Keep It Clean

Members of the cotton industry have a bit of advice for cotton growers in Louisiana and elsewhere throughout the south—"Keep It Clean." They aren't referring to risque jokes that cotton growers might tell or bad language they might use in addressing a balky mule or tractor, but to the job of picking cotton. Clean cotton, the ginners and buyers point out, not only looks better, but really is better. It gins better. It grades better. It brings the grower $10 to $20 a bale more.

Most any cotton that is picked, handled and ginned as carefully as possible will grade middling or better. Yet, much of the cotton sold in Louisiana, in some parishes 50 per cent or more, grades a grade or two below middling, costing the grower $10 to $20 a bale. Most of this cotton graded low because it was picked while it was wet, because it was full of leaves and other trash, because it was tramped too heavily in the wagon and wouldn't fluff good, because too much was picked before it was fully open, or because it wasn't protected from rain or dirt after it was picked.

Gins are equipped today to do a good job on bad cotton, but they can't make good cotton out of bad cotton. Cotton that is clean and fluffy to begin with just naturally gins better and grades better than cotton that is dirty, damp and packed. Some of the fine trash is impossible to get out after it has been matted into the fibres and will even be found in material woven from poor cotton. That's why the cotton industry says to the grower, "Keep It Clean!"

Neatness pays in picking cotton. We can't think of many better ways of making money than by just being neat.

Philippines Survey

How to get the Filipinos on their financial feet is the object of the American economy survey mission, already there and spreading out through the provinces. Under the Tydings-McDuffie Act of 1934, the U. S. set the islands free July 4, 1946, as promised, though it was less than a year after World War II and they had suffered severely from Japanese invasion.

President Truman rejected the request of President Quirino for a mixed commission of Filipinos and Americans. Thereby he avoided any semblance of political involvement.

The 23 mission members, all experts in the field of economics, labor and government, will, of course, before making their report on how best to aid the Philippines, study the relationship of the citizens of the republic to their government in time of turmoil and fiscal deficits.

The importance of the mission should not be minimized. It is not "just another investigation." American interest in the Philippines is vital, for they are an important part of the Pacific line of defense, and the U. S. has there 99-year leases of military and naval bases. The United States, which must defend them in war, is more than willing to help them to peacetime prosperity.

One of the best ways to make your troubles feel small is to ignore them — especially when talking to other people.

WALTER WINCHELL

BY JACK LAIT ...
(Walter Winchell is on Vacation)

Therefore it was not surprising to find under the door of the hut wherein I dwell, the following: CONFESSION OF A PART-TIME COMMUNIST

Yes, I was a secret member of The Party. For 11½ hours I was a concealed comrade. I was one of a dozen in a cell. Not with bars on it—just with the blinds drawn and the door bolted.

As a graduate of two universities, with more degrees than a thermometer, I naturally was confused and bewildered, knowing not which way to turn for my future.

I had only one Phooey Beta Kappa key wth which to unlock the Iron Curtain of a career.

Uncertainty clouded my horizon. I knew not whither to turn my educated feet. Destiny was out there somewhere in the beyond, but how could I determine its direction?

Should I be a Republican? That party had no jobs. Should I be a Democrat? The party of Hopkins, Tugwell, Murphy, Ma Perkins seemed too conservative for a youth with the blood of progress boiling within him.

What other outfits were there, then? I looked in the classified book under "Parties", and found "American Labor".

That gave me a tingling sensation. It was the only one labeled "American," and that appealed to my burning patriotism.

It was the organization of the great dissenter, Vito Marcantonio. It was the party of the little man who was the hope of little men, Fiorello LaGuardia. It was the flophouse of the malcontent, the dispossessed and the patch in the pants liberal. Something in my heart sang, "That's for you, kid." It was the call of the great out doors—Union Square.

To my chagrin I found it was almost as smug as the Democratic party, supported the New Deal with all its conservative worship of tradition and capitalistic adherence to the status quo. It was an open door to a New Deal bureau, which helped some, but my heart hungered for ideology.

Now there was something a rising young man could bite into.

The mundane prosperity, the alphabetical power, these were as the sounding brass and the tinkling cymbal, without Ideology.

I looked up Ideology in classified. It wasn't listed, but my eye caught something near it, "Idiocy."

So I enlisted in the Communist party.

But I never spied. I didn't have to. In those good days the Communists not only could freely read any government documents, they wrote most of them.

I learned about fronts and transmission belts. Earl Browder was our chief. He was out of the penitentiary just then, and in good standing, an eminent Bolshevik. I was thrilled, naturally.

I could foresee Henry Wallace as president, William Z. Foster as secretary of state, and myself as chief justice of the supreme court—until other and better arrangements could be made, when a dictatorship of the Proletariat would take over and Union Square would be a concentration camp.

But, somehow, this stupid country kept putting roadblocks in the path of this inspired plan.

Bureaus, bureaus everywhere, but not one drawerful of Ideology.

It had all seemed so simple, and so beautiful. And now the country I loved failed to grasp Utopia.

In a moment of frustration I withdrew from the Communist party!

For years thereafter I was with it in spirit, though not of it in body.

I refused to answer when asked whether I had ever been a member of the party. There are no ways in America of making people answer queestions, such as there are in beloved Russia. So I stood on my Constitutional rights. Every citizen of this land has those rights. I learned that in Harvard.

Now, for certain reasons, I am prompted to make this confession. My country's congressmen want to know. They have Constitutional rights, too.

Yes, I was a Communist.

But I never was a spy.

I wouldn't know a pumpkin from a squash. I wouldn't know Alger Hiss from a pumpkin. I wouldn't know anything much. Except, of course, about Ideology.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

BLINDMAN'S BLUFF

Last night, in a mood for malt and malarkey, I stopped in to chin with Sammy Fuchs, proprietor of the Bowery Follies and honorary mayor of that unwashed neck of the Manhattan woods.

"What's new and gruesome in your baliwick?" I asked mine host.

"Nothing much," said Sammy, "except that Faker Kennedy died last week and left his eyes to a bartender down the block."

"Come again?" I said.

According to Sammy, the Faker was a professional blind man who had been rattling a tin cup on the Bowery for as long as he could remember. In spite of his calling, however, it was a standing joke around the flophouses that the cane-tapper could shoot off a bug's ear at a hundred paces.

"We used to kid Kennedy about his blindness," said Sammy, "but he never let on it was an act—if it was an act. And we were never sure because no one ever saw the old coot without his smoked glasses.

"Down at Gargan's Bar where the Faker used to hang out after hours," Sammy continued, "the proprietor had a kind of running gag at the bum's expense.

" 'When you die,' he used to say, 'will me your eyes. Mine are getting' pretty tired from lookin' at the sawdust.'

" 'I'll leave 'em to ya, Gargan, was the Faker's stock answer. 'And they'll come in handy if ya ever want to play marbles.'

"That's about how the talk went until one night not long ago when a couple of stick-up men walked into Gargan's and lined the customers up against the wall—all except the Faker who didn't budge from his usual place at the end of the bar.

"After the punks had cleaned out the register and what little was in the customers' pockets, one of them walked up to the Faker and jabbed a gun in his ribs.

" 'You wouldn't take pennies from a blind man, would ya?' said Kennedy.

" 'Don't gimme that pennies stuff,' said the thug. 'You guys always got a roll on ya.'

"The Faker made out as if he was fumbling in his pockets, and then suddenly made a grab for the gun, yanked it away from the hood and bopped him over the head with it. Then, using the body as a sort of shield, he pointed the gun at the other punk.

" 'Drop yer pistol,' he said, 'or I'll shoot the cigar outta yer mouth.'

"Well, it so happened the thug did have a cigar in his mouth, and when he heard the blind man's on-the-button reference to it he got panicky and dropped his gun. A dozen guys jumped him, and a few mintues later he and his pal were in the precinct house.

"After that, of course, everybody on the Bowery was sure the Faker was a fake, but he never owned up. 'They got me all wrong' he once told me. 'The stick-up guy was smokin' an Italian stogie and ya can smell them things a block away. And I guessed it was in his mouth by the way he talked.'

"A couple of weeks ago," Sammy went on, "Faker Kennedy got pneumonia, and the day after his body was carted off to Potter's Field a package showed up in Gargan's mail with a pair of glass eyes."

"Sounds like the old man was telling the truth after all," I said.

"Nobody is convinced, one way or the other," said the Mayor of the Bowery. "Maybe the eyes came out of the Faker's head, and then again maybe he picked them up in a hockshop. You know, you never can tell about these cuckoos—he might have wanted to play the gag out to the end."

New York Day By Day

New York — My latest radio shock happened when a lady interviewer, supposedly professional, asked an interviewee whether he or she had a spech-ee-al-ity, accent on the al. The last time I had heard speciality pronounced that way was by a big boy in a mental institution in Oklahoma.

After all, the poor boy wasn't being paid a king's salary, but this radio woman was collecting bushels of our deflated dollars for such talk.

Tom Waters, who won't mind my calling him an old trouper, writes me from Harrisburg, saying he will be 78 next Jan. 10, God willing. I like that idea of admitting that God's will may have something to do with it. I once heard a lady broadcaster say she'd be back with us again next Monday at the same hour. Long before broadcast time on Monday, she was dead. One of our professionally hicksie broadcasters has, ever since then, used the expression," . . . be the Good Lord willin'."

"I am the dean of all comedy pianists in this country as far as my research has taken me. I first did a piano act in public when I was a boy pianist in the local theatre Ferguson's, Shenandoah, Penna. My first traveling show was as a boy of seventeen. Charles H. McCarthy in One Of The Bravest played my home town as per above. It was a fire drama and he played under the auspices, of our local fire company. Night of Jan. 10th 1890. I played the show and do not know a note of music to read or play it. The ear has always sufficed. I played Rats the newsboy and did my piano specialty in the second act. My first Keith Vaudeville date, was week of March 14th at Keith's Bijou in Philadelphia. (Tom and Lottie Waters) Lottie and I did a comedy sketch and played the Keith and F. F. Proctor time in N. Y. She contracted pneumonia which quickly developed into hasty consumption and she died August 11th, 1900. Leaving me with two boys one six and the other 3. Both now living with their charming little families. When Lottie fell ill first at Proctor's 59th st. theatre, I joined Dumont's Minstrels. Your town is a standout in my memory. I played the Crawford Opera House there with One of the Bravest, stopped at the notable Sells Hotel. And have never since been in Wichita. Have had a notable career Mr. Driscoll. I Knew Them All.

Several of my readers collected original material about the American theater. I'm sure they wouldn't want to miss this one.

BASCOM TIMMONS

The courts of the United States have not yet determined finally whether it is libelous to call a person a Communist. In a sense, that is indicative of the confusion which prevails in the United States today over the whole subject of Communism.

Lacking a court decision to clarify the situation, individuals up to and including members of the United States Senate will not take the risk of referring to other individuals as Communists, apprehensive of libel action which might cost them prestige as well as possible damages. A Member of Congress has his constitutional immunity, and the present circumstances again demonstrate the wisdom of the "founding fathers" in placing that provision in the Constitution (it says that no member may be held liable at law for anything he says on the floor of Congress, and that includes committee sessions).

It is doubtful, of course, whether a decision of the United States Supreme Court would help much at the moment, for decisions of our highest court tend more and more to split hairs, and therefore to give no clear cut ruling, in a "yes" or "no" sense, on questions which puzzle the average person.

That also makes more understandable the popularity of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) who has been making a tour of New England, speaking to large and receptive audiences, who appreciate a man who strikes out on the general subject of Communists there are Communists in government, and quite a lot of them, though it's difficult to name names. For that reason, the present Korean crisis and its involvements have shaken the nation's capital more than foreign campaigns of the past, because the folks at home have been bluntly asking "Whom can we trust in Washington?

A placatory answer to that might be that all but a few in Washington can be trusted completely, but that doesn't satisfy most people because the Communists, with their careful training and their blind obedience to instructions can influence important decisions without non-Communists being the wiser.

So about the only advice we can give is the same passed on to a young and aggressive undergraduate from Yale, who says that a couple of professors on the faculty of Yale Law School are Communists and asks "Where can I find a list of Communists?"

About the only answer to that is to consult the FBI which has done a monumental job in combing the records of people suspected of subversive affiliations.

In Soviet Russia of course, they would all have been shot long ago.

In Paul Green's "Faith of Our Fathers," the outdoor drama playing here as part of Washington's Sesquicentennial Celebration, Major L'Enfant, the Frenchman who laid out the original plans for the nation's capital and is buried in Arlington National Cemetery, walks onstage with a roll of blueprints to show to General Washington.

Washington and Thomas Jefferson scan the plans, and Jefferson points out the several circles from which the main streets here radiate.

"But won't that be rather confusing?" asks Jefferson. Whether the audience on any particular evening is composed of local residents or tourists that line brings one of the real laughs of the show. The former have been confused for years and the latter, even if here for only one day have been baffled by the same layout.

L'Enfant brought the idea from Paris where the circles and their radiating boulevards were laid out by the architects of the French Revolution, so it is said, in order that cannons centered in the circles might be directed down any street at advancing mobs.

Nobody ever gave that idea much consideration here.

Investigations of government activities have been the target of criticism by senators and Congress for years and the indignation of the legislators sometimes seems, justified for the report of investigations run and on.

One of 192 pages just out gives the results of an inquiry into the Pajama situation. Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep.-Mich.) caught up to it. More than half the men in country sleep in pajamas, he told the Senate sarcastically. More rich than poor men sleep in pajamas, educated men favor them more than men of lesser education. Also they are worn more in cold than in hot climates.

And not a word in the report about the ladies and their preferences.

"And they have been finding all this out while we are fighting a war," said the viry irate senator from Michigan.

In Sunny California It's 123 Degrees

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The heat poured down on sunny California yesterday. It was 123 near Indio and 120 at Needles—all-time highs for September.

In northern California, Red Bluff had 114, and at Redding the temperature hit 113, matching the all-time high for that city.

Sacramento had 109, highest September reading in its weather bureau's history.

Both San Francisco and Los Angeles had maximum readings of 83.

Thurman Sensing,

CHURCH EDITORS CAN BE WRONG

As I view the rather amazing reaction—overwhelmingly favorable—to my editorial, "Methodist Editors Teach Socialism", which appeared in the July 15th issue of the News Bulletin, I realize that the seething unrest among Methodist laymen concerning the socialistic teachings of some of our church editors has been running very deep.

The rank and file of the Methodist Church are now beginning to realize, as perhaps never before, that while the church is sacred, their church editors are not. They are beinning to realize that it is possible for such an editor to be wrong—in his attitude and in his teaching.

My previous editorial dealt with an article in the June issue of the Adult Student, Sunday School publication of the Methodist Church. The author of this article used the 1946 record of Armour and Company as an illustration of "dangerous profits." He went on to say that "in one sense a profit represents an unpaid wage", and further stated that "even when profits go to stockholders, they go to a small number of people."

Methodist laymen do not like the idea of a church editor writing a Sunday School lesson belittling the profit system—the system which has built America and which has made possible the establishment of churches and schools and hospitals and which provides the money to pay the salaries of those who operate these institutions. They know that when a man decries profits and the distribution of dividends, he is directly attacking the American way of life, that he is promoting socialism.

The author of the article in the Adult Student has now written a letter to the Methodist bishop, here in Nashville, Tennessee, which has been mimeographed and rather widely distributed. They apparently consider the letter a full answer to my editorial. Actually, it answers none of the facts I set forth at all. It is mainly devoted to complaining about the "unfair distribution" I made of his remarks. It even continues the author's fallacious attitude toward dividends and stockholders, when he says, "I think it is true that in relation to the total number of people in our population the number of stockholders is relatively small."

He seems to have no conception of the function of profits and what becomes of profits in a free economy. There are slightly over 5,000 000 stockholders in the 100 largest corporations in the United States, compared with about 4,000,000 employees. But that is only a beginning. Every person who owns or has an interest in a life insurance policy—and there are 80,000,000 of them; every person who has a savings account; every person who depends upon a trust fund or retirement fund benefits from profits. Our endowed universities and churches and hospitals were founded with profits and the value of their endowment funds depends upon profits. The material welfare of the whole nation and all its people depends upon profits.

But even this attitude is not the worst aspect of this particular article. I have in my possesion copy of correspondence that one of the editors of the Adult Student had with an official of Armour and Company last February, long before the article appeared in print. The editor was advised that the profits for 1946, as set forth in the article, were technically correct but that they were highly misleading if they were to be used as an indication of Armour and Company's profit record. The Armour and Company official then went on to give the editor the record of the company over a period of years, showing a very modest net profit and hardly any compensation to the stockholders. As the official wrote me, "You will note that the situation was thoroughly explained to him, and just as thoroughly ignored." Such ignoring of the facts at hand and such deliberate attempts to prejudice the mind of the reader surely deserve no place in our Sunday School literature.

In view of this calculated distortion of the profit record of Armour and Company, any disclaimers of antagonism to our free enterprise system on the part of either the author or the editor can hardly be accepted as valid.

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

RAILWAY STRIKES

Majority editorial opinion is that the administration will remain firm in its intention not to aid the railway unions to secure increased contract benefits during government seizure of the railroads, but a considerable minority, noting possible election year pressures, reserves opinion on this point; and some editors argue that government seizure itself exerts pressure on railway management.—The large majority of editors feel that repeated refusals by the unions to accept recommendations of railway labor act fact-finding boards argues strongly now for compulsory arbitration of railway labor disputes.

Louisville (Ky.) Times (Ind.-Dem.): "The unions — the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors—have reason to believe that their chances of getting what they want, a 40-hour week with 48 hours pay for yard men and other wage increases for road men, are better under federal operation. . . The railroads have been taken over by the government several times, and nearly always the workers came out of it in better shape than when they went in."

Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator (Ind.-Dem.): "Mr. Truman announces firmly that wages and working conditions will continue as at present pending 'the final settlement of disputes between the carriers and the workers.' . . .And in view of Mr. Truman's just resentment at what he has labeled a broken pledge (by union leaders not to strike) it is improbable that he will bring any pressure to bear on the carriers. The railroads, indeed, have already gone beyond the fact-finding board's recommendations to the extent of offering an additional five cents an hour."

New Orleans (La.) Times-Picayune (Ind.-Dem.): "That White House statement is subject to change of course. The unions probably feel that political 'exigencies' will bring about the wage concessions they are trying to force. They count upon the surrender precedent created by President Roosevelt in 1943 to avert a nationwide rail strike in wartime-plus the close approach of a congressional election. . . ."

Indianapolis (Ind.) Star (Ind.-Rep.): "In seizing the railroads President Truman has done what will benefit him most politically . . . .Although the president has stated he does not intend to enter into direct wage negotiations with the unions, the very fact of government seizure puts intense pressure on management to settle and practically no pressure at all on the unions. Mr. Truman could have, and we believe should have, stopped this strike by injunction."

New York Herald Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "Seizure may put a slight additional pressure upon management, but under the circumstances it can hardly be very great. The whole episode is. . .a maneuver for slight advantages which may tend to conceal from all sides the fact that none has been facing the real issues raised by this threat of paralyzing strike in time of national crisis. . . The unions have rashly hastened the day when the question of both union and management responsibility in the vital industries will have to be more directly attacked."

Chicago Tribune (Ind.): "The only remedy is a new law forbidding strikes or lockouts growing out of any dispute falling under the railway labor act. Such a bill is pending in the senator labor and public welfare committee. . . . Men who work for railroads are like policemen and soldiers; they are essential to the maintenance of order and to the national defense . . . .If they don't like their jobs, railroad men as individuals are free to seek others."

St. Louis (Mo.) Post-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "Presumably the Government will run the railroads until management and the unions, probably with government officials sitting in, reach a settlement. What all this adds up to is a sort of a de facto amendment of the railway labor act. National strikes have, in effect, been outlawed. This seems to cut th ground under Senator Donnell's bill to ban railroad strikes and impose compulsory arbitration of disputes. . . . The present procedure, unsatisfactory as it is, at least requires the two sides to keep negotiating."

Oakland (Calif.) Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "What may be worth consideration aside from declared issues is the apparent disposition of two sides in a dispute to have the federal government, rather than collective bargaining, settle the issues. Labor may believe the government will meet many or all of its demands; management may figure that if these demands are met during a period of government seizure, the government will be obligated morally to grant rate increases to meet the costs."

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

COAL IS SCARED

Many products become obsolescent and others take their place. One might cook a steak over charcoal briquettes, but I can recall, as a boy, seeing charcoal in every grocery store. Up in the Berkshires, where I have a farm, charcoal burning used to be quite a business, but that industry has disappeared. The coal industry faces trouble because it is outpriced in relationship to its competitors.

This is the language of despair, spoken by John T. Jones, president of district 16 of the United Mine Workers:

"The thousands of American coal miners in my district who might be working if coal were producing the energy now being produced by cheap foreign fuel oil, think it far more important that they be working and producing than that American taxpayers' dollars be used to finance a great program of expansion in foreign oil production and refining facilities. They are well aware that those much-needed dollars that the proponents of this plan (point four) talk about go into the pockets of the six big oil-importing oil companies, five of which are American-owned. They also know that most of the dollars that remain in those foreign countries are paid to the ruling class in the form of royalties and very little of it trickles down to the working men and women of those countries. . ."

Now, actually, coal was outpriced by the United Mine Workers with the object of giving miners and their families a living wage and safer working conditions. Even if one accepts John L. Lewis's own interpretation of his motives and conduct, it will in no way affect the competition between coal and oil, and between coal and natural gas. Even if one accepts John L. Lewis's bitterness against the politicians as correct, his strike judgment was only correct on a short-term basis. He drove a nation away from his commodity.

In a free economic system, in which competing products appear within the price range abandoned by what was regarded as a primary product, obsolescence cannot be protected. I notice in the chain stores a new commodity of dishes, cutlery and table accessories, in many colors, not readily breakable, which is taking the place of paperware and breakable chinaware for picnics and similar outdoor activities. It is made of some kind of plastic and is serviceable. In a word, if one watches, new products, in durable goods or consumer's goods, push into the market in a free economy and replace what came before.

The Neo-Luddites would keep obsolescence in the market. They are, you may recall, named after those journeymen and apprentices in England who set out to destroy the first power-driven machinery. They did destroy some, but they could not destroy the concept of power-driven machinery any more than we can stop the march toward automatic machinery or atomic power.

True, each new development in production raises problems for some capitalists, management and workers, and a new means of production, such as the automat "thinking" system of machines, will create social problems of major magnitude. Professor Norbert Wiener of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who conceives these automatic monsters, is not the first person to be frightened by the consequences of his genius. He has blueprinted the social effects of these machines upon our society.

No one can, with certainty, even forecast the prospects for us that may come from atomic power. The difficulties now are mechanical, not social; the problem is to contain the power in practical vessels and the inference is that great ocean liners may be the first to use such power practically. But it is foreseeable that some day atomic power may do to oil and natural gas what these products have already done to coal.

Then we shall, in civilized societies, be faced by the social problems of organized life that requires few to labor in industry, producing ample supplies for what may be a permanent state of over-population. Such social problems are vexing, because they do not invite workable practical solutions. All the great minds from Hammurabi and Wang An-Shih to Karl Marx and Oscar Ewing have had pat solutions, which somehow do not satisfy the human craving for leisure and independence and productivity. RAILROAD FANS' HOLIDAY MARRED

Eight Killed, 50 Injured In Head-On Crash Of Interurban Trains

Milwaukee, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A model railroad fans' holiday convention opened tragically today when at least eight delegates were killed and an estimated 50 injured in a head-on crash of two interurban trains.

The collision, about nine miles from downtown Milwaukee, was between two special two-car excursion trains of the Milwaukee Rapid Transit and Speedrail Co. Delegates to the annual convention of the National Model Railroad Association had leased them for a sight-seeing trip.

The forward cars of the two electrified trains were smashed to bits as one telescoped into the other, splitting the sides back like a banana peel. The rear coaches of both trains remained on the tracks.

One of the trains, operated by Jay Maeder, president of the railroad, was returning from its trip to suburban Hales Coroners. The other was enroute there. Both trains were traveling on the same track.

The known dead were identified as:

Mrs. Marian Kratt, about 40, Chicago.

John Williams (917 S. Crescent Ave.) Park Ridge, Ill.

Emil H. Beck (5768 Berkshire Ave.) Detroit.

William Greenway (2125 S. Gladstone) Louisville, Ky.

William A. Wight, 25, Wauwatosa, Wis.

Huntley G. Burroughs, Detroit.

William Roberts, Saylors S. C.

Maeder, who told an Associated Press reporter he "jumped or was shoved" from the control booth of the inbound train before the crash, said "I have no idea of how it happened."

"I saw the southbound train coming around a bend about 200 yards away," Maeder said. "I slammed on the brakes, but saw a collision was coming. I opened the door to the control room and I don't know whether I jumped or was shoved. Someone said he pushed me."

"I have no idea of how it happened," Maeder added. "Someone must have missed a signal."

Maeder, who purchased the Speedrail company less than one year ago, said he had worried all last night about operating the special trains over his line which serves the Southern and Western Milwaukee suburbs. He said the model enthusiasts had arranged for five such trains for today's picture-taking trips and he was concerned about their operation along with regular daily trains.

The motorman assigned to the run was with him in the control booth at the time of the crash, Maeder said.

The collision scene is only a few blocks from a heavily traveled beltline highway carrying traffic around the Milwaukee metropolitan area. Many of the cars carrying Labor Day weekend vacationers turned off at the site, choking movement of emergency vehicles.

The injured were taken by ambulance to Milwaukee County General Hospital, only a few miles away, until the emergency room was too overcrowded to handle more. The rest were taken to another institution.

Workers with acetylene torches cut the twisted steel from around bodies of the dead and injured. Many of those hurt were trapped in the wreckage. A Roman Catholic priest administered last rites of his church.

A passenger told of diving to the floor to save himself when he heard "screeching brakes" Later, after crawling through a shattered window, he said he found a man with one leg torn off lying beside the tracks. He administered a tourniquet.

The crash was the second for the interurban line in just over one year. Nineteen persons were hurt last August 24, about three weeks before Maeder took over the company, when a speeding car slammed into the rear of a standing coach.

Former G. O. P. Senator From Oklahoma Dies

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Ed H. Moore, 78, who rose from school teacher and oil producer to Republican U. S. senator from Oklahoma, died today.

Moore, who split with the Democratic party to be elected on the GOP ticket in 1942, suffered a heart attack Thursday after visitnig his office the previous day. He went into a coma and never regained consciousness. He had been in failing health since retiring from office in 1948 and last year was weakened by an attack of pneumonia.

Moore would have been 79 next month.

The family said funeral services will be held here Tuesday morning with burial in the afternoon at Okmulgee.

With him to the end was Mrs. Moore and a brother, John M. Moore. He died at his home here.

Also surviving is a sister, Florence Abblitt, and another brother, I. S. Moore, both of Pamona, Calif.

Moore quit a profitable oil business at the age of 71 to enter politics. He won his first quest for office—the U. S. senate seat.

SILVERSTEIN'S TO SHOW FURS

One Of The Largest Exhibits Ever Shown Here To Be Displayed

A $200,000 collection of the season's finest furs will be displayed Silverstein's, 342 DeSiard street, in Monroe Tuesday and Wednesday, September 5th and 6th.

Dave Silverstein, owner of Silverstein's women's apparel shop, related that under the face of a rising fur market, Herman Zacks, Silverstein's New York furrier, is coming to Monroe for a two day showing of the latest 1950 and 1951 styles in fur capes, coats, stoles, and scarves.

Zacks is well known in the twin cities and throughout northeast Louisaina, Silverstein said, and has during the past 15 years provided furs for many of Louisiana's smartest dressed women.

The New York furrier is associated with B. Ordover and sons of New York, who have been in the fur business for more than 60 years.

Silverstein pointed out that the August 30th issue of the Wall Street Journal carried an aricle on dock workers refusing to unload Russian furs which threatens to put a big kink in fur supplies.

In the view of the uncertainties confronting the fur market, Silverstein related that Zacks is bringing one of the largest and finest displays of furs here ever to be shown in the south.

Silverstein asserted that the furs to be shown in all styles, sizes and colors can be purchased at the two-day showing. He stressed the fact that selections will be taken from Zack's stock shown at Silverstein's. These furs are not only guaranteed by the fur manufacturers, Silverstein said, but also by our store, which has been in business here more than a quarter of a century.

Women desiring any price or kind of furs are cordially invited to see this costly display of furs which range in cost from $69.50 to $4,000.

The display will include capes and coats of Russian ermine, China mink, letout China mink, marmot, ranch mink, dyed muskrat, dyed Russian squirrel, mink dyed northern black muskrat.

Stoles and scarves will be featured in kolinsky, ranch mink, wild mink, baum marten, stone marten, Russian sable.

Silverstein pointed out that anyone wanting a fine coat and not wishing to make a trip to New York, Dallas or New Orleans can find any kind or price at his store Tuesday and Wednesday.

HODGE

Visitors of Mrs. J. B. Wilson during the Labor Day holidays and over the week end will be Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Wilson and son, Al, Mrs. P. Collins of Warren Arkansas. They will also be the guests of other relatives in Hodge and Jonesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Culpepper of Jonesboro and son Donnie were guests of relatives and friends in Lake Charles this week.

The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Hammonds of Jonesboro have as ther guest their daughter and family, Mr. and MRS. W. F. Coblentez and son Richard of Mt. Morris, Ill.

Friends regret that the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lowrey is a patient of the Hodge Clinic, suffering from an injury received when the rocking chair she was sitting in tipped over.

15 Years After Huey Died Long Power Returns To La.

By Edmond Le Breton

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Fifteen years ago a roar of pistol fire shook Louisiana's capitol and the nation and seemed to herald the end of a political dynasty.

Sen. Huey P. Long, "kingfish," of Louisiana and potential presidential candidate, was mortally wounded in the fusillade Sept. 8, 1935.

But 15 years later, while some Louisianians still argue who actually killed Huey Long, his family and faction have swung through a full political orbit and are firmly back in power.

When Long died, less than two days after he was shot, Louisiana was as numb as a patient with a major nerve to the brain severed. The man who had held the reins of every important state and local public activity suddenly was gone.

Within five years the once all-powerful political machine he had built seemed, to all appearances, smashed forever. Scandals that broke after the senator's death sent some of its leaders to the penitentiary. Others joined a vigorous reform movement that swept the state in the 1940 elections.

But in eight more years the voters had called the Longs back, giving two of th estate's highest offices to Huey's close relatives.

His eldest son, Russell, 31, whose physical resemblance to his father is striking, is the junior United States senator. He is about to begin a new turn, won with a more than two-to-one vote — a landslide for surpassing any previous ballot triumph of any member of the family.

Earl K. Long, Huey's younger brother, has been governor since 1948 after leading the faction during the years of political eclipse.

Louisianians' memories in this anniversary year were stirred by a rip-roaring fight over a proposal backed by Gov. Long for a constitutional convention enpowered to extend the governor's term.

The governor quarterbacked the measure through the legislature, dominating discussion in committee meetings and sitting in on the sessions that prepared the convention call.

Popular ratification of the call was set for the general elections, Nov. 7. However, Gov. Long ended the controversy by announcing Aug. 29 that he would call the legislature into another special session to repeal the convention act.

The governor also took over a meeting of the Democratic state central committee. He was made national committeeman, ousting his one-time campaign manager, W. H. Talbot, who had espoused the states rights democratic cause. Huey Long in his day, too, spoke for the state in the national party governing body.

Earl Long told a reporter after the legislative session, "I didn't want to walk around there in the legislature like Huey, but somebody had to explain things to them and put this program over."

Most Louisianians, even among those most bitterly opposed to him, agree that Earl is not "another Huey," strong governor though he is in his relations with the legislature and other state agencies and far as he has pushed the traditional Long program of high taxes and big spending.

There were no others in Huey Long's category. Revered as "genius" and "friend of the poor," deman," "political racketeer," he split Louisiana along a political line which is still the main issue in elections here.

Long left a hillside cotton farm in north Louisiana to become a traveling salesman at 16, crammed for the bar examination and became a brilliant lawyer. At 25 he broke into politics with his election as railroad commissioner. His only defeat came when he tried for the governorship at 30. But he made it four years later and then steadily consolidated his power.

He beat an attempt at impeachment, forged a completely loyal organization to carry out his wishes and was able to go to the senate before his gubernatorial term was up without relinquishing what was called in his obituary "the highest degree of state control ever recorded under America's Democratic form of government."

A big road program and constantly emphasized "public benefits," such as free textbooks for school children, were among his selling points. For methods, he had boldness, ruthlessness and a mastery of psychology. He could be ungrammatical in the backwoods, make a polished speech at a university convocation and, perhaps most useful of all, pin to his opponents comical nicknames that stuck.

One — the "Kingfish" — was pinned on him. He welcomed it and made it his trademark. "Share our wealth," the slogan he launched in Louisiana, became the name of a national movement. He wrote a book called "My First Days in The White House."

Political bitterness unmatched since reconstruction developed in Louisiana during Huey Long's days and some of it lingers still.

For months before his death the tension seemed increasing. The "square deal association" organized by anti-Long partisans gathered in Baton Rouge in January 1935 soon after a big tax program was voted and demanded a special session of the legislature. Sen. Long hurried back. Many of the square dealers were armed. The state guard and police were called out. Mass bloodshed was averted ,but one citizen was wounded.

Long personally conducted an inquiry into an alleged plot he said his enemies had formed to kill him. Guardsmen armed with machine guns, rifles and bayonets were on duty at the proceedings. Long claimed afterwards he had proved his contention.

But things seemed quiet enough in September that year when the legislature did meet in special session at th call of Gov. O. K. Allen, Long's close friend and lieutenant.

The house met late Sept. 8, not recessing until after 9 p.m. The galleries were still crowded at 9:23 when a report rang out, then a second, then a fusillade, in the corridor that links the governor's suite of offices with the two legislative chambers.

A woman screamed, "a machine gun!" A World War I veteran said it was "just like I heard in the Argonne."

The sounds were pistol shots. One bullet went completely through Long's body. The others were pumped by his bodyguards into the body of Dr. Carl Autin Weiss, a young eye, nose and throat specialist. Apparently he had stepped from behind a pillar to accost Long as the senator walked to the governor's office. Weiss was killed on the spot. Long staggered away and was taken to a nearby hospital.

There is still argument in Louisiana whether Long was killed by a bullet from Weiss' pistol, or by one intended for Weiss.

Writing for the Associated Press on the tenth anniversary of the shooting, C. P. Liter, now general manager of the Baton Rouge State - Times and Morning Advocate, who was in the capitol when the shots were fired, had this to say:

"If Dr. Weiss did shoot Long, what was the motive? The answers go like this: The legislature at that special session. . . was busy passing a bill to Gerrymander Weiss' father-in-law out of a judicial post. Then Long was said to have made some remarks offensive to Weiss that very morning.

"Then why, asked reporters, did the powers refuse to permit state police present at the shooting to testify at an inquest for nearly a week? And why did the state officials never mention an abrasion on Long's lip?

"When the questions were asked at the Weiss inquest—there was no inquest into Long's death—it was contended that Long could have been hit by a bodyguard. The father of Dr. Weiss has an affidavit from a nurse who attended Long at the hospital that Long himself said 'That is where he hit me,' not indicating whom he meant by 'he'.

"Skeptics of the assassination also ask why Weiss was shot after he had been floored in a scuffle with a state policeman."

No new information on the shooting has since become public.

Long was burned in the lush sunken garden in front of the skyscraper capitol he built as one of the monuments to his administration. A heroic-size bronze statue of the senator was erected over the grave and floodlighted.

During wartime brownout regulations the spotlight was removed, but when Earl Long was preparing for his inauguration after triumphant comeback in 1948, electricians got orders to put the light back in the capitol tower.

Huey Long's children gathered for a brief ceremony when it was turned on.

Now, for the thousands of Louisianians and hundreds of tourists who pass the capitol at night every week, an unwavering finger of light points out Louisiana's unforgettable man.

PROPOSES JAIL FOR COMMUNISTS

Senator Kilgore Thinks U. S. Reds Should Be Imprisoned For Safety

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Kilgore (D.-W. Va.) today proposed internment camps for Communists in time of national emergency and disclosed that a group of senators is studying the legal angles.

Kilgore advocates the idea as a substitute for a strongly-supported Communist registration plan to curb subversives. He said registration would have "no real effect" in an emergency.

If the internment plan is worked out, he said, it would be brought up in connection with Communist control legislation which the senate starts debating Tuesday.

Kilgore explained to reporters that under his proposal a national emergency—the prerequisite for rounding up Communists and interning them—would have to be declared both by the president and congress.

The Communist registration idea long urged on Capitol Hill as an effective way to handle the Reds, has been condemned by the administration as offering the danger of driving the Communist underground and making control more difficult.

The senate will take up a sweeping anti-subversion bill sponsored by Chairman McCarran (D.-Nev.) of the state judiciary committee. It goes far beyond proposals of President Truman.

McCarran blanketed five separate senate and house measures into a single catch-all bill aimed at tightening internal security against Communists, subversives and undesirable aliens.

The Communist-registration section is the heart of a separate measure sponsored by Senators Mundt (R.-S. D.), Ferguson (R.-Mich.) and Johnston (D.-S. C.) which McCarran put into his omnibus measure without change.

Under it Communist political organizations and Communist-front front organizations "defined on the basis of domination by a foreign government or the world Communist movement," would be required to register with the attorney general.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

COAL IS SCARED

Many products become obsolescent and others take their place. One might cook a steak over charcoal briquettes, but I can recall, as a boy, seeing charcoal in every grocery store. Up in the Berkshires, where I have a farm, charcoal burning used to be quite a business, but that industry has disappeared. The coal industry faces trouble because it is outpriced in relationship to its competitors.

This is the language of despair, spoken by John T. Jones, president of district 16 of the United Mine Workers:

"The thousands of American coal miners in my district who might be working if coal were producing the energy now being produced by cheap foreign fuel oil, think it far more important that they be working and producing than that American taxpayers' dollars be used to finance a great program of expansion in foreign oil production and refining facilities. They are well aware that those much-needed dollars that the proponents of this plan (point four) talk about go into the pockets of the six big oil-importing oil companies, five of which are American-owned. They also know that most of the dollars that remain in those foreign countries are paid to the ruling class in the form of royalties and very little of it trickles down to the working men and women of those countries. . ."

Now, actually, coal was outpriced by the United Mine Workers with the object of giving miners and their families a living wage and safer working conditions. Even if one accepts John L. Lewis's own interpretation of his motives and conduct, it will in no way affect the competition between coal and oil, and between coal and natural gas. Even if one accepts John L. Lewis's bitterness against the politicians as correct, his strike judgment was only correct on a short-term basis. He drove a nation away from his commodity.

In a free economic system, in which competing products appear within the price range abandoned by what was regarded as a primary product, obsolescence cannot be protected. I notice in the chain stores a new commodity of dishes, cutlery and table accessories, in many colors, not readily breakable, which is taking the place of paperware and breakable chinaware for picnics and similar outdoor activities. It is made of some kind of plastic and is serviceable. In a word, if one watches, new products, in durable goods or consumer's goods, push into the market in a free economy and replace what came before.

The Neo-Luddites would keep obsolescence in the market. They are, you may recall, named after those journeymen and apprentices in England who set out to destroy the first power-driven machinery. They did destroy some, but they could not destroy the concept of power-driven machinery any more than we can stop the march toward automatic machinery or atomic power.

True, each new development in production raises problems for some capitalists, management and workers, and a new means of production, such as the automat "thinking" system of machines, will create social problems of major magnitude. Professor Norbert Wiener of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who conceives these automatic monsters, is not the first person to be frightened by the consequences of his genius. He has blueprinted the social effects of these machines upon our society.

No one can, with certainty, even forecast the prospects for us that may come from atomic power. The difficulties now are mechanical, not social; the problem is to contain the power in practical vessels and the inference is that great ocean liners may be the first to use such power practically. But it is foreseeable that some day atomic power may do to oil and natural gas what these products have already done to coal.

Then we shall, in civilized societies, be faced by the social problems of organized life that requires few to labor in industry, producing ample supplies for what may be a permanent state of over-population. Such social problems are vexing, because they do not invite workable practical solutions. All the great minds from Hammurabi and Wang An-Shih to Karl Marx and Oscar Ewing have had pat solutions, which somehow do not satisfy the human craving for leisure and independence and productivity. Most of the human race is so constituted that men dislike being drones. The fingers itch to do.

SILVERSTEIN'S TO SHOW FURS

One Of The Largest Exhibits Ever Shown Here To Be Displayed

A $200,000 collection of the season's finest furs will be displayed Silverstein's, 342 DeSiard street, in Monroe Tuesday and Wednesday, September 5th and 6th.

Dave Silverstein, owner of Silverstein's women's apparel shop, related that under the face of a rising fur market, Herman Zacks, Silverstein's New York furrier, is coming to Monroe for a two day showing of the latest 1950 and 1951 styles in fur capes, coats, stoles, and scarves.

Zacks is well known in the twin cities and throughout northeast Louisaina, Silverstein said, and has during the past 15 years provided furs for many of Louisiana's smartest dressed women.

The New York furrier is associated with B. Ordover and sons of New York, who have been in the fur business for more than 60 years.

Silverstein pointed out that the August 30th issue of the Wall Street Journal carried an aricle on dock workers refusing to unload Russian furs which threatens to put a big kink in fur supplies.

In the view of the uncertainties confronting the fur market, Silverstein related that Zacks is bringing one of the largest and finest displays of furs here ever to be shown in the south.

Silverstein asserted that the furs to be shown in all styles, sizes and colors can be purchased at the two-day showing. He stressed the fact that selections will be taken from Zack's stock shown at Silverstein's. These furs are not only guaranteed by the fur manufacturers, Silverstein said, but also by our store, which has been in business here more than a quarter of a century.

Women desiring any price or kind of furs are cordially invited to see this costly display of furs which range in cost from $69.50 to $4,000.

The display will include capes and coats of Russian ermine, China mink, letout China mink, marmot, ranch mink, dyed muskrat, dyed Russian squirrel, mink dyed northern black muskrat.

Stoles and scarves will be featured in kolinsky, ranch mink, wild mink, baum marten, stone marten, Russian sable.

Silverstein pointed out that anyone wanting a fine coat and not wishing to make a trip to New York, Dallas or New Orleans can find any kind or price at his store Tuesday and Wednesday.

HODGE

Visitors of Mrs. J. B. Wilson during the Labor Day holidays and over the week end will be Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Wilson and son, Al, Mrs. P. Collins of Warren Arkansas. They will also be the guests of other relatives in Hodge and Jonesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Culpepper of Jonesboro and son Donnie were guests of relatives and friends in Lake Charles this week.

The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Hammonds of Jonesboro have as ther guest their daughter and family, Mr. and MRS. W. F. Coblentz and son Richard of Mt. Morris, Ill.

Friends regret that the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lowrey is a patient of the Hodge Clinic, suffering from an injury received when the rocking chair she was sitting in tipped over.

15 Years After Huey Died Long Power Returns To La.

By Edmond Le Breton

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Fifteen years ago a roar of pistol fire shook Louisiana's capitol and the nation and seemed to herald the end of a political dynasty.

Sen. Huey P. Long, "kingfish," of Louisiana and potential presidential candidate, was mortally wounded in the fusillade Sept. 8, 1935.

But 15 years later, while some Louisianians still argue who actually killed Huey Long, his family and faction have swung through a full political orbit and are firmly back in power.

When Long died, less than two days after he was shot, Louisiana was as numb as a patient with a major nerve to the brain severed. The man who had held the reins of every important state and local public activity suddenly was gone.

Within five years the once all-powerful political machine he had built seemed, to all appearances, smashed forever. Scandals that broke after the senator's death sent some of its leaders to the penitentiary. Others joined a vigorous reform movement that swept the state in the 1940 elections.

But in eight more years the voters had called the Longs back, giving two of th estate's highest offices to Huey's close relatives.

His eldest son, Russell, 31, whose physical resemblance to his father is striking, is the junior United States senator. He is about to begin a new turn, won with a more than two-to-one vote — a landslide for surpassing any previous ballot triumph of any member of the family.

Earl K. Long, Huey's younger brother, has been governor since 1948 after leading the faction during the years of political eclipse.

Louisianians' memories in this anniversary year were stirred by a rip-roaring fight over a proposal backed by Gov. Long for a constitutional convention enpowered to extend the governor's term.

The governor quarterbacked the measure through the legislature, dominating discussion in committee meetings and sitting in on the sessions that prepared the convention call.

Popular ratification of the call was set for the general elections, Nov. 7. However, Gov. Long ended the controversy by announcing Aug. 29 that he would call the legislature into another special session to repeal the convention act.

The governor also took over a meeting of the Democratic state central committee. He was made national committeeman, ousting his one-time campaign manager, W. H. Talbot, who had espoused the states rights democratic cause. Huey Long in his day, too, spoke for the state in the national party governing body.

Earl Long told a reporter after the legislative session, "I didn't want to walk around there in the legislature like Huey, but somebody had to explain things to them and put this program over."

Most Louisianians, even among those most bitterly opposed to him, agree that Earl is not "another Huey," strong governor though he is in his relations with the legislature and other state agencies and far as he has pushed the traditional Long program of high taxes and big spending.

There were no others in Huey Long's category. Revered as "genius" and "friend of the poor," deman," "political racketeer," he split Louisiana along a political line which is still the main issue in elections here.

Long left a hillside cotton farm in north Louisiana to become a traveling salesman at 16, crammed for the bar examination and became a brilliant lawyer. At 25 he broke into politics with his election as railroad commissioner. His only defeat came when he tried for the governorship at 30. But he made it four years later and then steadily consolidated his power.

He beat an attempt at impeachment, forged a completely loyal organization to carry out his wishes and was able to go to the senate before his gubernatorial term was up without relinquishing what was called in his obituary "the highest degree of state control ever recorded under America's Democratic form of government."

A big road program and constantly emphasized "public benefits," such as free textbooks for school children, were among his selling points. For methods, he had boldness, ruthlessness and a mastery of psychology. He could be ungrammatical in the backwoods, make a polished speech at a university convocation and, perhaps most useful of all, pin to his opponents comical nicknames that stuck.

One — the "Kingfish" — was pinned on him. He welcomed it and made it his trademark. "Share our wealth," the slogan he launched in Louisiana, became the name of a national movement. He wrote a book called "My First Days in The White House."

Political bitterness unmatched since reconstruction developed in Louisiana during Huey Long's days and some of it lingers still.

For months before his death the tension seemed increasing. The "square deal association" organized by anti-Long partisans gathered in Baton Rouge in January 1935 soon after a big tax program was voted and demanded a special session of the legislature. Sen. Long hurried back. Many of the square dealers were armed. The state guard and police were called out. Mass bloodshed was averted ,but one citizen was wounded.

Long personally conducted an inquiry into an alleged plot he said his enemies had formed to kill him. Guardsmen armed with machine guns, rifles and bayonets were on duty at the proceedings. Long claimed afterwards he had proved his contention.

But things seemed quiet enough in September that year when the legislature did meet in special session at th call of Gov. O. K. Allen, Long's close friend and lieutenant.

The house met late Sept. 8, not recessing until after 9 p.m. The galleries were still crowded at 9:23 when a report rang out, then a second, then a fusillade, in the corridor that links the governor's suite of offices with the two legislative chambers.

A woman screamed, "a machine gun!" A World War I veteran said it was "just like I heard in the Argonne."

The sounds were pistol shots. One bullet went completely through Long's body. The others were pumped by his bodyguards into the body of Dr. Carl Autin Weiss, a young eye, nose and throat specialist. Apparently he had stepped from behind a pillar to accost Long as the senator walked to the governor's office. Weiss was killed on the spot. Long staggered away and was taken to a nearby hospital.

There is still argument in Louisiana whether Long was killed by a bullet from Weiss' pistol, or by one intended for Weiss.

Writing for the Associated Press on the tenth anniversary of the shooting, C. P. Liter, now general manager of the Baton Rouge State - Times and Morning Advocate, who was in the capitol when the shots were fired, had this to say:

"If Dr. Weiss did shoot Long, what was the motive? The answers go like this: The legislature at that special session. . . was busy passing a bill to Gerrymander Weiss' father-in-law out of a judicial post. Then Long was said to have made some remarks offensive to Weiss that very morning.

"Then why, asked reporters, did the powers refuse to permit state police present at the shooting to testify at an inquest for nearly a week? And why did the state officials never mention an abrasion on Long's lip?

"When the questions were asked at the Weiss inquest—there was no inquest into Long's death—it was contended that Long could have been hit by a bodyguard. The father of Dr. Weiss has an affidavit from a nurse who attended Long at the hospital that Long himself said 'That is where he hit me,' not indicating whom he meant by 'he'.

"Skeptics of the assassination also ask why Weiss was shot after he had been floored in a scuffle with a state policeman."

No new information on the shooting has since become public.

Long was burned in the lush sunken garden in front of the skyscraper capitol he built as one of the monuments to his administration. A heroic-size bronze statue of the senator was erected over the grave and floodlighted.

During wartime brownout regulations the spotlight was removed, but when Earl Long was preparing for his inauguration after triumphant comeback in 1948, electricians got orders to put the light back in the capitol tower.

Huey Long's children gathered for a brief ceremony when it was turned on.

Now, for the thousands of Louisianians and hundreds of tourists who pass the capitol at night every week, an unwavering finger of light points out Louisiana's unforgettable man.

PROPOSES JAIL FOR COMMUNISTS

Senator Kilgore Thinks U. S. Reds Should Be Imprisoned For Safety

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Kilgore (D.-W. Va.) today proposed internment camps for Communists in time of national emergency and disclosed that a group of senators is studying the legal angles.

Kilgore advocates the idea as a substitute for a strongly-supported Communist registration plan to curb subversives. He said registration would have "no real effect" in an emergency.

If the internment plan is worked out, he said, it would be brought up in connection with Communist control legislation which the senate starts debating Tuesday.

Kilgore explained to reporters that under his proposal a national emergency—the prerequisite for rounding up Communists and interning them—would have to be declared both by the president and congress.

The Communist registration idea long urged on Capitol Hill as an effective way to handle the Reds, has been condemned by the administration as offering the danger of driving the Communist underground and making control more difficult.

The senate will take up a sweeping anti-subversion bill sponsored by Chairman McCarran (D.-Nev.) of the state judiciary committee. It goes far beyond proposals of President Truman.

McCarran blanketed five separate senate and house measures into a single catch-all bill aimed at tightening internal security against Communists, subversives and undesirable aliens.

The Communist-registration section is the heart of a separate measure sponsored by Senators Mundt (R.-S. D.), Ferguson (R.-Mich.) and Johnston (D.-S. C.) which McCarran put into his omnibus measure without change.

Under it Communist political organizations and Communist-front front organizations "defined on the basis of domination by a foreign government or the world Communist movement," would be required to register with the attorney general.

FRANCE TO EXTEND TRAINING PERIOD

Working To Make 20 Divisions Ready For Action In Short Time

Strasbourg, France, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The term of France's universal military service will be increased soon from 12 to 18 months, Premier Rene Pleven said today.

This will enable France to put together more quickly the 20 divisions she has agreed to establish as her part of western Europe's defense force. A corresponding increase in air strength also is proposed.

Pleven said that the building up of the 20 divisions will mean "inevitably a progressive increase in the length of military service." This seemed to mean that the service may be lengthened later to two years or more.

France has universal conscription at 21. The present system is to take half in April, and half in November. The callup has run to between 220,000 and 250,000 youths yearly.

Parliament is to approve the increase and vote funds for the additional expense when it returns from vacation Oct. 17. Only the Communists are expected to vote in opposition.

Pleven said outside help—or, dollars from America—will also be needed.

"We will ask aid without blushing," he said.

The premier announced the decision at a speech opening a fair.

Pleven said his government has firmly determined to rebuild France "as a military power."

"We face several years of austerity," he said.

Airliners Engine May Have Dropped In Flight

New York, Sept. 2. —(AP)— One engine of the four-motored trans world airlines plane which crashed and burned near Cairo Thursday apparently tore loose from the plane in flight, a T. W. A. spokesman said today.

Fifty-five persons including 23 Americans perished in the crash.

The spokesman said company offices here were informed that one of the engines had been spotted from the air about four miles from the site of the charred wreckage. This indicated, he said, that the motor pulled loose from the plane while in flight.

A search party, the T. W. A. said, had been delayed reaching the engine to inspect it because of soft sand in the area.

The constellation, Star of Maryland, was en route from Cairo to Rome when it crashed 65 miles northwest of Cairo. The plane was on a Bombay to New York flight.

Jackson, Lincoln Teachers To Join

Jonesboro, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—The teachers of Jackson parish will join in a pre-school conference to be held in Ruston September 4-6 according to a recent announcement by Dr. Mary Wilson, supervisor of schools in Lincoln parish.

September 4th., will have a meeting for both citizens and teachers. This is a new phase in the annual teachers' workshop. Dr. E. B. Roberts, dean of the school of education at L. S. U., and president of the Southern Association of Colleges, will speak on "How Parents and Teachers Can Work Together for Better Schools."

Theme of the 1950 conference will be "Working Together for Better Schools" and the chief problem of general and sectional meeting will be that of school evaluation in order to meet the requirements for approval of the accrediting association which Dr. Robert heads.

When the teachers of Lincoln parish met in December the planning committee decided to invite the teachers of Jackson parish to combine and plan with their group this year. As a result the proposed conference was planned jointly with the officials of both Lincoln and Jackson parish working jointly together formulating plans for supplementary reading phamplet material along this line, and reference work of all types, all has been worked out by librarians and supervisors of both Jackson and Lincoln parishes.

Giant guinea pigs, or capybaras, which weigh as much as 100 pounds, are said to be the largest rodents in existence.

Canada Will Move To Up Defense Efforts

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The government served notice today that it will ask parliament at the current special session to vote another $442,200,000 to meet Canada's growing defense program this year. This amount will be additional to the $425,000,000 defense budget already approved.

The government will also ask parliament to boost its power to undertake longterm defense commitments from $144,000,000 as approved in the last session, to $553,000,000.

This power to undertake additional spending in future years likely will cover a vast long-range defense equipment - purchasing program for the production of ships, aircraft and other weapons for Canada's forces and units of her North Atlantic partners.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe made known he will ask parliament for economic controls which will give him power to divert "essential" materials from civilian to defense production.

He will introduce legislation for powers to make certain that materials get to defense projects first and to "prevent economic disorder and hardship on a national scale."

It was learned that Howe plans to use the power only if necessary.

MEN IN ARMED FORCES

Pvt. Charles Lee Berry, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Berry, 704 North 4th St., Monroe, has completed his AF basic airmen indoctrination course at Lackland air force base, the gateway to the air force.

Lackland, situated near San Antonio, is the world's largest air force base, center of air force basis training, for airmen and women, indoctrination station for prior service reenlistees, and home of AF's officer candidate school.

His basic training has prepared him for entrance into air force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course included a scientific evaluation of his aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career.

FRANCE TO EXTEND TRAINING PERIOD

Working To Make 20 Divisions Ready For Action In Short Time

Strasbourg, France, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The term of France's universal military service will be increased soon from 12 to 18 months, Premier Rene Pleven said today.

This will enable France to put together more quickly the 20 divisions she has agreed to establish as her part of western Europe's defense force. A corresponding increase in air strength also is proposed.

Pleven said that the building up of the 20 divisions will mean "inevitably a progressive increase in the length of military service." This seemed to mean that the service may be lengthened later to two years or more.

France has universal conscription at 21. The present system is to take half in April, and half in November. The callup has run to between 220,000 and 250,000 youths yearly.

Parliament is to approve the increase and vote funds for the additional expense when it returns from vacation Oct. 17. Only the Communists are expected to vote in opposition.

Pleven said outside help—or, dollars from America—will also be needed.

"We will ask aid without blushing," he said.

The premier announced the decision at a speech opening a fair.

Pleven said his government has firmly determined to rebuild France "as a military power."

"We face several years of austerity," he said.

Airliners Engine May Have Dropped In Flight

New York, Sept. 2. —(AP)— One engine of the four-motored trans world airlines plane which crashed and burned near Cairo Thursday apparently tore loose from the plane in flight, a T. W. A. spokesman said today.

Fifty-five persons including 23 Americans perished in the crash.

The spokesman said company offices here were informed that one of the engines had been spotted from the air about four miles from the site of the charred wreckage. This indicated, he said, that the motor pulled loose from the plane while in flight.

A search party, the T. W. A. said, had been delayed reaching the engine to inspect it because of soft sand in the area.

The constellation, Star of Maryland, was en route from Cairo to Rome when it crashed 65 miles northwest of Cairo. The plane was on a Bombay to New York flight.

Jackson, Lincoln Teachers To Join

Jonesboro, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—The teachers of Jackson parish will join in a pre-school conference to be held in Ruston September 4-6 according to a recent announcement by Dr. Mary Wilson, supervisor of schools in Lincoln parish.

September 4th., will have a meeting for both citizens and teachers. This is a new phase in the annual teachers' workshop. Dr. E. B. Roberts, dean of the school of education at L. S. U., and president of the Southern Association of Colleges, will speak on "How Parents and Teachers Can Work Together for Better Schools."

Theme of the 1950 conference will be "Working Together for Better Schools" and the chief problem of general and sectional meeting will be that of school evaluation in order to meet the requirements for approval of the accrediting association which Dr. Robert heads.

When the teachers of Lincoln parish met in December the planning committee decided to invite the teachers of Jackson parish to combine and plan with their group this year. As a result the proposed conference was planned jointly with the officials of both Lincoln and Jackson parish working jointly together formulating plans for supplementary reading phamplet material along this line, and reference work of all types, all has been worked out by librarians and supervisors of both Jackson and Lincoln parishes.

Giant guinea pigs, or capybaras, which weigh as much as 100 pounds, are said to be the largest rodents in existence.

Canada Will Move To Up Defense Efforts

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The government served notice today that it will ask parliament at the current special session to vote another $442,200,000 to meet Canada's growing defense program this year. This amount will be additional to the $425,000,000 defense budget already approved.

The government will also ask parliament to boost its power to undertake longterm defense commitments from $144,000,000 as approved in the last session, to $553,000,000.

This power to undertake additional spending in future years likely will cover a vast long-range defense equipment - purchasing program for the production of ships, aircraft and other weapons for Canada's forces and units of her North Atlantic partners.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe made known he will ask parliament for economic controls which will give him power to divert "essential" materials from civilian to defense production.

He will introduce legislation for powers to make certain that materials get to defense projects first and to "prevent economic disorder and hardship on a national scale."

It was learned that Howe plans to use the power only if necessary.

MEN IN ARMED FORCES

Pvt. Charles Lee Berry, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Berry, 704 North 4th St., Monroe, has completed his AF basic airmen indoctrination course at Lackland air force base, the gateway to the air force.

Lackland, situated near San Antonio, is the world's largest air force base, center of air force basis training, for airmen and women, indoctrination station for prior service reenlistees, and home of AF's officer candidate school.

His basic training has prepared him for entrance into air force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course included a scientific evaluation of his aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career.

Report to the People of Monroe

Shortly after entering office, we adopted a policy of advising the people of Monroe of the status of the various projects undertaken by your Council and the progress made thereon.

Pursuant to said policy, we are pleased to advise that there is now installed a new 100,000 lb/hr. boiler in your light plant and a new 7500 KW Turbine generator. This unit is in operation at the present time and your City has, for the first time in many years, an adequate source of power. There were times during the erection, due to delays and other obstacles, it seemed doubtful that this unit would be completed in time. We wish to express our thanks to our engineers, Ford, Bacon & Davis, and to the many employees that assisted in this work. You have done a fine job for our people and we know all are duly appreciative.

We further beg to report that the other 7500 KW generator is on the ground and that we ordered out ahead of time, due to the Korean war, the other 100,000 lb. boiler and it is now practically delivered and on the ground. Mr. W. C. Salley is engaged in tearing out one of the old boilers and has the contract for building the foundation for the new boiler, which we hope to have completed and in service by next summer, at which time your plant will have a capacity without overload of 27,000 KW. When this work started, your capacity with all the overload that your plant would stand was 13,400 KW. During the recent hot spell, we handled a peak load of 13,600 KW with the greatest of ease. What your City now needs is more electrical users and we are happy to report to you that your plant is in such condition.

We are starting work on the water filter plant and will push it to conclusion as fast as possible.

We list herewith a description of the various contracts the name of the contractor, contract price and the status of said contract. We earnestly urge all to acquaint themselves therewith.

Contract No. 2 - Turbine Generators - Let to Westinghouse Electric for $500,000.00. Remarks: 2 - 7500 KW Turbine Generators, both of which have been delivered. Installation is being handled under Contract No. 10. One turbine has been installed and is in operation.

Contract No. 3 - Condensers - Let to Westinghouse Electric for $102,810.00. Remarks: 2 - 10,000 sq. ft. condensers & auxiliaries, both of which have been delivered. Installation is being handled under Contract 10. One unit with its auxiliaries has been installed and is now in operation.

Contract No. 4 - Electrical Apparatus - Let to General Electric for $87,435.00. Remarks: Delivery on this equipment is 99 per cent. complete. Installation is being done under Contract 10 and is approximately 70 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 5 - Boiler Foundations - Let to W. C. Salley, Contractor, for $35,945.00. Remarks: The first boiler foundation has been completed and work has been started dismantling the old boiler in perparation for construction of the second boiler foundation.

Contract No. 6 - Underground Network - Let to Foley Electric Company for $148,000.00. Remarks: Work on this contract is approximately 50 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 7 - Network Transformers - Let to Westinghouse Electric for $25,136.00. Remarks: Network transformers & protectors for the electrical system. All materials under this contract have been received but not installed.

Contract No. 8 - Boiler Feed Pumps - Let to Weaks Supply Company for $13,738.00. Remarks: 2 - motor-driven boiler feed pumps, 1 - turbine-driven boiler feed pump have been delivered. Installation is being handled under Contract 10.

Contract No. 9 - Feedwater Heaters & Evaporators - Let to Graham Manufacturing Company for $24,966.00. Remarks: 2 - Low pressure heaters; 2 - DeAerating Heaters & 2 - Evaporators. Installation is being handled under Contract 10. One low pressure heater has been installed and is in operation. Both De-Aerating heaters have been installed, one of which is in operation and both evaporators have been installed, one of which is in operation.

Contract No. 10 - General Construction - Let to Thomas Bryan & Associates for $555,000.00. Remarks: Work on this contract is approximately 70 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 11 - Cooling Tower - Let to J. F. Pritchard for $73,478.00. Remarks: The cooling tower has been received, erected and is in operation at this time at 50 per cent. Capacity.

Contract No. 12 - Turbine Oil Purification System - Let to Bowser, Inc. for $3,493.00. Remarks: All material under this contract has been received. None of it, however, has been installed.

Contract No. 13 - Controls & Instruments - Let to Republic Flow Meters Company for $25,578.00. Remarks: Delivery of materials under this contract is 95 per cent. complete. Installation is being handled under Contract 10. 45 per cent. of the equipment has been installed.

Contract No. 15 - Warehouse - Let to Frank Masling & Son for $89,617.00. Remarks: Work on this contract is 45 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 28 - Pumping Equipment - Let to The Ingersoll Company for $6,932.00; Contract No. 28-B - Pumping Equipment - Let to A. O. Smith Corporation for $16,433.50. Remarks: All materials have been delivered.

Contract No. 29 - Pipe & Fittings (Water Works) - Let to U. S. Pipe & Foundry Company for $201,289.00. Remarks: Delivery of materials on this contract is 95 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 30 - Gate Valves & Hydrants (Water Works) - Let to W. J. Riley Supply Company for $27,-133.00. Remarks: Delivery on this contract is 93 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 31 - Distribution System (Water) - Let to Blythe Brothers Company for $78,466.50. Remarks: Work on this contract is approxiamtely 95 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 32 - Distribution System (Water) - Let to Blythe Brothers Company for $58,030.60. Remarks: Work on this contract is approximately 95 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 33 - Filter Plant - Let to Barnet Brezner for $98,767.00. Remarks: The Contractor has been collecting materials and started active construction August 7th.

We direct your attention to Contract No. 26 for the water storage tank, which will increase the pressure to to southern part of our City. New water distribution lines have been laid to all parts of the City and we hope to have this work completed within a short time.

In addition to the contracts mentioned above, much additional work has been done by your City employees with funds from your Bond Issue and as called for by the report and recommendations of our engineers, Ford, Bacon & Davis.

We have constructed the No. 3 Transmission Line, which is a 13,200 volt line built from the Power plant down North 10th Street to Forsythe Avenue, up Forsythe Avenue to North 18th Street, out North 18th Street to DeSirad Street, West on DeSiard Street to Manassas Street, South on Manassas Street to 10th Street. This feeder consists of fifty foot creosote poles and No. 4/0 wire and replaces a line built with forty foot poles and No. 2/0 wire.

We have also completed No. 4 Transmission Line, which is similar to No. 3 in size and construction and is built from the Power Plant down the Ouachita River levee, where it intersects with Grammont Street. This line feeds Sub-station No. 1, which is in rear of the Old Post Office and Sub-station No. 11 on Breard and Walnut Streets, and was built to relieve the overload that Feeder No. 2 was carrying.

Feeder No. 6 is in the process of being built and is about fifty per cent. completed. It will parallel No. 4 except after reaching Grammont Street, it will continue on south to the intersection of Thomas and Jackson Streets and will feed the new Sub-station at Texas and South Fourth Streets. It will relieve Feeder No. 3 of Sub-station at Nichols and Dick Taylor Streets.

We have erected a 1500 KVA Unit Sub-station at Breard and Walnut Streets to relieve overloaded Sub-stations in rear of Old Post Office and Arkansas and Eighth Streets.

We are engaged and have about 75 per cent. completed a Sub-station at South Fourth and Texas Avenue. This is a 1500 KVA Unit Sub-Station and will take care of the area from Orange Street to Calypso Street.

In describing a Unit Type Sub-station, it is a station that has an automatic circuit breaker, repeater type volt meters and amp meters, and is the most modern design and should give the best service possible.

We have erected Automatic Capacitors in every substation in the City, both Old and New, so as to keep the power factor at sufficient heighth. In doing this, our customers will receive much better service than they have ever received from their plant.

We are about 50 per cent. complete in installing two circuits of up-to-date street lighting, which lights can be switched off in day time. These circuits are now being installed in the Sherrouse and Cole Additions. This will give these areas adequate street lighting for the first time. Circuits of this kind will be installed in the remainder of the City as fast as possible and the old day burning lights will be eliminated.

In addition to the above work, which is being done from the bond funds of your City, we have performed from the general fund of the City of Monroe the following:

We have built 68,680 feet of new extension electrical lines, consisting of 458 poles. We have changed out or rearranged 126 poles and we have installed 151 additional transformers.

We have run new services and meters and installed the following:

332 three wire services
637 two wire services
21 three wire three phase services
11 sanding machine services
12 services consisting of transformer construction, making a total of 1,013 new electrical services; and,

in addition, have changed 303 old services into new services.

There is much work still to be done. Our Engineers have recommended a No. 5 Feeder from the Power Plant to Washington and Fifth Streets for the underground work in the business part of the City.

We will need a new 1500 KVA Sub-station on Mississippi Street.

We will need a new 2200 volt tie-in between the Louisville Sub-station and Ninth Street Sub-station, and, of course, we need new light circuits over practically our entire City.

At the request of the City School Board, your Council had prepared, and held an election, and voted two and one-half million dollars in school bonds. These bonds were sold today and the average interest rate is 2.5279 per cent. Contracts should shortly be let to supply these much needed facilities.

Since taking office, we have constructed for Monroe a modern up-to-date airport that is now in operation at a cost of $118,118.87. We have put up from the General Fund of the City of Monroe $23,312.81 for this purpose and the remainder has been secured from federal funds. Monroe can well be proud of its modern, up-to-date airport.

We further wish to report that contract has been let on practically a one million dollar Federal Housing Project, constructing 126 units; 76 Negro and 50 white. All of this had to be approved and was expedited by your Council. Construction is now under way.

We further beg to advise that we have assisted the Public Health Board of the City of Monroe by increasing the contribution to that body.

We regret very much the inconvience that has been occasioned by the tearing up of the streets in the downtown area. These streets are torn up for the purpose of receiving electrical lines in this area and for the purpose of installing street lights. The contractor should not have opened up as many trenches as he did, but he did have hard luck in catching a rainy spell that has caused much of the inconvenience. We have contacted him and no more streets will be opened until he has completed his work in those now open. We hope that we have not unduly penalized any of our citizens and wish to assure all that in a program as comprehensive as the one now being undertaken we will try to hold inconvenience to a minimum and ask your tolerance for any mistakes that we might make. We all want a bigger and better Monroe and to that end our undivided time and energy shall be devoted.

With reference to sewerage, the following districts have been oragnized:

District "A" — Pargoud, Marie Place, West Parkview Addition, Garnier Park Avenue Development Company.
District "B" — Highland Park, South of Loop Road.
District "C" — Junior College
District "D" — Old Country Club.
District "F" — South Grand and Carlton.

These districts will let their own contracts for the lateral lines connecting them on to the main trunklines of our City. Since the last report, you Citizens have authorized us to extend the new trunklines. We beg to report that contracts have been let and the contractors are now engaged in building these trunklines. As fast as sewerage districts can be formed and plans completed, the contracts for the lateral lines will be let by each district and work started connecting on to the trunklines of the sewer system. We wish to assure all we will push this program just as rapidly as possible.

In our street department, we have widened North Third Street from Washington to Louisville Avenue. We have widened the intersection at Breard Street and North Fourth Street so as to relieve the traffic there. We have opened up and graveled 125 blocks of new streets. We have opened up and graveled 25 blocks of alleys. We have installed 1297 driveway culverts, 175 street intersection culverts. We are now engaged in widening South Second Street at Winnsboro Road to relieve another very dangerous intersection and will make it intersect with Wilson Street, which is the street that leads to Bernstein Park. In 1948, we blacktopped 8,648 feet of streets, in 1949, we blacktopped 39,396 feet of streets, and in 1950 to date, 9,532 feet of streets.

In your sewerage department, we have provided 632 sewer taps and in making these services, used 9, 480 feet of six inch pipe. In addition to the above, we have extended existing sewer lines and used the following:

24 feet of four inch pipe
120 feet of ten inch pipe
3,890 feet of eight inch pipe
21,302 feet of six inch pipe

We have constructed five manholes. There is much needed work to be done in this department, particularly due to the fact that the City has not built as many manholes in prior years as it should have; lack of funds being the reason therefor. We hope to correct this as time goes on. It is our estimate that we need at the present time seventy-five additional manholes. This is for the old City. Sewers for the new City are being constructed with adequate number of manholes.

Since taking office we have installed 1,141 water taps; we have laid 5,813 feet of 1 1/4 inch galvanized pipe; 11,439 feet of 1 1/2 inch galvanized pipe; 39,134 feet of two inch galvanized pipe; 737 feet of 2 1/2 inch galvanized pipe; 680 feet of 3 inch galvanized pipe; 9,424 feet of 6 inch cast iron pipe; and 4,199 feet of 8 inch cast iron pipe. This was necessary to render improved service to our citizens and replace smaller lines. We have installed sixteen fire hydrants. The above does not include 1 inch and 3/4 inch galvanized pipe used to connect the meters with the mainline pipe, but should give our citizens an idea of the activity of your City Government.

We have not attempted to give a detailed list of the cost of each of the items in this report to you, but the same can be obtained by any interested party from our City Treasurer, Mr. P. A. Poag. The above is an addition to the pipe that is now being laid by Blythe Bros. and reported on under Contract Heading above.

In addition to the above, we have done much work at Baton Rouge at both the Special Session and the Regular Session of our Legislature in protecting our citizen's rights. We have assisted in securing a City Homestead Exemption covering school taxes paid by our people, for our people, which will save you abuot $100,000.00 per year on your tax roll. We have secured for Monroe a four year college, which should result in a considerable saving to those of our people that cannot afford to send their children away to college.

When we entered office, the Interstate Carriers in Monroe were prohibited by the U. S. Public Health Service from using our water due to back siphonage and unsafe plumbing. We have employed a competent inspector, who works with our plumbing inspector, and he, for the last several months, has been busily engaged in correcting all cross-connections within our City and will be permanently employed in that capacity. He has worked well with our local Board of Health and State Board of Health and we are pleased to announce that our City water is now acceptable to the Louisiana State Board of Health and they have recommended it to the United States Public Health Service for provisional certification, and as a general rule, this certification follows as a matter of form. As soon as the carriers comply with a few health requirements of our State Board of Health, this stigma against Monroe's water will be romoved. We wish to thank the State Board of Health for the very valuable assistance given to us in this regard. They have been most cooperative.

We propose, as soon as possible, to set up in both the light and water departments, a meter checking department which will provide accurate meters for all users of our public utilities. These meters have not been checked since they were installed—some over twenty-five years ago. This program is going to take time, just as our cross-connection program has taken time, but we wish to assure our citizens that it is in our opinion essential that it be done and that work will go forward along this line as rapidly as possible. Twenty-five years work cannot be accomplished in four.

At the present time, The National Board of Fire Underwriters advises that Monroe is subject to an increase in fire rates. We have employed the firm of Ford, Bacon & Davis to work out a program for the City by which we can lower the fire rates. The National Board of Fire Underwriters is working in conjunction with our Engineers and as soon as their report is available we will submit to the people a plan that will give you the lowest possible fire insurance rate. We are sure this program will call for more fire stations, more fire equipment, and more firemen. It will also call for more fire hydrants and more water pipes. We are having the new water mains designed with this program in mind. As soon as facts and figures can be assembled, we will advise you the status of your fire insurance rate, together with our Engineer's recommendations as to what we can and should do about the same.

We assure you further that we welcome each and every one of you to our office to discuss the various problems that are presented. We further assure you that we appreciate and solicit your constructive criticism and suggestions and it is our desire to remedy, if possible, any deficiencies in any part of our City. We will do this as rapidly as possible. It is a big job and we need the help of all of our people.

Respectfully,

John E. Coon

Report to the People of Monroe

Shortly after entering office, we adopted a policy of advising the people of Monroe of the status of the various projects undertaken by your Council and the progress made thereon.

Pursuant to said policy, we are pleased to advise that there is now installed a new 100,000 lb/hr. boiler in your light plant and a new 7500 KW Turbine generator. This unit is in operation at the present time and your City has, for the first time in many years, an adequate source of power. There were times during the erection, due to delays and other obstacles, it seemed doubtful that this unit would be completed in time. We wish to express our thanks to our engineers, Ford, Bacon & Davis, and to the many employees that assisted in this work. You have done a fine job for our people and we know all are duly appreciative.

We further beg to report that the other 7500 KW generator is on the ground and that we ordered out ahead of time, due to the Korean war, the other 100,000 lb. boiler and it is now practically delivered and on the ground. Mr. W. C. Salley is engaged in tearing out one of the old boilers and has the contract for building the foundation for the new boiler, which we hope to have completed and in service by next summer, at which time your plant will have a capacity without overload of 27,000 KW. When this work started, your capacity with all the overload that your plant would stand was 13,400 KW. During the recent hot spell, we handled a peak load of 13,600 KW with the greatest of ease. What your City now needs is more electrical users and we are happy to report to you that your plant is in such condition.

We are starting work on the water filter plant and will push it to conclusion as fast as possible.

We list herewith a description of the various contracts the name of the contractor, contract price and the status of said contract. We earnestly urge all to acquaint themselves therewith.

Contract No. 1 - Boilers - Let to Erie City Iron Works for $263,440.00. Remarks: 2 - 100,000 lb/hr. continuously rated units, one of which is now erected and in operation. Shipment has started on the second unit.

Contract No. 2 - Turbine Generators - Let to Westinghouse Electric for $500,000.00. Remarks: 2 - 7500 KW Turbine Generators, both of which have been delivered. Installation is being handled under Contract No. 10. One turbine has been installed and is in operation.

Contract No. 3 - Condensers - Let to Westinghouse Electric for $102,810.00. Remarks: 2 - 10,000 sq. ft. condensers & auxiliaries, both of which have been delivered. Installation is being handled under Contract 10. One unit with its auxiliaries has been installed and is now in operation.

Contract No. 4 - Electrical Apparatus - Let to General Electric for $87,435.00. Remarks: Delivery on this equipment is 99 per cent. complete. Installation is being done under Contract 10 and is approximately 70 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 5 - Boiler Foundations - Let to W. C. Salley, Contractor, for $35,945.00. Remarks: The first boiler foundation has been completed and work has been started dismantling the old boiler in perparation for construction of the second boiler foundation.

Contract No. 6 - Underground Network - Let to Foley Electric Company for $148,000.00. Remarks: Work on this contract is approximately 50 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 7 - Network Transformers - Let to Westinghouse Electric for $25,136.00. Remarks: Network transformers & protectors for the electrical system. All materials under this contract have been received but not installed.

Contract No. 8 - Boiler Feed Pumps - Let to Weaks Supply Company for $13,738.00. Remarks: 2 - motor-driven boiler feed pumps, 1 - turbine-driven boiler feed pump have been delivered. Installation is being handled under Contract 10.

Contract No. 9 - Feedwater Heaters & Evaporators - Let to Graham Manufacturing Company for $24,966.00. Remarks: 2 - Low pressure heaters; 2 - DeAerating Heaters & 2 - Evaporators. Installation is being handled under Contract 10. One low pressure heater has been installed and is in operation. Both De-Aerating heaters have been installed, one of which is in operation and both evaporators have been installed, one of which is in operation.

Contract No. 10 - General Construction - Let to Thomas Bryan & Associates for $555,000.00. Remarks: Work on this contract is approximately 70 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 11 - Cooling Tower - Let to J. F. Pritchard for $73,478.00. Remarks: The cooling tower has been received, erected and is in operation at this time at 50 per cent. Capacity.

Contract No. 12 - Turbine Oil Purification System - Let to Bowser, Inc. for $3,493.00. Remarks: All material under this contract has been received. None of it, however, has been installed.

Contract No. 13 - Controls & Instruments - Let to Republic Flow Meters Company for $25,578.00. Remarks: Delivery of materials under this contract is 95 per cent. complete. Installation is being handled under Contract 10. 45 per cent. of the equipment has been installed.

Contract No. 28 - Pumping Equipment - Let to The Ingersoll Company for $6,932.00; Contract No. 28-B - Pumping Equipment - Let to A. O. Smith Corporation for $16,433.50. Remarks: All materials have been delivered.

Contract No. 29 - Pipe & Fittings (Water Works) - Let to U. S. Pipe & Foundry Company for $201,289.00. Remarks: Delivery of materials on this contract is 95 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 31 - Distribution System (Water) - Let to Blythe Brothers Company for $78,466.50. Remarks: Work on this contract is approxiamtely 95 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 32 - Distribution System (Water) - Let to Blythe Brothers Company for $58,030.60. Remarks: Work on this contract is approximately 95 per cent. complete.

Contract No. 33 - Filter Plant - Let to Barnet Brezner for $98,767.00. Remarks: The Contractor has been collecting materials and started active construction August 7th.

We direct your attention to Contract No. 26 for the water storage tank, which will increase the pressure to to southern part of our City. New water distribution lines have been laid to all parts of the City and we hope to have this work completed within a short time.

In addition to the contracts mentioned above, much additional work has been done by your City employees with funds from your Bond Issue and as called for by the report and recommendations of our engineers, Ford, Bacon & Davis.

We have constructed the No. 3 Transmission Line, which is a 13,200 volt line built from the Power plant down North 10th Street to Forsythe Avenue, up Forsythe Avenue to North 18th Street, out North 18th Street to DeSirad Street, West on DeSiard Street to Manassas Street, South on Manassas Street to 10th Street. This feeder consists of fifty foot creosote poles and No. 4/0 wire and replaces a line built with forty foot poles and No. 2/0 wire.

We have also completed No. 4 Transmission Line, which is similar to No. 3 in size and construction and is built from the Power Plant down the Ouachita River levee, where it intersects with Grammont Street. This line feeds Sub-station No. 1, which is in rear of the Old Post Office and Sub-station No. 11 on Breard and Walnut Streets, and was built to relieve the overload that Feeder No. 2 was carrying.

Feeder No. 6 is in the process of being built and is about fifty per cent. completed. It will parallel No. 4 except after reaching Grammont Street, it will continue on south to the intersection of Thomas and Jackson Streets and will feed the new Sub-station at Texas and South Fourth Streets. It will relieve Feeder No. 3 of Sub-station at Nichols and Dick Taylor Streets.

We have erected a 1500 KVA Unit Sub-station at Breard and Walnut Streets to relieve overloaded Sub-stations in rear of Old Post Office and Arkansas and Eighth Streets.

We are engaged and have about 75 per cent. completed a Sub-station at South Fourth and Texas Avenue. This is a 1500 KVA Unit Sub-Station and will take care of the area from Orange Street to Calypso Street.

In describing a Unit Type Sub-station, it is a station that has an automatic circuit breaker, repeater type volt meters and amp meters, and is the most modern design and should give the best service possible.

We have erected Automatic Capacitors in every sub-station in the City, both Old and New, so as to keep the power factor at sufficient heighth. In doing this, our customers will receive much better service than they have ever received from their plant.

We are about 50 per cent. complete in installing two circuits of up-to-date street lighting, which lights can be switched off in day time. These circuits are now being installed in the Sherrouse and Cole Additions. This will give these areas adequate street lighting for the first time. Circuits of this kind will be installed in the remainder of the City as fast as possible and the old day burning lights will be eliminated.

In addition to the above work, which is being done from the bond funds of your City, we have performed from the general fund of the City of Monroe the following:

We have built 68,680 feet of new extension electrical lines, consisting of 458 poles. We have changed out or rearranged 126 poles and we have installed 151 additional transformers.

We have run new services and meters and installed the following:

332 three wire services
637 two wire services
21 three wire three phase services
11 sanding machine services
12 services consisting of transformer construction, making a total of 1,013 new electrical services; and,

in addition, have changed 303 old services into new services.

There is much work still to be done. Our Engineers have recommended a No. 5 Feeder from the Power Plant to Washington and Fifth Streets for the underground work in the business part of the City.

We will need a new 1500 KVA Sub-station on Mississippi Street.

We will need a new 2200 volt tie-in between the Louisville Sub-station and Ninth Street Sub-station, and, of course, we need new light circuits over practically our entire City.

At the request of the City School Board, your Council had prepared, and held an election, and voted two and one-half million dollars in school bonds. These bonds were sold today and the average interest rate is 2.5279 per cent. Contracts should shortly be let to supply these much needed facilities.

Since taking office, we have constructed for Monroe a modern up-to-date airport that is now in operation at a cost of $118,118.87. We have put up from the General Fund of the City of Monroe $23,312.81 for this purpose and the remainder has been secured from federal funds. Monroe can well be proud of its modern, up-to-date airport.

We further wish to report that contract has been let on practically a one million dollar Federal Housing Project, constructing 126 units; 76 Negro and 50 white. All of this had to be approved and was expedited by your Council. Construction is now under way.

We further beg to advise that we have assisted the Public Health Board of the City of Monroe by increasing the contribution to that body.

We regret very much the inconvience that has been occasioned by the tearing up of the streets in the downtown area. These streets are torn up for the purpose of receiving electrical lines in this area and for the purpose of installing street lights. The contractor should not have opened up as many trenches as he did, but he did have hard luck in catching a rainy spell that has caused much of the inconvenience. We have contacted him and no more streets will be opened until he has completed his work in those now open. We hope that we have not unduly penalized any of our citizens and wish to assure all that in a program as comprehensive as the one now being undertaken we will try to hold inconvenience to a minimum and ask your tolerance for any mistakes that we might make. We all want a bigger and better Monroe and to that end our undivided time and energy shall be devoted.

With reference to sewerage, the following districts have been oragnized:

District "A" — Pargoud, Marie Place, West Parkview Addition, Garnier Park Avenue Development Company.
District "B" — Highland Park, South of Loop Road.
District "C" — Junior College
District "D" — Old Country Club.
District "F" — South Grand and Carlton.

These districts will let their own contracts for the lateral lines connecting them on to the main trunklines of our City. Since the last report, you Citizens have authorized us to extend the new trunklines. We beg to report that contracts have been let and the contractors are now engaged in building these trunklines. As fast as sewerage districts can be formed and plans completed, the contracts for the lateral lines will be let by each district and work started connecting on to the trunklines of the sewer system. We wish to assure all we will push this program just as rapidly as possible.

In our street department, we have widened North Third Street from Washington to Louisville Avenue. We have widened the intersection at Breard Street and North Fourth Street so as to relieve the traffic there. We have opened up and graveled 125 blocks of new streets. We have opened up and graveled 25 blocks of alleys. We have installed 1297 driveway culverts, 175 street intersection culverts. We are now engaged in widening South Second Street at Winnsboro Road to relieve another very dangerous intersection and will make it intersect with Wilson Street, which is the street that leads to Bernstein Park. In 1948, we blacktopped 8,648 feet of streets, in 1949, we blacktopped 39,396 feet of streets, and in 1950 to date, 9,532 feet of streets.

In your sewerage department, we have provided 632 sewer taps and in making these services, used 9, 480 feet of six inch pipe. In addition to the above, we have extended existing sewer lines and used the following:

24 feet of four inch pipe
120 feet of ten inch pipe
3,890 feet of eight inch pipe
21,302 feet of six inch pipe

We have constructed five manholes. There is much needed work to be done in this department, particularly due to the fact that the City has not built as many manholes in prior years as it should have; lack of funds being the reason therefor. We hope to correct this as time goes on. It is our estimate that we need at the present time seventy-five additional manholes. This is for the old City. Sewers for the new City are being constructed with adequate number of manholes.

Since taking office we have installed 1,141 water taps; we have laid 5,813 feet of 1 1/4 inch galvanized pipe; 11,439 feet of 1 1/2 inch galvanized pipe; 39,134 feet of two inch galvanized pipe; 737 feet of 2 1/2 inch galvanized pipe; 680 feet of 3 inch galvanized pipe; 9,424 feet of 6 inch cast iron pipe; and 4,199 feet of 8 inch cast iron pipe. This was necessary to render improved service to our citizens and replace smaller lines. We have installed sixteen fire hydrants. The above does not include 1 inch and 3/4 inch galvanized pipe used to connect the meters with the mainline pipe, but should give our citizens an idea of the activity of your City Government.

We have not attempted to give a detailed list of the cost of each of the items in this report to you, but the same can be obtained by any interested party from our City Treasurer, Mr. P. A. Poag. The above is all addition to the pipe that is now being laid by Blythe Bros. and reported on under Contract Heading above.

In addition to the above, we have done much work at Baton Rouge at both the Special Session and the Regular Session of our Legislature in protecting our citizen's rights. We have assisted in securing a City Homestead Exemption covering school taxes paid by our people, for our people, which will save you abuot $100,000.00 per year on your tax roll. We have secured for Monroe a four year college, which should result in a considerable saving to those of our people that cannot afford to send their children away to college.

When we entered office, the Interstate Carriers in Monroe were prohibited by the U. S. Public Health Service from using our water due to back siphonage and unsafe plumbing. We have employed a competent inspector, who works with our plumbing inspector, and he, for the last several months, has been busily engaged in correcting all cross-connections within our City and will be permanently employed in that capacity. He has worked well with our local Board of Health and State Board of Health and we are pleased to announce that our City water is now acceptable to the Louisiana State Board of Health and they have recommended it to the United States Public Health Service for provisional certification, and as a general rule, this certification follows as a matter of form. As soon as the carriers comply with a few health requirements of our State Board of Health, this stigma against Monroe's water will be removed. We wish to thank the State Board of Health for the very valuable assistance given to us in this regard. They have been most cooperative.

We propose, as soon as possible, to set up in both the light and water departments, a meter checking department which will provide accurate meters for all users of our public utilities. These meters have not been checked since they were installed—some over twenty-five years ago. This program is going to take time, just as our cross-connection program has taken time, but we wish to assure our citizens that it is in our opinion essential that it be done and that work will go forward along this line as rapidly as possible. Twenty-five years work cannot be accomplished in four.

At the present time, The National Board of Fire Underwriters advises that Monroe is subject to an increase in fire rates. We have employed the firm of Ford, Bacon & Davis to work out a program for the City by which we can lower the fire rates. The National Board of Fire Underwriters is working in conjunction with our Engineers and as soon as their report is available we will submit to the people a plan that will give you the lowest possible fire insurance rate. We are sure this program will call for more fire stations, more fire equipment, and more firemen. It will also call for more fire hydrants and more water pipes. We are having the new water mains designed with this program in mind. As soon as facts and figures can be assembled, we will advise you the status of your fire insurance rate, together with our Engineer's recommendations as to what we can and should do about the same.

We assure you further that we welcome each and every one of you to our office to discuss the various problems that are presented. We further assure you that we appreciate and solicit your constructive criticism and suggestions and it is our desire to remedy, if possible, any deficiencies in any part of our City. We will do this as rapidly as possible. It is a big job and we need the help of all of our people.

Respectfully,

John E. Coon

LURK HURLS MONROE PAST EL DORADO, 2-1

OILERS LIMITED TO FOUR HITS AS SPORTS GET NINE

Moon's Single Behind Cline Double Wins Game; Play Again Today

Ronald "Turkey" Lurk, who boasts the best earned-run average of any pitcher in the Cotton States League, put down the El Dorado Oilers on four hits last light as the Monroe Sports squeezed by the cellar-dwellers, 2 to 1, in the opener of a two-game series at Legion Memorial Stadium here. The two clubs end their season's rivalry in a game here this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The lone run off Lurk last night was unearned, coming in the first inning as the result of a base on balls to Bob LaBeff, a single by Glenn Winslett and an error.

But the Sports managed to tie up the score in the third inning, and then fashioned the winning run in the fourth when Wayne Moon singled home Charlie Cline who had doubled.

Roy Schalk, the clowning El Dorado manager, toiled on the mound for the visitors, but he made pitching look easy with his deliberate, unhurried, and tricky deliveries. The Sports tagged him for nine hits that were fairly well scattered. He walked only one against two free passes issued by Lurk. However, the Monroe chunker, pitching his ninth win against as many losses, struck out eight while Schalk was able to whiff only one.

The game was delayed about 15 minutes in starting becaus e of rain. The shower started 15 mintues before game time, just as Earl E. Times, the mighty midget, began his brief exhibition of strength. Times permitted four ball players to see-saw on a board placed across his stomach while his head and heels rested on chairs. Then he permitted two players to pick him up, but when he invited them to try again he made himself "heavy" and the players strained and tugged trying to get him off the ground.

An unearned run gave the Oilers the lead in the first inning. Bob LaBeff worked Lurk for a free pass to first. Glen Winslett punched a single into right field. Carl Tucker, fielding the ball, threw in to Cline at short with LaBeff on his way to third. The ball, wet from its trip into the outer garden, slipped off Cline's fingers as he made the relay to third and the ball went wild, allowing LaBeff to score.

The Sports tied it up in the third when Lurk led off with a single, went to second on Tucker's single, took third on a sacrifice by Jim Pace, and scored as Morrison grounded out to Paul Dabkowski at second.

With two out in the fourth the Sports grabbed the lead as Charlie Cline rammed a double down the left field line and scampered home as Wayne Moon singled.

MOST VALUABLE

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 2.—(AP)— Alex Cosmidis, Hot Springs infielder, and Jack Ramm, Pine Bluff outfielder, are the Cotton States League's most valuable players of the 1950 season.

The two won over a field of 13 other nominees in the third annual league-wide poll conducted by the Hot Springs junior Chamber of Commerce. This is the first time that a tie has occurred.

Selections were made by Cotton States managers, club presidents and sports writers.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, jr.

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—With the furore about non-compliance with the sanity code coming up again at the start of the football season, it looks as if the "purity" bloc in the N. C. A. A. had changed the wording of an old saying to: "If you can't beat 'em, en-join 'em." . . . From this neutral observation post, we don't see how they're going to make any code work until all hands agree on what's right and what's wrong. . . . A majority vote hasn't meant agreement so far. . . . Featherweight Champion Willie Pep once worked for a wallpaper company. That may explain his aversion to being plastered. . . . Frank Stranahan's Sparkplug Company has selected Sammy Urzetta as "champion sportsman of the month" for his victory in the amateur golf championship. . . . Lisle Blackbourn, Marquette's new football coach, showed his courage when he accepted the job as umpire for the ball game between Milwaukee and Chicago aldermen next Friday night. . . . That may turn out to be a night-mayor.

Quick Brushoff

Oscar Buchenhorst, athletic equipment manager at Penn State College, is an obliging sort of a guy who for years has gone out of his way to help the coaches. . . . Recently he purchased a farm just out of town and planned to spend the summer painting the farmhouse. . . . But last spring Buchenhorst was taken sick and he still isn't able to climb ladders and wield a paint brush. . . . So, unbeknownst to Oscar, the entire Penn State coaching staff is going out to the farm tomorrow to do the painting for him.

Weak End Notes

They'll have to play soph music at Arizona football games this fall, what with 34 sophomores on the 50-man Varsity squad. As freshmen last year, those kids averaged 64.8 points a game to 3.8 for the opposition. . . . Ditto at Boston College, where only four lettermen are reasonably sure of their jobs because of a strong soph influx. . . . And Michigan State's freshman class will include Jere McMillin, son of Bo, and John Bachman, whose dad, Charley, formerly coached the Spartans. We'd say all these lads will have a relatively hard time making good.

Red Wings Clinch Flag In International Loop

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Rochester Red Wings won their first International League pennant in 10 years tonight by defeating the Buffalo Bisons, 7-3.

The runnerup Montreal Royals were beaten by Toronto, 4-1, thus giving Johnny Keane a flag in his second year as Rochester manager. Buffalo won the title last year.

Roy Broome paced Rochester's attack against three Buffalo hurlers with a triple and double, driving across five runs. Jack Faszholz was credited with the deciding victory, although he needed help in the seventh from Mike Schultz. Starter Zrnie Silverman was the loser.

Rochester last took the title in 1940 under Billy Southworth's leadership. Southworth also led the Red Wings to flags in 1928, 29, 30 and 31.

In all, its Rochester's 11th pennant, starting in 1899 under Al Buckenberger. The Wings also won in 1901, 09, 10 and 11.

Two new additions to Louisiana State's 1950 football slate are the Tigers of College of the Pacific, who appear here Sept. 30, and Villanova's Wildcats, who play a Friday night engagement here Nov. 24.

SADDLER CHOICE TO DETHRONE PEP

Featherweight Crown At Stake In Madison Square Garden Friday

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Boxing's box office record for "Little Men" is expected to be broken with a bang this Friday when Featherweight Champion Willie Pep and Sandy Saddler clash in their long overdue "rubber" title bout.

This is the ring natural that should have been staged a year ago. But time apparently hasn't cooled off the fans' enthusiasm and some 30,000 to 40,000 customers will be on hand when Wee Willie and the Harlem slasher have it out over the 15 - round route in Yankee Stadium.

The fight will not be broadcast or telecast. That is one of the main reasons the promoting International Boxing Club expects to pack them in.

The I. B. C. figures that plenty of people who saw their last scrap —a ring classic—via the Video screens will pay cash money to see the boys in the flesh.

Pep, a 7-5 underdog, had to call on all of his ring cunning to outpoint the hard-hitting Harlemite in 15 rounds at Madison Square garden Feb. 11, 1949. The game little Hartford Italian looked as if he had been in an auto wreck when his hand was raised in victory. He was gashed over and under both eyes and was a sad sight indeed.

But there was no doubt that Willie had earned the decision and was rightly entitled to the crown he had lost to Saddler on a four-round kayo in the garden four months before.

Now No. 3 is coming up and it's got the fans as well as the professional oddmakers puzzled as to who is the better man.

At the moment, the 24-year old challenger is a 5 to 7 favorite. The odds are liable to change. Their second bout was one of the biggest betting fights in many years. There is heavy waggering on this one, too.

Their last two scraps at the garden, both at $10 tops, drew gross gates of $55,751 and $87,563. A jam-packed crowd of 19,097 elbowed their way into the garden for the encore.

Blue Boy Leader In Two Divisions For Coon Dogs

Springfield, O., Sept. 2. —(AP)—Double grand world's champion Blue Boy, owned by Champlin and West Kennels of Wilmington, O., was the first tree and first line winner in the registered hound division, first event of the 1950 world's championship coon dog field trials held near here today.

The three-day trials have attracted more than 500 dogs from 31 states.

Thirty heats in the world championship events will be run off Sunday.

Rex Mobley, long a bitter rival of Jack Curtis, is willing to "bury the hatchet" in order to get the world's light heavyweight champ as his partner for a tag team scrap with the Mexican rowdies, Bobby Segura and Nacha Martinez.

Curtis, a little leery of Mobley's proposal at first, probably accepted as a matter of avenging family pride since his brother George, teamed with Mobley against Segura and Martinez last week, was on the losing end of the match.

Promoter Gus Kallio last night said he would have Jack Curtis and Mobley working in the same corner against the Mexican due here Tuesday night in a main event relay scramble.

Mobley, the sly Texan, didn't take the defeat last week gracefully, and was emphatic in his demands for a rematch.

"Just get Jack Curtis to side me," Mobley begged Kallio. "I know Curtis and I haven't been any too friendly the past few years, but I'm willing to bury the hatchet as far as our own feelings are concerned if you'll just talk him into it. We need the best combination to beat them (Segura and Martinez)."

"I can't figure Rex wanting me for a partner since we've been feuding so long," Curtis later informed Kallio. "But it's O. K. It'll be Mobley and me in the same corner for a change."

Segura, who held the world's title briefly during the summer, and Martinez, a reputed cousin of Mexico's famed Pancho Villa, who appeared here last week for the first time, will meet Curtis and Mobley in a 90-minute time limit bout, two falls to win.

Two one-fall matches will serve to open the show at Kallio's Walnut street arena at 8:15 o'clock.

Baseball Comedian Here Tuesday Night

When Johnnie Price appears before Monroe baseball fandom on Tuesday night at American Legion Memorial Stadium, laughs will come a dime a dozen as the foremost exponent of tricks with a baseball performs his wares. Price will be featured before the final regular season game of 1950 between the Monroe Sports and the Greenville Bucks with his antics slated to be exhibited, beginning at 7:45 o'clock that evening.

Only three short years ago Price began his amazing display before baseball fans and in that comparatively brief period he has gained the reputation of being baseball's foremost trick artist who can accomplish feats with a ball, bat and glove that are little short of miraculous.

Shortly after being inducted into the big leagues by Bill Veeck, former president of the Cleveland Indians, Price became a sensation in major loop ball parks. Interest in his act become so widespread that one enterprising movie company produced a short featuring him. It was one of the famous Pete Smith series and drew nation-wide acclaim. With the release of this movie, Price's popularity zoomed. Last year, for example, he performed every night of the week and occasionally made two appearances daily. Nonetheless he still was unable to fill every request for his performances.

All of these singular abilities came as no accident to Johnnie. More than fourteen years ago he decided to develop something that was "different" to fall back on in the event he failed to make the grade as a ball player. He began working on trick catches, then batting in weird positions. Finally he tried hitting while hanging upside-down. At first this was extremely tough because the blood rushing to his head limited the time he could hang suspended. Slowly he became used to it and now he claims he can remain in that position for as long as 18 minutes.

For his efforts during this training period, he received nothing but physical anguish including 15 finger breaks, innumerable dislocations and one time a split ear lobe acquired as he foul tipped an inside pitch while swinging from his heels.

Rickey Assumes Blame For Dodgers' Troubles

Hollywood, Sept. 2.—(AP)— Bossman Branch Rckey of the Brooklyn Baseball Club assumed blame today for the Dodgers' difficulties this season but declined to count his club out of the running for the National League pennant.

Rickey came here to confer with officials of the Hollywood Club and said he hoped to continue a working agreement with the Pacific coast organization.

The Dodger president said he had "over estimated" the capabilities and condition of his pitchers and that this department was the club's only weakness.

"However," he declared, "we are not conceding the pennant to the Phillies yet. Right now we are in the best physical condition of the season. For the first time, we have four starting pitchers who are in good shape—Preacher Roe, Carl Erskine, Don Newcombe and Erv Palica."

Rickey had a good word for Philadelphia as a well rounded, fighting team but noted that Manager Eddie Sawyer has been troubled by few injuries and illness.

Rickey apologized for inability to help Hollywood more this year and said, "I'm surprised Fred Haney has done as well as he has, just as I was surprised when he won the pennant with last year's squad."

SKEET'S TROPHY SHOOT RESLATED

Rained Out Past Week, Final Round Scheduled Thursday Night

Rain last Thursday night forced postponement of the final round of the "nighthawk" skeet shoot for the R. and A. Jewelry's big trophy but Range Manager J. B. Thoman said last night the shoot will be run off next Thursday night.

L. E. Ducote, R. and A. manager, will present the trophy at the close of the 200-target event.

Despite the weather and bad vision a few shooters braved the weather Thursday to finish their scores with Bill Andrews cracking 45 out of 50, Bill Snyder 55x75, Jim Steele 47x50; Thoman 66x75, Bert Williams 38x50 and S. K. Bernheim 23x25.

E. W. Andrews, Mer Rouge, won a special prize offered by Paul Newcomer, manager of Harry Stough's Liquor Store, and three other awards are to be given Thursday.

Regular shooting will be held today, and any who wish to get in their night trophy shooting early will be permitted to do so tonight, Thoman said.

Great Circle Winner In $15,000 Del Mar Derby

Del Mar, Calif., Sept. 2. —(AP)—The Yolo stable's Great Circle won the $15,000-added Del Mar derby today in the track record time of 1:48 2-5 for the nine furlongs.

Second choice in the betting, Great Circle paid $7.90, $4.70 and $3.00.

The Suzy Q Ranch's Mrs. Fuddy, only filly in the race, was three lengths back in second.

Mrs. Fuddy returned $10.30 and $5.00 and Blue Reading was worth $2.60 in the mutuels.

Smart riding by Jockey Ralph Neves contributed to the Yolo stable victory.

He guided Great Circle next to the rail at the break and kept him steady on the ground saving course until the stretch turn. There, he slipped the colt inside of the pacesetting Mrs. Fuddy and pushed ahead.

Ronald "Turkey" Lurk, who boasts the best earned-run average of any pitcher in the Cotton States League, put down the El Dorado Oilers on four hits last light as the Monroe Sports squeezed by the cellar-dwellers, 2 to 1, in the opener of a two-game series at Legion Memorial Stadium here. The two clubs end their season's rivalry in a game here this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The lone run off Lurk last night was unearned, coming in the first inning as the result of a base on balls to Bob LaBeff, a single by Glenn Winslett and an error.

But the Sports managed to tie up the score in the third inning, and then fashioned the winning run in the fourth when Wayne Moon singled home Charlie Cline who had doubled.

Roy Schalk, the clowning El Dorado manager, toiled on the mound for the visitors, but he made pitching look easy with his deliberate, unhurried, and tricky deliveries. The Sports tagged him for nine hits that were fairly well scattered. He walked only one against two free passes issued by Lurk. However, the Monroe chunker, pitching his ninth win against as many losses, struck out eight while Schalk was able to whiff only one.

The game was delayed about 15 minutes in starting becaus e of rain. The shower started 15 mintues before game time, just as Earl E. Times, the mighty midget, began his brief exhibition of strength. Times permitted four ball players to see-saw on a board placed across his stomach while his head and heels rested on chairs. Then he permitted two players to pick him up, but when he invited them to try again he made himself "heavy" and the players strained and tugged trying to get him off the ground.

An unearned run gave the Oilers the lead in the first inning. Bob LaBeff worked Lurk for a free pass to first. Glen Winslett punched a single into right field. Carl Tucker, fielding the ball, threw in to Cline at short with LaBeff on his way to third. The ball, wet from its trip into the outer garden, slipped off Cline's fingers as he made the relay to third and the ball went wild, allowing LaBeff to score.

The Sports tied it up in the third when Lurk led off with a single, went to second on Tucker's single, took third on a sacrifice by Jim Pace, and scored as Morrison grounded out to Paul Dabkowski at second.

With two out in the fourth the Sports grabbed the lead as Charlie Cline rammed a double down the left field line and scampered home as Wayne Moon singled.

MOST VALUABLE

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 2.—(AP)— Alex Cosmidis, Hot Springs infielder, and Jack Ramm, Pine Bluff outfielder, are the Cotton States League's most valuable players of the 1950 season.

The two won over a field of 13 other nominees in the third annual league-wide poll conducted by the Hot Springs junior Chamber of Commerce. This is the first time that a tie has occurred.

Selections were made by Cotton States managers, club presidents and sports writers.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, jr.

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—With the furore about non-compliance with the sanity code coming up again at the start of the football season, it looks as if the "purity" bloc in the N. C. A. A. had changed the wording of an old saying to: "If you can't beat 'em, en-join 'em." . . . From this neutral observation post, we don't see how they're going to make any code work until all hands agree on what's right and what's wrong. . . . A majority vote hasn't meant agreement so far. . . . Featherweight Champion Willie Pep once worked for a wallpaper company. That may explain his aversion to being plastered. . . . Frank Stranahan's Sparkplug Company has selected Sammy Urzetta as "champion sportsman of the month" for his victory in the amateur golf championship. . . . Lisle Blackbourn, Marquette's new football coach, showed his courage when he accepted the job as umpire for the ball game between Milwaukee and Chicago aldermen next Friday night. . . . That may turn out to be a night-mayor.

Quick Brushoff

Oscar Buchenhorst, athletic equipment manager at Penn State College, is an obliging sort of a guy who for years has gone out of his way to help the coaches. . . . Recently he purchased a farm just out of town and planned to spend the summer painting the farmhouse. . . . But last spring Buchenhorst was taken sick and he still isn't able to climb ladders and wield a paint brush. . . . So, unbeknownst to Oscar, the entire Penn State coaching staff is going out to the farm tomorrow to do the painting for him.

Weak End Notes

They'll have to play soph music at Arizona football games this fall, what with 34 sophomores on the 50-man Varsity squad. As freshmen last year, those kids averaged 64.8 points a game to 3.8 for the opposition. . . . Ditto at Boston College, where only four lettermen are reasonably sure of their jobs because of a strong soph influx. . . . And Michigan State's freshman class will include Jere McMillin, son of Bo, and John Bachman, whose dad, Charley, formerly coached the Spartans. We'd say all these lads will have a relatively hard time making good.

Red Wings Clinch Flag In International Loop

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Rochester Red Wings won their first International League pennant in 10 years tonight by defeating the Buffalo Bisons, 7-3.

The runnerup Montreal Royals were beaten by Toronto, 4-1, thus giving Johnny Keane a flag in his second year as Rochester manager. Buffalo won the title last year.

Roy Broome paced Rochester's attack against three Buffalo hurlers with a triple and double, driving across five runs. Jack Faszholz was credited with the deciding victory, although he needed help in the seventh from Mike Schultz. Starter Zrnie Silverman was the loser.

The Royals now have lost 63 games, 11 more than Rochester. The wings have only 10 games left and, consequently, could end with only 62 losses.

Rochester last took the title in 1940 under Billy Southworth's leadership. Southworth also led the Red Wings to flags in 1928, 29, 30 and 31.

In all, its Rochester's 11th pennant, starting in 1899 under Al Buckenberger. The Wings also won in 1901, 09, 10 and 11.

SADDLER CHOICE TO DETHRONE PEP

Featherweight Crown At Stake In Madison Square Garden Friday

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Boxing's box office record for "Little Men" is expected to be broken with a bang this Friday when Featherweight Champion Willie Pep and Sandy Saddler clash in their long overdue "rubber" title bout.

This is the ring natural that should have been staged a year ago. But time apparently hasn't cooled off the fans' enthusiasm and some 30,000 to 40,000 customers will be on hand when Wee Willie and the Harlem slasher have it out over the 15 - round route in Yankee Stadium.

The fight will not be broadcast or telecast. That is one of the main reasons the promoting International Boxing Club expects to pack them in.

The I. B. C. figures that plenty of people who saw their last scrap —a ring classic—via the Video screens will pay cash money to see the boys in the flesh.

Pep, a 7-5 underdog, had to call on all of his ring cunning to outpoint the hard-hitting Harlemite in 15 rounds at Madison Square garden Feb. 11, 1949. The game little Hartford Italian looked as if he had been in an auto wreck when his hand was raised in victory. He was gashed over and under both eyes and was a sad sight indeed.

But there was no doubt that Willie had earned the decision and was rightly entitled to the crown he had lost to Saddler on a four-round kayo in the garden four months before.

Now No. 3 is coming up and it's got the fans as well as the professional oddmakers puzzled as to who is the better man.

At the moment, the 24-year old challenger is a 5 to 7 favorite. The odds are liable to change. Their second bout was one of the biggest betting fights in many years. There is heavy waggering on this one, too.

Their last two scraps at the garden, both at $10 tops, drew gross gates of $55,751 and $87,563. A jam-packed crowd of 19,097 elbowed their way into the garden for the encore.

Blue Boy Leader In Two Divisions For Coon Dogs

Springfield, O., Sept. 2. —(AP)— Double grand world's champion Blue Boy, owned by Champlin and West Kennels of Wilmington, O., was the first tree and first line winner in the registered hound division, first event of the 1950 world's championship coon dog field trials held near here today.

The three-day trials have attracted more than 500 dogs from 31 states.

Thirty heats in the world championship events will be run off Sunday.

Rex Mobley, long a bitter rival of Jack Curtis, is willing to "bury the hatchet" in order to get the world's light heavyweight champ as his partner for a tag team scrap with the Mexican rowdies, Bobby Segura and Nacha Martinez.

Curtis, a little leery of Mobley's proposal at first, probably accepted as a matter of avenging family pride since his brother George, teamed with Mobley against Segura and Martinez last week was on the losing end of the match.

Promoter Gus Kallio last night said he would have Jack Curtis and Mobley working in the same corner against the Mexican due here Tuesday night in a main event relay scramble.

Mobley, the sly Texan, didn't take the defeat last week gracefully, and was emphatic in his demands for a rematch.

"Just get Jack Curtis to side me," Mobley begged Kallio. "I know Curtis and I haven't been any too friendly the past few years, but I'm willing to bury the hatchet as far as our own feelings are concerned if you'll just talk him into it. We need the best combination to beat them (Segura and Martinez)."

"I can't figure Rex wanting me for a partner since we've been feuding so long," Curtis later informed Kallio. "But it's O. K. It'll be Mobley and me in the same corner for a change."

Segura, who held the world's title briefly during the summer, and Martinez, a reputed cousin of Mexico's famed Pancho Villa, who appeared here last week for the first time, will meet Curtis and Mobley in a 90-minute time limit bout, two falls to win.

Two one-fall matches will serve to open the show at Kallio's Walnut street arena at 8:15 o'clock.

Baseball Comedian Here Tuesday Night

When Johnnie Price appears before Monroe baseball fandom on Tuesday night at American Legion Memorial Stadium, laughs will come a dime a dozen as the foremost exponent of tricks with a baseball performs his wares. Price will be featured before the final regular season game of 1950 between the Monroe Sports and the Greenville Bucks with his antics slated to be exhibited, beginning at 7:45 o'clock that evening.

Only three short years ago Price began his amazing display before baseball fans and in that comparatively brief period he has gained the reputation of being baseball's foremost trick artist who can accomplish feats with a ball, bat and glove that are little short of miraculous.

Shortly after bejng inducted into the big leagues by Bill Veeck, former president of the Cleveland Indians, Price became a sensation in major loop ball parks. Interest in his act become so widespread that one enterprising movie company produced a short featuring him. It was one of the famous Pete Smith series and drew nation-wide acclaim. With the release of this movie, Price's popularity zoomed. Last year, for example, he performed every night of the week and occasionally made two appearances daily. Nonetheless he still was unable to fill every request for his performances.

All of these singular abilities came as no accident to Johnnie. More than fourteen years ago he decided to develop something that was "different" to fall back on in the event he failed to make the grade as a ball player. He began working on trick catches, then batting in weird positions. Finally he tried hitting while hanging upside-down. At first this was extremely tough because the blood rushing to his head limited the time he could hang suspended. Slowly he became used to it and now he claims he can remain in that position for as long as 18 minutes.

For his efforts during this training period, he received nothing but physical anguish including 15 finger breaks, innumerable dislocations and one time a split ear lobe acquired as he foul tipped an inside pitch while swinging from his heels.

Rickey Assumes Blame For Dodgers' Troubles

Hollywood, Sept. 2.—(AP)— Bossman Branch Rckey of the Brooklyn Baseball Club assumed blame today for the Dodgers' difficulties this season but declined to count his club out of the running for the National League pennant.

Rickey came here to confer with officials of the Hollywood Club and said he hoped to continue a working agreement with the Pacific coast organization.

The Dodger president said he had "over estimated" the capabilities and condition of his pitchers and that this department was the club's only weakness.

"However," he declared, "we are not conceding the pennant to the Phillies yet. Right now we are in the best physical condition of the season. For the first time, we have four starting pitchers who are in good shape—Preacher Roe, Carl Erskine, Don Newcombe and Erv Palica."

Rickey had a good word for Philadelphia as a well rounded, fighting team but noted that Manager Eddie Sawyer has been troubled by few injuries and illness.

Rickey apologized for inability to help Hollywood more this year and said, "I'm surprised Fred Haney has done as well as he has, just as I was surprised when he won the pennant with last year's squad."

SKEET'S TROPHY SHOOT RESLATED

Rained Out Past Week, Final Round Scheduled Thursday Night

Rain last Thursday night forced postponement of the final round of the "nighthawk" skeet shoot for the R. and A. Jewelry's big trophy but Range Manager J. B. Thoman said last night the shoot will be run off next Thursday night.

L. E. Ducote, R. and A. manager, will present the trophy at the close of the 200-target event.

Despite the weather and bad vision a few shooters braved the weather Thursday to finish their scores with Bill Andrews cracking 45 out of 50, Bill Snyder 55x75, Jim Steele 47x50; Thoman 66x75, Bert Williams 38x50 and S. K. Bernheim 23x25.

E. W. Andrews, Mer Rouge, won a special prize offered by Paul Newcomer, manager of Harry Stough's Liquor Store, and three other awards are to be given Thursday.

Regular shooting will be held today, and any who wish to get in their night trophy shooting early will be permitted to do so tonight, Thoman said.

Del Mar, Calif., Sept. 2. —(AP)— The Yolo stable's Great Circle won the $15,000-added Del Mar derby today in the track record time of 1:48 2-5 for the nine furlongs.

Second choice in the betting, Great Circle paid $7.90, $4.70 and $3.00.

The Suzy Q Ranch's Mrs. Fuddy, only filly in the race, was three lengths back in second.

Mrs. Fuddy returned $10.30 and $5.00 and Blue Reading was worth $2.60 in the mutuels.

Smart riding by Jockey Ralph Neves contributed to the Yolo stable victory.

He guided Great Circle next to the rail at the break and kept him steady on the ground saving course until the stretch turn. There, he slipped the colt inside of the pacesetting Mrs. Fuddy and pushed ahead.

Jones Expects Stiff Competition In Title Defense Beginning Today

George Stuhr, No. 1 player on the University of Notre Dame golf team last year and a transplanted New Yorker playing out of the Morehouse Country Club, Bastrop, copped medalist honors for the annual Labor Day Golf Tournament opening this morning at Bayou DeSiard Country Club here, and he also teamed with Johnny Myers, Louisiana Professional Golfers Organization champion, to win the pro-amateur section of the meet yesterday.

Stuhr took the tourney medal with an even par 72.

Defending Champion Bill Jones, Monroe, was not required to qualify, but he has been playing some outstanding golf in practice rounds and is expected to run strong again this trip. However, the competition will be keener for Jones this year with such boys as Stuhr; Monte Sanders, the stellar Texan who was No. 2 player on the North Texas State Teachers N. C. A. A. championship team last year: "Spec" Wilson, former Mississippi Open and Gulf Coast champ; Jim Hill, Memphis ace; Lamar Loe, Jr., Tallulah's youthful hope; and other highly regarded amateurs of this section after his throne.

Myers and Stuhr had a low ball 65 to take the pro-amateur yesterday while Winnie Cole, pro at Bayou DeSiard, and Jones came in two strokes behind with a 67. There were four ties for third place. John Cochran, Greenwood. Miss., pro, and Hill; Jim Witcher, Marshall, Tex., pro, in two combinations with Monte Sanders and Clyde Nash, the latter of Monroe; and H. A. Britt, pro at Municipal Golf Club here, and Leo Edwards, Vicksburg, Miss., all had 69's.

The championship flight will include eight player from Monroe, one from West Monroe and one each from Dallas, Memphis, Bastrop, Hodge, Dubach, Marshall, Tex., and Vicksburg.

The first foursome in the championship flight will tee off at 7:30 a.m. today, with Defending Champion Jones meeting I. F. Bennett and O. B. Moses playing Edel Blanks, Jr., all of Monroe. Starting at 7:37 will be Eddie Connor, Dallas, vs. Clyde Nash, Monroe, and Robert Oliver, Monroe, vs. Jim Hill, Memphis. Moving off at 7:45 will be George Stuhr, Bastrop, vs. Red Stewart, Hodge, and Jimmy Green, West Monroe, vs. Bill Cody, Dubach. The final foursome of the top flight will get away at 7:52, with Monty Sanders, Marshall, Tex., vs. H. D. Touchstone, Monroe, and McVea Oliver, Monroe, vs. Leo Edwards, Vicksburg.

PLAY FOR FOURTH

Nip and Tuck will play the Monroe Rockets on the Sterlington diamond today, it was announced yesterday by a member of the Ouachita Valley League.

The game, which is scheduled for 3 p. m., is being played to determine who will end the season in fourth place.

At a meeting held Saturday night, it was discovered that both teams had apparently ended the season four places down the ladder. The game was scheduled to remove this discrepancy.

LAFFOON IN FRONT IN EMPIRE EVENT

Old Veteran Ties Course Record With 67 On his First Round

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Ky Laffoon, veteran professional from St. Andrews, Ill., tied the course record of 67 today to lead the field in the opening round of the $15,000 Empire State Open Golf Tournament.

Laffoon, who hasn't won a major tourney outside of the Illinois P. G. A. in several years, shot a four under par 32 on the first nine at Shaker Ridge course and carded a 35 on the second.

Laffoon boasted a stroke margin over another outsider, Glenn Teal of Jacksonville, Fla. Teal cut a stroke off par on the outgoing nine and two off the incoming nine, for a 68.

Amateur Sig Makofski of Schenectady, was third with 69.

Tied at 70 were Jack Burke, Jr., of White Plains, Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn., and Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliff.

Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif. and Julius Boros of Mid Pine, N. C., each notched par-equalling 71s.

Lloyd Mangrum of Nles, Ill., followed by a large gallery, shot 35-37—72, while Harry Ransom, winner of the Tam O'Shanter "world-crown, had the same total, with 37-35.

Others with 72 were Art Doering of Richmond, Va., Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., and Harry Nettleblatt of Avon, Conn.

They were trailed by Stan Kroll of Utica, with 73, and Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., and Jack Ford of Warrensburg, each with 74.

The 6,665-yard course still was soggy from heavy rains that delayed start of play yesterday for one day.

That resulted in a revision of the schedule, reducing play to three days instead of four as originally planned.

One 18-hole round will be played tomorrow. The top 60 pros and first 10 amateurs will qualify for the 36-hole windup on Monday.

COCHRANE OUT OF MACK PLANS

Reorganization Of Athletics Begins With General Manager

Philadelphia, Sept. 2. —(AP)— The Philadelphia Athletics—battered by American League opposition and subject to rumors all season—today dropped General Manager Mickey Cochrane in the first shakeup under the new all-Mack regime.

Acceptance of a resignation submitted by the longtime great catcher for Connie Mack and former manager of the Detroit Tigers was announced by Roy Mack.

Just five days ago, Roy and Earle Mack—Connie's two elder sons—purchased full ownership of the Athletics with their father—mortgaging Shibe Park to finance the deal.

Roy Mack's terse announcement did not mention a successor to Cochrane. That touched off the rumor mills again.

A few weeks ago, Roy said Arthur Ehlers, head of the A's farm system, was ticketed for a top job in the new Mack setup. Many felt today the dropping of Cochrane would open the way for Ehlers to take over as general manager.

Roy's statement said only:

"Mickey Cochrane has tendered his resignation as general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics and it has been accepted. Frank McFarland, Jr., also resigned as travelling secretary and his position will be temporarily filled by Dave Keefe."

Cochrane's departure from the A's was in keeping with background of the club's new ownership setup. It was reportedly at the suggestion of Connie Mack, Jr. that "Black Mike" was coaxed out of private life last winter to sign a contract as A's coach.

Cochrane was named general manager several months later in a move designed to help bring the A's an American League pennant in Connie Mack's 50th year as team manager.

The A's Pennant hopes blew skyhigh,—the club is in last place—and Connie, Jr., was one of the sellers in the deal through which Roy and Earle joined their father as sole owners of the club. Other stock sold to the Roy-Earle combine was held by relatives of Thomas and Benjamin Shibe—cofounder of the Athletics with Connie, Sr.

McFarland, who resigned as traveling secretary, is related to the Shibe family. His successor, Dave Keefe, is a coach with the club.

In addition to Ehlers, Jimmy Dykes—brought back to the club as a coach last winter—has been mentioned as in line for new prominence under the new ownership. Like Cochrane a former A's great and onetime big league manager (Chicago White Sox), Dykes currently is serving as third base coach.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Gardnar Mulloy, 36-year-old Davis cup veteran, and Herbie Flam, fast-coming youngster from the west coast, hammered out decisive straight - set victories in the stadium today to complete the field in tomorrow's semi-final round of the national tennis championships.

Mulloy, in one of the most brilliant efforts of his long career, crushed Earl Cochell of Los Angeles, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2. Cochell, who had upset Frank Sedgman of Australia in the previous round, never really had a chance to get his guard up.

Flam, the 22-year-old U. C. L. A. graduate, experienced only slightly more difficulty in ambushing Billy Talbert, New York Davis cup doubles veteran, 9-7, 6-4 6-3. Flam, grown into a very agile six-footer in the past year, impressed a crowd of 12,000 with his lightening reflexes and all-around play.

The day's two victors will clash tomorrow in the semi-final of the upper bracket. The winner appears to be a toss-up, especially if Mulloy has another three sets in his system the like of those he played today. Flam already holds the national clay court title.

NEWCOMBE GIVES POLO GROUNDERS ONLY THREE HITS

Blackwell Misses No-Hitter By Three Outs In Beating Cubs For Reds

Brooklyn, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Big Don Newcombe turned in one of his best performances of the season today to pitch the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 2-0 victory over Larry Jansen and the New York Giants.

Newcombe permitted the Polo Grounders only three singles in fashioning his 16th victory and fifth straight. The powerful right-hander now is only one victory shy of matching the 17 triumphs he recorded last year, his freshman season.

Wes Westrum singled for the first Giant hit in the third and Hank Thompson and Westrum singled in the seventh for the New Yorkers' final blows.

The Dodgers collected only seven hits off Jansen who was gunning for his 15th victory. He might have had a shutout but for a leady Giant defense.

Brooklyn scored its initial run in the second inning. Jackie Robinson walked and two outs later scampered to third when Monte Irvin fumbled Alvin Dark's throw on Roy Campanella's grounder. Billy Cox followed with a single.

Pee Wee Reese led off the third inning with a triple and scored on a passed ball. The loss marked the fourth time that Jansen has been on the receiving end of a shutout.

PHILS BLANK BRAVES

Boston, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Southpaw Curt Simmons kept seven hits well scattered while shutting out the Boston Braves, 2-0, for the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies tonight before a 17,230 crowd. Sam Jethroe was the only rival to reach third base as the Phils clicked off their 10th win in the last 12 starts on the road.

Jethroe reached scoring position after doubling with two out in the first inning. But he died on third when Bob Elliott retired the Tribesmen for the first time by grounding out.

Cops, Firemen Groom For Baseball Clash

The Police and Fire department baseball game to be played at the Legion Memorial Stadium on September 25 at 8 p.m., has gained wide spread interest throughout the Twin Cities with the two teams spending a great deal of time practicing.

Under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club plans have been made to donate all proceeds of the game to the fire and police pension funds and also the Optimist Boys Work Fund to put reflectors, both front and back, on every bicycle in the twin cities.

Mutual Broadcasting companies program "Game of The Day" recently acknowledged the two city departments baseball game. The Mutual station in Monroe is KLIC.

Floyd Van will be the captain of the police department team and Dewey Mobley will serve in the same capacity for the fire department.

A handsome trophy will be awarded the winning team by the organization. This trophy will be awarded each year in the future to the winner for that year.

Tickets may be purchased at Lockhart-Blair Sports Shop or from any member of the Optimist Club.

The public is invited to attend the practice sessions being held by the two teams. The Monroe Fire Department is practicing at Neville High School and the Monroe Police Department at Northeast Louisiana State College.

TECHMEN OFFER CLASSY DEFENSE

But Bulldog Grid Offense May Not Measure Up To That Of Last Year

Ruston, Sept. 3.—(Special—Louisiana Tech's 1950 football squad will fall short of its powerful offensive record established in the past season when it captured the Gulf States Conference crown and ranked twenty-first nationally on total offense, but its defensive play should be as good or better than last year.

That's the prediction of Joe Aillet, head football coach and director of athletics, as he enters his second decade of masterminding sports activities at Louisana Tech.

Scoring three or more touchdowns in each game last season, the offensive-minded Bulldogs ran up a total of 231 points while holding opponents to 97. Their powerful air and ground attack netted an average of 374.1 yards per game.

Aided by Cecil Crowley, line coach, and Jimmy Mize, assistant coach, Tech's head mentor will be pointing his gridders toward a successful defense of their G. S. C. championship this fall after a victorious first ten years at the college when athletic teams won 15 conference titles in football, basketball, baseball, golf and tennis.

Coming to Tech in 1940, Coach Aillet produced a title-winning golf squad in the Louisiana Intercollegiate conference, while the baseball team went undefeated that season to win the L. I. C. and S. I. A. A. crowns. The basketball team was runner-up for conference honors.

During the 1941-42 season, Tech athletic teams scored a grand-slam in conference titles, winning L. I. C. championships in football, basketball and baseball.

Conference competition was discontinued during the war years, but in 1945-46 Louisiana Tech again proved itself all-powerful by repeating its earler grand-slam performance and retaining all titles won during the 1941-42 contests.

The lapse was only temporary, however, for the third grand-slam winning streak was accomplished in the 1947-48 competition when Coach Aillet brought his football squad through with the L. I. C. crown; Coach Crowley directed his basketball team to its fourth straight championship; and Coach Berry Hinton produced a title-winner in baseball. The tennis squad took the doubles title in final conference play, and only 5½ points separated the Tech track team and the L. I. C. winner in the final conference meet.

A record of eight wins and two losses gave the football team second place in 1948-49 in the newly-formed Gulf States Conference, but during the past season the grid squad won the G. S. C. title and Coach Aillet was recognized as the Coach of the Year in the conference.

Twice Delayed Big Eight Series Reset For Today

Bernice, La., Sept. 2.—(Special) — After two postponements due to rain, the Big Eight League's championship finals have been rescheduled to open here Sunday afternoon between the Bernice Lions and the Farmerville Farmers.

The second game goes to Farmerville Tuesday night. The third is billed for Bernice Thursday night, and the fourth will be at Farmerville next Sunday. If a fifth game is necessary the teams will switch to Bernice again Tuesday week.

Ouachita Gridders Launch Campaign With Homer Pels Here Friday Night

The Lions, just completing three weeks of training, have been faced with the task of replacing nine regulars lost for the 1949 eleven. The new talent is heavier, thus enabling Hodgins to field a bulkier outfit this season but a lot depends on how fast it can move.

The Pelicans should prove a mighty tough opening-game test since Homer has practically its entire club back from last season, including Al Dogget, the fleet and versatile halfback who was considered one of the best in the state last season.

With Mark Boatright, wheelhorse of the Lion elevens for the last three seasons, gone with the other eight graduates, Ouachita will be looking with high hopes to Bob Carter this year. Carter, as right halfback, was Boatright's chief running mate the last couple of years and there were many Lion fans who considered Carter every bit as good a runner as Boatright who was a triple threat artist.

Troy Counts, Associated Press All-State as a guard last year, has been moved into the backfield and all indications are that he will be a big factor in rounding out another good backfield that also included Guy DuPriest, Benny Franklin, Billy Ray Short, and Herman DeLoach as the boys who will see most of the action.

DuPriest is a former Neville gridder of 1949 who left Monroe during the spring, attended school in Texas, and, upon returning here, enroled at Ouachita.

Coach Hodgins hasn't announced his starting line yet. The forward wall was hit hardest by graduations and the shifting of Counts.

But most promising in workouts have been Leo Earl and Drewey Valentine, impressive defensive tackles; Rodney Cannon, tackle; and Charles Page and Kenneth Bates, lettermen ends. Page was a regular offensive wingman last season.

Enjoy smooth, new power in 10 miles —Rislone in your oil guarantees it!

When we say "guarantee" we mean it! You get your money back if you can't actually feel the improvement in your car in 10 miles after you put Rislone in your oil.

Rislone is an oil-alloy for all modern motor oils. It works a miracle of "motor magic" in cars of any age! Actually it is a super-lubricant with no harmful ingredients. You can and should keep it in your car all the time.

How Rislone Works

Rislone absorbs gum and sludge, prevents new deposits. That's how it prevents sticking valves, provides full compression, and gives you smooth power at all speeds, quick starting in any weather.

Gum-fighting Rislone does this "constant tune-up" job in all internal combustion engines—on the farm, in the truck fleet, in marine engines, and in the family car. It gives old engines "factory-new" performance. And in new and reconditioned engines it permits driving at normal speeds immediately—eliminates the slow-speed break-in entirely.

Money-back guarantee!

Make this test today:

1. Have your regular service station put a quart of Rislone in your crankcase today! (Two quarts in larger engines.)
2. Drive 10 miles. Watch for these feelable improvements: smoother, quieter power; new "get-up-and-go"; power-surge pick up.
3. If you don't actually feel this difference in just 10 miles — return to your station for a full refund.

Make this test today!

DODGERS SCORE 2-0 SHUTOUT OVER GIANTS

NEWCOMBE GIVES POLO GROUNDERS ONLY THREE HITS

Blackwell Misses No-Hitter By Three Outs In Beating Cubs For Reds

Brooklyn, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Big Don Newcombe turned in one of his best performances of the season today to pitch the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 2-0 victory over Larry Jansen and the New York Giants.

Newcombe permitted the Polo Grounders only three singles in fashioning his 16th victory and fifth straight. The powerful right-hander now is only one victory shy of matching the 17 triumphs he recorded last year, his freshman season.

Wes Westrum singled for the first Giant hit in the third and Hank Thompson and Westrum singled in the seventh for the New Yorkers' final blows.

The Dodgers collected only seven hits off Jansen who was gunning for his 15th victory. He might have had a shutout but for a leady Giant defense.

Brooklyn scored its initial run in the second inning. Jackie Robinson walked and two outs later scampered to third when Monte Irvin fumbled Alvin Dark's throw on Roy Campanella's grounder. Billy Cox followed with a single.

Pee Wee Reese led off the third inning with a triple and scored on a passed ball. The loss marked the fourth time that Jansen has been on the receiving end of a shutout.

PHILS BLANK BRAVES

Boston, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Southpaw Curt Simmons kept seven hits well scattered while shutting out the Boston Braves, 2-0, for the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies tonight before a 17,230 crowd. Sam Jethroe was the only rival to reach third base as the Phils clicked off their 10th win in the last 12 starts on the road.

Jethroe reached scoring position after doubling with two out in the first inning. But he died on third when Bob Elliott retired the Tribesmen for the first time by grounding out.

Cops, Firemen Groom For Baseball Clash

The Police and Fire department baseball game to be played at the Legion Memorial Stadium on September 25 at 8 p.m., has gained wide spread interest throughout the Twin Cities with the two teams spending a great deal of time practicing.

Under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club plans have been made to donate all proceeds of the game to the fire and police pension funds and also the Optimist Boys Work Fund to put reflectors, both front and back, on every bicycle in the twin cities.

Mutual Broadcasting companies program "Game of The Day" recently acknowledged the two city departments baseball game. The Mutual station in Monroe is KLIC.

Floyd Van will be the captain of the police department team and Dewey Mobley will serve in the same capacity for the fire department.

A handsome trophy will be awarded the winning team by the organization. This trophy will be awarded each year in the future to the winner for that year.

Tickets may be purchased at Lockhart-Blair Sports Shop or from any member of the Optimist Club.

The public is invited to attend the practice sessions being held by the two teams. The Monroe Fire Department is practicing at Neville High School and the Monroe Police Department at Northeast Louisiana State College.

TECHMEN OFFER CLASSY DEFENSE

But Bulldog Grid Offense May Not Measure Up To That Of Last Year

Ruston, Sept. 3.—(Special—Louisiana Tech's 1950 football squad will fall short of its powerful offensive record established in the past season when it captured the Gulf States Conference crown and ranked twenty-first nationally on total offense, but its defensive play should be as good or better than last year.

That's the prediction of Joe Aillet, head football coach and director of athletics, as he enters his second decade of masterminding sports activities at Louisana Tech.

Scoring three or more touchdowns in each game last season, the offensive-minded Bulldogs ran up a total of 231 points while holding opponents to 97. Their powerful air and ground attack netted an average of 374.1 yards per game.

Aided by Cecil Crowley, line coach, and Jimmy Mize, assistant coach, Tech's head mentor will be pointing his gridders toward a successful defense of their G. S. C. championship this fall after a victorious first ten years at the college when athletic teams won 15 conference titles in football, basketball, baseball, golf and tennis.

Coming to Tech in 1940, Coach Aillet produced a title-winning golf squad in the Louisiana Intercollegiate conference, while the baseball team went undefeated that season to win the L. I. C. and S. I. A. A. crowns. The basketball team was runner-up for conference honors.

Conference competition was discontinued during the war years, but in 1945-46 Louisiana Tech again proved itself all-powerful by repeating its earler grand-slam performance and retaining all titles won during the 1941-42 contests.

The lapse was only temporary, however, for the third grand-slam winning streak was accomplished in the 1947-48 competition when Coach Aillet brought his football squad through with the L. I. C. crown; Coach Crowley directed his basketball team to its fourth straight championship; and Coach Berry Hinton produced a title-winner in baseball. The tennis squad took the doubles title in final conference play, and only 5½ points separated the Tech track team and the L. I. C. winner in the final conference meet.

A record of eight wins and two losses gave the football team second place in 1948-49 in the newly-formed Gulf States Conference, but during the past season the grid squad won the G. S. C. title and Coach Aillet was recognized as the Coach of the Year in the conference.

Twice Delayed Big Eight Series Reset For Today

Bernice, La., Sept. 2.—(Special) — After two postponements due to rain, the Big Eight League's championship finals have been rescheduled to open here Sunday afternoon between the Bernice Lions and the Farmerville Farmers.

The second game goes to Farmerville Tuesday night. The third is billed for Bernice Thursday night, and the fourth will be at Farmerville next Sunday. If a fifth game is necessary the teams will switch to Bernice again Tuesday week.

The Lions, just completing three weeks of training, have been faced with the task of replacing nine regulars lost for the 1949 eleven. The new talent is heavier, thus enabling Hodgins to field a bulkier outfit this season but a lot depends on how fast it can move.

The Pelicans should prove a mighty tough opening-game test since Homer has practically its entire club back from last season, including Al Dogget, the fleet and versatile halfback who was considered one of the best in the state last season.

With Mark Boatright, wheelhorse of the Lion elevens for the last three seasons, gone with the other eight graduates, Ouachita will be looking with high hopes to Bob Carter this year. Carter, as right halfback, was Boatright's chief running mate the last couple of years and there were many Lion fans who considered Carter every bit as good a runner as Boatright who was a triple threat artist.

Troy Counts, Associated Press All-State as a guard last year, has been moved into the backfield and all indications are that he will be a big factor in rounding out another good backfield that also included Guy DuPriest, Benny Franklin, Billy Ray Short, and Herman DeLoach as the boys who will see most of the action.

DuPriest is a former Neville gridder of 1949 who left Monroe during the spring, attended school in Texas, and, upon returning here, enroled at Ouachita.

Coach Hodgins hain't announced his starting line yet. The forward wall was hit hardest by graduations and the shifting of Counts.

"PROFITABLE!" . . .

. . . says ED HAYMAN, commercial photographer, Monroe, Louisiana, "Profits on my outside commercial photographic assignments have increased considerably since I got my CROSLEY panel truck . . . and it's so easy to park and handle in places where larger cars won't go. It's low cost—initially and in upkeep—makes CROSLEY a boon to businesses making deliveries or using a car for outside assignments. You know, I paid less than $1000 for my CROSLEY and I get 35 to 40 miles per gallon on gasoline."

Enjoy smooth, new power in 10 miles —Rislone in your oil guarantees it!

When we say "guarantee" we mean it! You get your money back if you can't actually feel the improvement in your car in 10 miles after you put Rislone in your oil.

Rislone is an oil-alloy for all modern motor oils. It works a miracle of "motor magic" in cars of any age! Actually it is a super-lubricant with no harmful ingredients. You can and should keep it in your car all the time.

How Rislone Works

Rislone absorbs gum and sludge, prevents new deposits. That's how it prevents sticking valves, provides full compression, and gives you smooth power at all speeds, quick starting in any weather.

Gum-fighting Rislone does this "constant tune-up" job in all internal combustion engines—on the farm, in the truck fleet, in marine engines, and in the family car. It gives old engines "factory-new" performance. And in new and reconditioned engines it permits driving at normal speeds immediately—eliminates the slow-speed break-in entirely.

Money-back guarantee!

Make this test today:

1. Have your regular service station put a quart of Rislone in your crankcase today! (Two quarts in larger engines.)
2. Drive 10 miles. Watch for these feelable improvements: smoother, quieter power; new "get-up-and-go"; power-surge pick up.
3. If you don't actually feel this difference in just 10 miles — return to your station for a full refund.

Make this test today!

DIMAG GIVES YANKEES PUNCH TO BEAT NATS

BOMBERS HOLD LEAGUE MARGIN WITH 9 TO 2 WIN

Tigers Down White Sox, 8 To 2; Red Hose Defeat A's, 9 To 3

New York. Sept. 2.—(AP)—Jolting Joe DiMaggio drove in five runs on his 24th homer and a pair of singles today to spark the league-leading New York Yankees to a 9-2 triumph over the Washington Senators.

DiMaggio batted in the first five Yank runs. The Clipper homered in the second with the bases empty and followed up with a three-run single in the third to give the Bombers a lead they never relinquished.

Two walks and a hit batsman loaded the bases with two out for the Yanks in the third. DiMaggio blooped a single to right center and before the ball could be returned three Yanks were home.

DiMaggio singed in his fifth run in the seventh inning to start a five run-rally that put the game on ice. Yogi Berra socked his 20th homer to drive home DiMaggio. A single by Johnny Mize, a double by Billy Johnson and a single by Gerry Coleman completed the uprising.

Lefty Joe Ostrowski started for the Yanks and gained credit for the victory, his third. The start was Ostrowski's third since coming to the Yanks from St. Louis on June 1t. Ostrowski left for a pinch-hitter in the sixth after yielding both Washington runs on homers by Ed Yost and Irv Noren. Joe Page finished up, allowing two hits.

Joe Haynes, who blanked St. Louis, last time out, started for Washington and lasted until the seventh when Mickey Harris came on to snuff out the Yank rally.

Northeast Gridders Prepare For Action

Two-a-day workouts, morning and afternoon, have been ordered for football candidates at Northeast Louisiana State here this week as Coach James L. Malone starts whipping his new grid machine into shape.

"All positions are wide open, and some of our veteran players may not make the grade against some outstanding freshmen due to come in," Malone told a general meeting of his football talent yesterday afternoon.

The Redskin mentor declined to comment on his prospects right now, saying that after a week of work he "might be ready to start talking."

"Just say that we'll have a football team, and that the people of Monroe might get fooled about the ability of our boys before the end of the season," Malone said in passing further comment on the player situation.

Slo-Mo-Shun Writes Motorboat History

Detroit, Sept. 2. —(AP) —The world's fastest speedboat—Slo-Mo-Shun of Seattle — wrote motor boating history today with a 100-mile-an-hour Harmsworth race.

The smooth - moving western boat, owned by Stanley Sayres and driven today by Lou Fageol with Mike Welsh as mechanic, streaked over the five-mile course in the Detroit river at a speed that at times went to 102.676 miles an hour. Her average for the 40 miles was 100.680.

No speed boat ever before has been driven that fast in a competitive race over a circular course. The previous record for a single Harmsworth heat was made by last year's winner, Skip-A-Long of San Francisco which did one race at a speed of 94.285. The former lap mark was 98.164, made by Such Crust I, also in last year's race.

Today's race was an All America affair with Such Crust II and My Swettie, both of Detroit being the only other entrants. The competition didn't last long, however, for My Sweetie dropped out with oil line trouble after one and one half laps. Such Crust finished the race but it was about a lap and a half behind Slo-Mo-Shun at the finish.

My Sweetie, both of Detroit be-

Inseparable Cops Rich Washington Park Event

Chicago, Sept 2.—(AP)—Inseparable, at odds of 7-1, galloped through the slop to a two and a half lengths victory in the $50,000 added Washington Park Handicap at Washington Park today.

The Calumet farm's mud running Fervent was second, a length in front of King Ranch's Curandero, with the favored Ponder fourth, two lengths back.

The five-year-old Inseparable, owned by A. E. Reuben's Hasty House farms of Toledo, O., led most of the way and covered the mile and a quarter in 2:06 1-5. The winner returned $17.20 and $4.20. Fervent, coupled with Ponder as the Calumet entry, paid $2.40 to place. There was no show betting because of the small field.

Due to the sloppy condition of the track caused by a three hour downpour last night, the overnight field of starters was reduced to seven. The withdrawals were the Brandywine stable's Cochise,.. Walmac farm's Volcanic, William Goetz's Your Host and Mrs. Polly Alexander's Laico.

BOGALUSA LOOKS BIG IN SOUTHEAST

Baton Rouge High Also Looms As Class AA Power This Season

By The Associated Press

Stanley Galloway is a patient man—and that's saying a lot for a football coach.

He arrived at Bogalusa High School in 1942. For two years he had tough going. He waited, steadily improving his squad, until 1946.

Then he let 'em have it with both barrels. He won eight games and lost only two, tying one. In 1947 he came back to win 12 games and lose none, copping the southeast district and state titles. In 1948 one touchdown in the last ten seconds of a game cost him. In 1949 he lost the district playoff with a badly crippled team.

In those years he has had to rebuild so many times that he may be used to it. This year will be no exception.

Bogalusa, the defending southeast district champions, have only three regulars returning — Quarterback Clifton Stringfield, who made the Associated Press All-State team last year, Sid Fournier, a tackle who may run in the backfield this year, and Center Gary Dildy.

Galloway will have a tough time filling in the eight vacant spots. And if there's any bad breaks, two Baton Rouge teams will be around to capitalize on them.

Baton Rouge High lost only two games last year. One was to Bogalusa and the other to Ouachita. Coach Butch Helveston has a terrific backfield lined up. They include Don Turner, Melvin Darouse and Don Dedon. With them will be Bobby Baker, who played against Baton Rouge at McComb, Miss., last year. Baker succeeds the stellar Tubby Watson at quarterback. The line is Helveston's big problem, and he has four holes to fill. If he can plug the gaps, Bogalusa may have to watch out. There are some who are looking to Baton Rouge to succeed Byrd of Shreveport as the state champion.

The other two Baton Rouge teams, Istrouma and Catholic, will have tough sledding, at least during the opening weeks.

Coach James "Big Fuzzy" Brown, has 15 lettermen returning, including all-city end Larry Mobley and back Pete Meliet. Lost are regulars Clyde Badonx at center and guards Homer Martin and Bobby Frenneaux. Brown's backfield looks like Pete McCulley at quarter, L. W. Alexander and James Jones at halfbacks and Dickie Craddock at full. Istrouma finished strong last year and may give somebody a lot of trouble this season.

Grid Ticket Sales Going Good At Jena

Jena, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—A brisk sale was reported this week by Coach Bill Maxwell of season reserved seat tickets for the 1950 grid schedule at Jena High School, with choice seats being greatly in demand.

The reserved seat ducats now are on sale in downtown Jena at Jimmie Wallace's Sporting Goods Store, and from members of the Jena District Athletic association, Coach Maxwell reminded prospective patrons.

"With the opening game of the season on Sept. 8 against Columbia little more than a week off, indications are that a large crowd will be in attendance when our boys take the field against the Crimson Tide," the young grid mentor indicated.

Meanwhile, workmen were speeding completion of the new 1,008-seat stand on the south (visitors) side of the field, assuring more seats for local patrons, as well as followers of the Giants' seven home opponents.

DIMAG GIVES YANKEES PUNCH TO BEAT NATS

Tigers Down White Sox, 8 To 2; Red Hose Defeat A's, 9 To 3

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Jolting Joe DiMaggio drove in five runs on his 24th homer and a pair of singles today to spark the league-leading New York Yankees to a 9-2 triumph over the Washington Senators.

DiMaggio batted in the first five Yank runs. The Clipper homered in the second with the bases empty and followed up with a three-run single in the third to give the Bombers a lead they never relinquished.

Two walks and a hit batsman loaded the bases with two out for the Yanks in the third. DiMaggio blooped a single to right center and before the ball could be returned three Yanks were home.

DiMaggio singed in his fifth run in the seventh inning to start a five run-rally that put the game on ice. Yogi Berra socked his 20th homer to drive home DiMaggio. A single by Johnny Mize, a double by Billy Johnson and a single by Gerry Coleman completed the uprising.

Lefty Joe Ostrowski started for the Yanks and gained credit for the victory, his third. The start was Ostrowski's third since coming to the Yanks from St. Louis on June 1t. Ostrowski left for a pinch-hitter in the sixth after yielding both Washington runs on homers by Ed Yost and Irv Noren. Joe Page finished up, allowing two hits.

Joe Haynes, who blanked St. Louis, last time out, started for Washington and lasted until the seventh when Mickey Harris came on to snuff out the Yank rally.

Morrison Zooms To Fourth Place In Cotton States League Batting

By J. P. Friend

Blytheville, Ark., Sept. 2.—(Special)—With less than a week remaining, Ben (Rosey) Cantrell appears to have the 1950 Cotton States League batting championship all wrapped up and ready for delivery to the Pine Bluff bailiwick.

The Judge veteran finished the period ending August 29 with a .364 average, 16 points better than his nearest competitor, Jack Ramm, also of Pine Bluff, who posted .348, according to the Friend News Service records.

Jim Gilbert, Natchez outfielder, lost five points to .345 in his fight to overtake the leaders, but held on to third place. Len Morrison, Monroe fly chaser, enjoyed a prosperous 25-12 willow week to pick up 10 points and take over fourth with .342, two points in front of Wally Buerger, Greenville gardner, with .340.

Cliff Coggin, Monroe's brilliant star not only became the first league 20-game winner, but took over the winning percentage with 20-5 for .800. Adam Stempkowski, Pine Bluff ace, continues to seek in vain to reach the goal. He won No. 19 August 24, but fell before Natchez five days later for his 12th defeat. No other pitcher appears able to reach the mark. Dan Cuccavo, Hot Springs, has 16-7; John Miskulin, Natchez, 16-10 Rhyne Duren, Pine Bluff has won 15 and lost 6; Bob Loddeke, Greenville, 15-9; Don Rodd, Natchez, 15-10.

Individual averages through Aug. 29:

Bastrop Barons End Season With Camden

Bastrop, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—The Bastrop Barons, who have had a successful season as an independent semi-pro baseball club, will close out their summer campaign against the Camden, Ark., team in games at the new baseball park here Sunday and Monday afternoons. Each game will start at 3 o'clock.

The annual awarding of the American Legion trophy to the man or men who have done most to advance sports in Morehouse parish" will be made prior to the game Monday.

Judge Barnett of Ruston will be on hand to present the trophy, recipient of which will not be named until the ceremony.

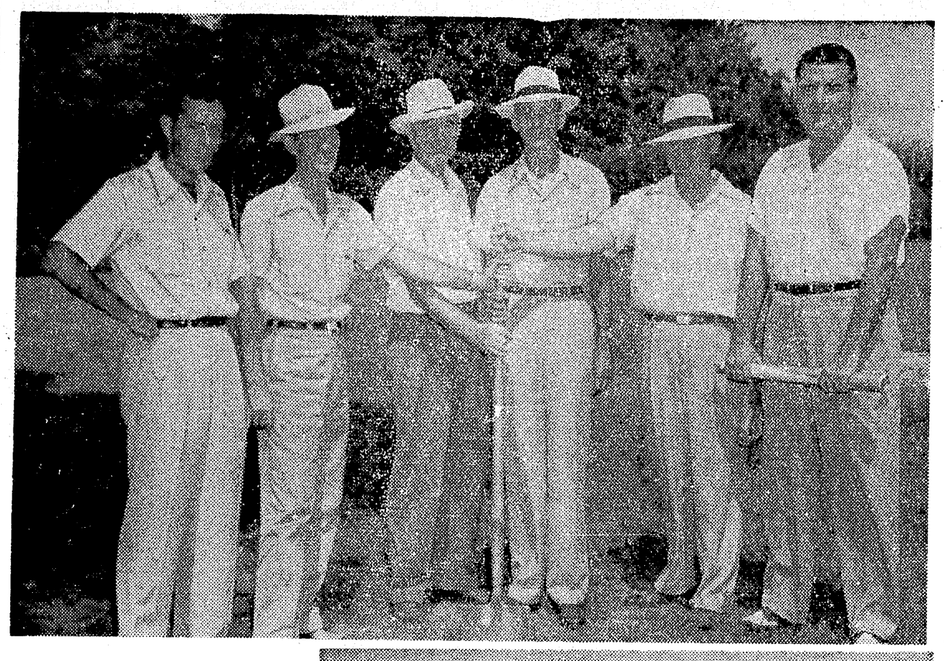
The late W. A. Ober, Jones, won the award last year for his efforts in behalf of Northeast Louisiana League baseball, the building of the ball park at Jones and the promotion of the Bonita-Jones team.

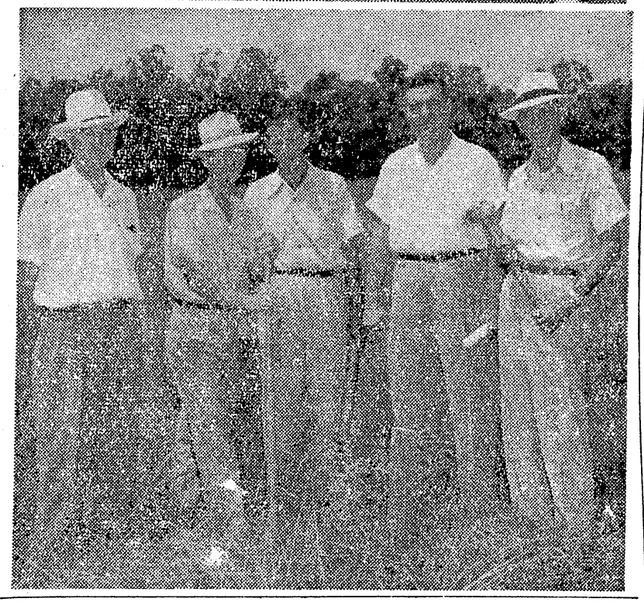
Midget League All-Star Softball Game Cancelled

Plans to play at Midget Softball League All-Star game have been cancelled, Jack Hesketh, director of the Monroe Recreation department, said last night.

It had been planned to have the league All-Stars play Baber's, loop champs, here Tuesday night.

BREAK GROUND FOR TWO PARISH SCHOOLS





Ground was broken the other day for two new schools of the parish system, one to be designated as the Claiborne Community school and the other an elementary school in the Splane addition of West Monroe. In the upper larger picture are shown the ground-breaking group at Claiborne who are as follows: Left to right: Hilton Heard (contractor); J. C. Hislop, (school board member); Merl Padgett (architect); Charlie Wall (school board member); Rev. F. L. Hearne (pastor of Claiborne church) and Mack Avants (parish school superintendent). In the lower smaller picture are shown, left to right: Merl Padgett, J. C. Hislop, Hilton Heard, Mack Avants and Charlie Wall.

PARISH TO GET 2 NEW SCHOOLS

Claiborne And Splane Addth, To Total Cost Of Nearly Quarter Of Million

Ground has just been broken for two elementary schools of the Ouachita parish system, located in Claiborne and the Splane addition of West Monroe.

The Claiborne school will be known as Claiborne Community School, which will have eight classrooms and a cafeteria and bus port terminal for drive ins. This building will be one-story of gray brick veneer with asphalt tile floors set on concrete, acoustic ceilings, flourescent lighting and radiant heating.

The cafeteria will also be so arranged as to serve, when needed, for an auditorium.

Hilton Heard is the contractor and the cost of this building is to be $104,104 and it is to be completed by Sept. 1, 1951.

The Splane addition school will also be an elementary one. It will have 13 classrooms, a general purpose room, a large cafeteria and special bus loading port. Rooms will have outside entrances and plumbing facilities will include toilets for the special use of the first grades. This building will be erected by Hilton Heard at a cost of $144,419. It also is to be completed by Sept. 1, 1951. The construction throughout will be almost identical with that of the Claiborne school.

Mrs. Alford Plans For Selman PTA

Mrs. J. H. Alord, president of Selman Parent-Teacher Association, is planning a full year of work for the coming school year. An executive committee meeting will be held the first week of school to complete plans and to study the kit of tools sent out by the state president, Mrs. J. H. Stringer.

Mrs. Alford has named the following chairmen to work with her for 1950-51: budget and finance, Mrs. Virgil Pilgrim, treasurer; publications, Mrs. Lora B. Hennessey; Hospitality, Mrs. Huddle Grant; Parent-Teacher magazine, Mrs. Normand Strother; program, Mrs. Oscar Crawford; founders' day, Mrs. Floyd Humble; scrap book, Mrs. Frank T. Smith, Jr.; legislation, Mr. Huddle Grant; summer round-up, Mrs. W. W. Thorn; publicity, Mrs. G. B. Wilson; year book, Mrs. Oscar Crawford and Mrs. G. B. Wilson; faculty representative and advisor, Mr. H. Clyde Cook, Sr.; membership and Room Mothers, Mrs. Chester Roberts and Mrs. Joseph Petch; and study group, Mrs. Parker Pinholster and Mrs. Huddle Grant. The various chairmen will select their co-workers from the membership.

UMP MOVES UP

New York, Sept. 2. —(AP)— The contract of Umpire Larry Napp of the International League has been sold to the American League, International League President Frank J. Shaughnessy said today. Napp, a former minor league player, joined the triple A loop last year and will report to his new circuit next spring.

Attlee Says Soviet Won't Receive War Essentials

By Glenn Williams

London, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Britain will not allow her sales of machine tools to Russia "to damage essential defense needs," Prime Minister Attlee declared tonight.

Attlee, in a speech prepared for a nationwide radio fireside chat, dismissed in less than 300 words charges made a week ago by Winston Churchill that British tools are helping build Russian arms and that exported tools sent to the Soviets are the same type as needed in British tank factories.

Attlee hinted, however, that machine tools which have strategic importance may still be going to Russia under contracts signed more than one and one half years ago. But nowhere in his speech did he say that the tools deliveries would be halted.

"Eighteen months ago we took steps to insure that equipment and tools which are regarded as of key importance for strategic purposes should not be exported except in the case of contracts already concluded before that date . . .," he said.

Attlee suggested the way is still open for Russia and the west to settle the increasingly tense cold war.

"The Russian leaders talk a great deal about peace, but their actions cause world wide anxiety" he said. "They could, if they would, lift the cloud of apprehension which hangs over all the peoples of the world, including their own.

"They know quite well that we are prepared at any time to discuss with them fully all differences. It is not a question of method or of places or of persons. All that is required is the will."

He did not, however, propose any definite conference, such as a meeting among himself, Stalin and President Truman.

He said the British people have "no aggressive intentions but every one also knows that they are firmly resolved to defend their own way of life." He added:

"I hope that the rulers of the Kremlin understand both these facts." Then, talking directly to the Russian people, he declared:

"We do not seek to interfere with the internal affairs of Russia. If the Russians believe their system is the best, let them continue to work it out in their own country, if it is so good, let us all see the results."

The shipment of British machine tools to Russia, he said, was being done under a trade agreement "to our mutual benefit."

REPORTED MISSING

Pfc Jack Allbritton (above), son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Allbritton, of Bawcomville, has been missing, his parents are informed, since last August 18 in Korea.

B. P. M. Will Honor Library Reading Club

Brown Paper Mill will honor members of the Ouachita Parish Public Library Summer Reading Club who have earned certificates with a picture show party at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Ouachita Parish high school auditorium.

Miss Frances Flanders, Ouachita parish librarian, asserted that the party is being given for members who have read two books on forestry and 10 additional books during the summer.

"Keep Louisiana Green" has been the reading club's slogan this summer, Miss Flanders said.

Miss Flanders pointed out that anyone having read the required number of books who had not turned in their note books could bring them to the party and be admitted.

Miss Flanders pointed out that 1100 children in Ouachita parish had enrolled in the summer reading club and estimated that more than 500 would participate in the party.

The Children's Book Shop is offering three books as prizes which will be awarded by Miss Julia Wossman at the party. One will go to the child under 10 years of age who has read the most books, another to the club member over 10 years old who has read the most books and a special prize to the Bookmobile child who has read the most books.

Industrial League

TITLE SERIES

Southern Bell and News - Star launch play in the title finals of the Industrial Softball League here Wednesday night.

The opening game of the championship series is scheduled for 8 o'clock on the Barkdull Faulk diamond, and the two clubs square off in their second game at the same hour Friday night on the Sherrouse lot.

Piet Takes Bay Shore 'Cap, Teamaker Second

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Closing with a tremendous rush in the stretch, P. A. Markey's Piet won the 26th edition of the Bay Shore Handicap before 30,032 sweltering fans at Aqueduct today.

Teamaker, coupled with Algasir, as the Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark entry, looked like a sure winner at the sixteenth pole with a three length lead after disposing of the early pace-setter, the Greentree stable's Guillotine. But Piet came tearing down the middle of the strip to win by a length going away in the seven furlong dash.

Another length and a quarter back of Teamaker came the Addison stable's Arise, who also came from far back.

Piet returned mutuels of $15.20, $61.90 and $4.40. Teamaker, the favorite, paid $3.40 and $2.70 and Arise paid $4.50 to show.

OIL AND GAS NEWS

Vast Etex Oil Field May Produce As Much Again

Will Be 19 Years Old Today Or 20 Years Old In October

By Max B. Skelton

Austin, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The nation's most fabulous oil field has a mixed-up birth date.

The vast east Texas field will be 19 years old tomorrow or 20 years old in October.

It all depends on which set of records you read.

The mixup results from confusion accompanying what possibly was the nation's biggest and most trying oil boom.

Actually, C. M. (Dad) Joiner started the field in early October 1930 by finding oil in an east Texas area practically everyone had said held no oil.

By the time the boom, along with martial law, was under way in 1931, geologists had changed their minds and decided the underground reserve might produce as much as 1,000,000,000 barrels.

But east Texas fooled the experts again.

Predictions now are that the field will double this figure before it passes into history.

Records of the oil and gas regulatory commission also place the field's discovery date as September 3, 1931.

Actually, that was the date on which the commission issued its first poduction proration order for the east Texas field.

Eighteen days earlier the Texas National Guard had moved into the field, on orders of Governor Ross S. Sterling, and shut down 1,600 wells.

These wells had sprung up rapidly aftere the Joiner strike. Legal problems prevented enforcement of the state's conservation laws. Markets were flooded with crude oil.

By the time the militia arrived some oil was selling at five cents a barrel.

Sterling had attempted to avert calling out the guard by ordering the state legislature into special session to consider adoption of conservation laws with strong teeth.

Petroleum engineers today offer the east Texas field as the best example of what strict conservation will do for an oil field.

They are confident the unique conservation program carried out in east Texas since 1931 has added hundreds of millions of barrels to the total amount of oil ultimately to be recovered from the field.

The field boomed rapidly for eight years after the National Guard moved out.

By October, 1933, there were 10,836 wells, 14,396 a year later, 18,578 in September 1935, and 23,989 in November 1937.

The key to the east Texas conservation program is bottomhole pressure—the underground reservoir gas pressure which forces the crude oil to the surface without the aid of pumps.

Railroad commission engineers say less than 9,000 of the field's wells are using pumps today. They say operators of hundreds of other wells bought pumps years ago but never have had to use them because conservation has kept the bottomhole pressure high.

Commission records show the field had a very high pressure of 1625-pounds per square inch in late 1930, more than double the 750-pound point at which a well has to be placed on a pump.

The commission has sought to keep the field's pressure slightly abo e 1000 pounds.

The field's lowest pressure point in history was 994.84 pounds per square inch registered in February 1945.

The formula for maintaining the pressure is simple.

Engineers found the pressure dropped when oil was removed from the reservoir at a rapid rate, that it increased as the production rate was slowed down.

As a result, the field was closed on Sundays in 1937. Later it was shut down on Saturdays and Sundays.

Morrison Zooms To Fourth Place In Cotton States League Batting

By J. P. Friend

Blytheville, Ark., Sept. 2.—(Special)—With less than a week remaining, Ben (Rosey) Cantrell appears to have the 1950 Cotton States League batting championship all wrapped up and ready for delivery to the Pine Bluff bailiwick.

The Judge veteran finished the period ending August 29 with a .364 average, 16 points better than his nearest competitor, Jack Ramm, also of Pine Bluff, who posted .348, according to the Friend News Service records.

Jim Gilbert, Natchez outfielder, lost five points to .345 in his fight to overtake the leaders, but held on to third place. Len Morrison, Monroe fly chaser, enjoyed a prosperous 25-12 willow week to pick up 10 points and take over fourth with .342, two points in front of Wally Buerger, Greenville gardner, with .340.

Cliff Coggin, Monroe's brilliant star not only became the first league 20-game winner, but took over the winning percentage with 20-5 for .800. Adam Stempkowski, Pine Bluff ace, continues to seek in vain to reach the goal. He won No. 19 August 24, but fell before Natchez five days later for his 12th defeat. No other pitcher appears able to reach the mark. Dan Cuccavo, Hot Springs, has 16-7; John Miskulin, Natchez, 16-10 Rhyne Duren, Pine Bluff has won 15 and lost 6; Bob Loddeke, Greenville, 15-9; Don Rodd, Natchez, 15-10.

Individual averages through Aug. 29:

Bastrop Barons End Season With Camden

Bastrop, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—The Bastrop Barons, who have had a successful season as an independent semi-pro baseball club, will close out their summer campaign against the Camden, Ark., team in games at the new baseball park here Sunday and Monday afternoons. Each game will start at 3 o'clock.

The annual awarding of the American Legion trophy to the "man or men who have done most to advance sports in Morehouse parish" will be made prior to the game Monday.

Judge Barnett of Ruston will be on hand to present the trophy, recipient of which will not be named until the ceremony.

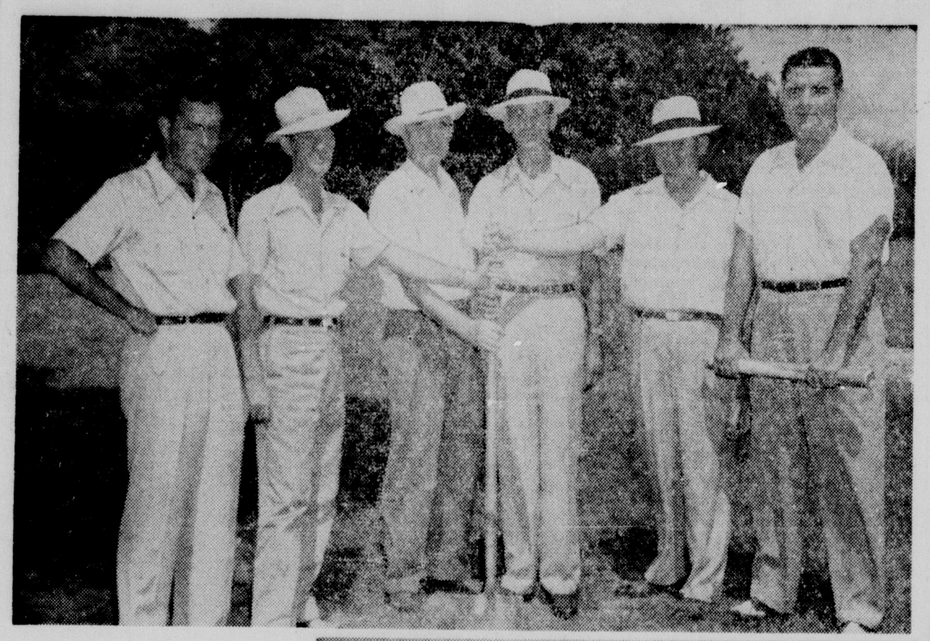
The late W. A. Ober, Jones, won the award last year for his efforts in behalf of Northeast Louisiana League baseball, the building of the ball park at Jones and the promotion of the Bonita-Jones team.

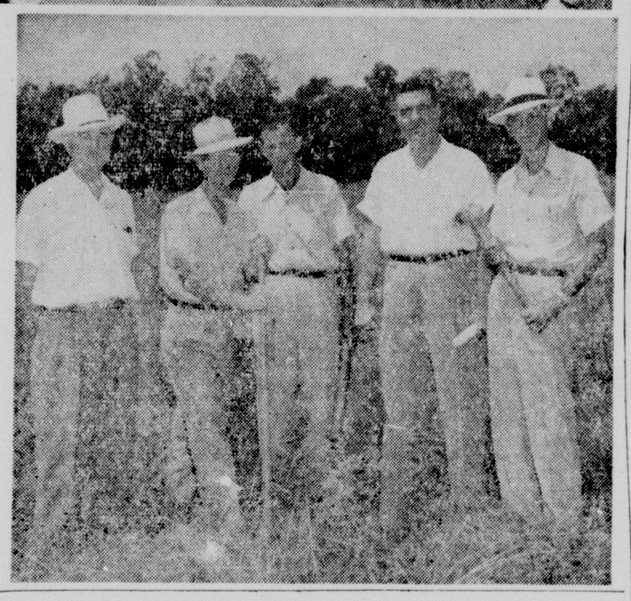
Midget League All-Star Softball Game Cancelled

Plans to play at Midget Softball League All-Star game have been cancelled, Jack Hesketh, director of the Monroe Recreation department, said last night.

It had been planned to have the league All-Stars play Baber's, loop champs, here Tuesday night.

BREAK GROUND FOR TWO PARISH SCHOOLS





Ground was broken the other day for two new schools of the parish system, one to be designated as the Claiborne Community school and the other an elementary school in the Splane addition of West Monroe. In the upper larger picture are shown the ground-breaking group at Claiborne who are as follows: Left to right: Hilton Heard (contractor); J. C. Hislop, (school board member); Merl Padgett (architect); Charlie Wall (school board member); Rev. F. L. Hearne (pastor of Claiborne church) and Mack Avants (parish school superintendent). In the lower smaller picture are shown, left to right: Merl Padgett, J. C. Hislop, Hilton Heard, Mack Avants and Charlie Wall.

PARISH TO GET 2 NEW SCHOOLS

Claiborne And Splane Addth, To Total Cost Of Nearly Quarter Of Million

Ground has just been broken for two elementary schools of the Ouachita parish system, located in Claiborne and the Splane addition of West Monroe.

The Claiborne school will be known as Claiborne Community School, which will have eight classrooms and a cafeteria and bus port terminal for drive ins. This building will be one-story of gray brick veneer with asphalt tile floors set on concrete, acoustic ceilings, flourescent lighting and radiant heating.

The cafeteria will also be so arranged as to serve, when needed, for an auditorium.

Hilton Heard is the contractor and the cost of this building is to be $104,104 and it is to be completed by Sept. 1, 1951.

The Splane addition school will also be an elementary one. It will have 13 classrooms, a general purpose room, a large cafeteria and special bus loading port. Rooms will have outside entrances and plumbing facilities will include toilets for the special use of the first grades. This building will be erected by Hilton Heard at a cost of $144,419. It also is to be completed by Sept. 1, 1951. The construction throughout will be almost identical with that of the Claiborne school.

Mrs. Alford Plans For Selman PTA

Mrs. J. H. Alord, president of Selman Parent-Teacher Association, is planning a full year of work for the coming school year. An executive committee meeting will be held the first week of school to complete plans and to study the kit of tools sent out by the state president, Mrs. J. H. Stringer.

Mrs. Alford has named the following chairmen to work with her fo. 1950-51: budget and finance, Mrs. Virgil Pilgrim, treasurer; publications, Mrs. Lora B. Hennessey; Hospitality, Mrs. Huddle Grant; Parent-Teacher magazine, Mrs. Normand Strother; program, Mrs. Oscar Crawford; founders' day, Mrs. Floyd Humble; scrap book, Mrs. Frank T. Smith, Jr.; legislation, Mr. Huddle Grant; summer round-up, Mrs. W. W. Thorn; publicity, Mrs. G. B. Wilson; year book, Mrs. Oscar Crawford and Mrs. G. B. Wilson; faculty representative and advisor, Mr. H. Clyde Cook, Sr.; membership and Room Mothers, Mrs. Chester Roberts and Mrs. Joseph Petch; and study group, Mrs. Parker Pinholster and Mrs. Huddle Grant. The various chairmen will select their co-workers from the membership.

UMP MOVES UP

New York, Sept. 2. —(AP)— The contract of Umpire Larry Napp of the International League has been sold to the American League, International League President Frank J. Shaughnessy said today. Napp, a former minor league player, joined the triple A loop last year and will report to his new circuit next spring.

Attlee Says Soviet Won't Receive War Essentials

REPORTED MISSING

Pfc Jack Allbritton (above), son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Allbritton, of Bawcomville, has been missing, his parents are informed, since last August 18 in Korea.

By Glenn Williams

London, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Britain will not allow her sales of machine tools to Russia "to damage essential defense needs," Prime Minister Attlee declared tonight.

Attlee, in a speech prepared for a nationwide radio fireside chat, dismissed in less than 300 words charges made a week ago by Winston Churchill that British tools are helping build Russian arms and that exported tools sent to the Soviets are the same type as needed in British tank factories.

Attlee hinted, however, that machine tools which have strategic importance may still be going to Russia under contracts signed more than one and one half years ago. But nowhere in his speech did he say that the tools deliveries would be halted.

"Eighteen months ago we took steps to insure that equipment and tools which are regarded as of key importance for strategic purposes should not be exported except in the case of contracts already concluded before that date . . .," he said.

Attlee suggested the way is still open for Russia and the west to settle the increasingly tense cold war.

"The Russian leaders talk a great deal about peace, but their actions cause world wide anxiety" he said. "They could, if they would, lift the cloud of apprehension which hangs over all the peoples of the world, including their own.

"They know quite well that we are prepared at any time to discuss with them fully all differences. It is not a question of method or of places or of persons. All that is required is the will."

He did not, however, propose any definite conference, such as a meeting among himself, Stalin and President Truman.

He said the British people have "no aggressive intentions but every one also knows that they are firmly resolved to defend their own way of life." He added:

"I hope that the rulers of the Kremlin understand both these facts." Then, talking directly to the Russian people, he declared:

"We do not seek to interfere with the internal affairs of Russia. If the Russians believe their system is the best, let them continue to work it out in their own country, if it is so good, let us all see the results."

The shipment of British machine tools to Russia, he said, was being done under a trade agreement "to our mutual benefit."

B. P. M. Will Honor Library Reading Club

Brown Paper Mill will honor members of the Ouachita Parish Public Library Summer Reading Club who have earned certificates with a picture show party at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Ouachita Parish high school auditorium.

Miss Frances Fianders, Ouachita parish librarian, asserted that the party is being given for members who have read two books on forestry and 10 additional books during the summer.

"Keep Louisiana Green" has been the reading club's slogan this summer, Miss Flanders said.

Miss Flanders pointed out that anyone having read the required number of books who had not turned in their note books could bring them to the party and be admitted.

Miss Flanders pointed out that 1100 children in Ouachita parish had enrolled in the summer reading club and estimated that more than 500 would participate in the party.

The Children's Book Shop is offering three books as prizes which will be awarded by Miss Julia Wossman at the party. One will go to the child under 10 years of age who has read the most books, another to the club member over 10 years old who has read the most books and a special prize to the Bookmobile child who has read the most books.

Industrial League

TITLE SERIES

Southern Bell and News - Star launch play in the title finals of the Industrial Softball League here Wednesday night.

The opening game of the championship series is scheduled for 8 o'clock on the Barkdull Faulk diamond, and the two clubs square off in their second game at the same hour Friday night on the Sherrouse lot.

Piet Takes Bay Shore 'Cap, Teamaker Second

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Closing with a tremendous rush in the stretch, P. A. Markey's Piet won the 26th edition of the Bay Shore Handicap before 30,032 sweltering fans at Aqueduct today.

Teamaker, coupled with Algasir, as the Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark entry, looked like a sure winner at the sixteenth pole with a three length lead after disposing of the early pace-setter, the Greentree stable's Guillotine. But Piet came tearing down the middle of the strip to win by a length going away in the seven furlong dash.

Another length and a quarter back of Teamaker came the Addison stable's Arise, who also came from far back.

Piet returned mutuels of $15.20, $61.90 and $4.40. Teamaker, the favorite, paid $3.40 and $2.70 and Arise paid $4.50 to show.

OIL AND GAS NEWS

Vast Etex Oil Field May Produce As Much Again

Will Be 19 Years Old Today Or 20 Years Old In October

By Max B. Skelton

Austin, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The nation's most fabulous oil field has a mixed-up birth date.

The vast east Texas field will be 19 years old tomorrow or 20 years old in October.

It all depends on which set of records you read.

The mixup results from confusion accompanying what possibly was the nation's biggest and most trying oil boom.

Actually, C. M. (Dad) Joiner started the field in early October 1930 by finding oil in an east Texas area practically everyone had said held no oil.

By the time the boom, along with martial law, was under way in 1931, geologists had changed their minds and decided the underground reserve might produce as much as 1,000,000,000 barrels.

But east Texas fooled the experts again.

Predictions now are that the field will double this figure before it passes into history.

Records of the oil and gas regulatory commission also place the field's discovery date as September 3, 1931.

Actually, that was the date on which the commission issued its first poduction proration order for the east Texas field.

Eighteen days earlier the Texas National Guard had moved into the field, on orders of Governor Ross S. Sterling, and shut down 1,600 wells.

These wells had sprung up rapidly aftere the Joiner strike. Legal problems prevented enforcement of the state's conservation laws. Markets were flooded with crude oi..

By the time the militia arrived some oil was selling at five cents a barrel.

Sterling had attempted to avert calling out the guard by ordering the state legislature into special session to consider adoption of conservation laws with strong teeth.

Petroleum engineers today offer the east Texas field as the best example of what strict conservation will do for an oil field.

They are confident the unique conservation program carried out in east Texas since 1931 has added hundreds of millions of barrels to the total amount of oil ultimately to be recovered from the field.

The field boomed rapidly for eight years after the National Guard moved out.

By October, 1933, there were 10,836 wells, 14,396 a year later, 18,578 in September 1935, and 23,989 in November 1937.

The key to the east Texas conservation program is bottomhole pressure—the underground reservoir gas pressure which forces the crude oil to the surface without the aid of pumps.

Railroad commission engineers say less than 9,000 of the field's wells are using pumps today. They say operators of hundreds of other wells bought pumps years ago but never have had to use them because conservation has kept the bottomhole pressure high.

Commission records show the field had a very high pressure of 1625-pounds per square inch in late 1930, more than double the 750-pound point at which a well has to be placed on a pump.

The commission has sought to keep the field's pressure slightly above 1000 pounds.

The field's lowest pressure point in history was 994.84 pounds per square inch registered in February 1945.

The formula for maintaining the pressure is simple.

Engineers found the pressure dropped when oil was removed from the reservoir at a rapid rate, that it increased as the production rate was slowed down.

As a result, the field was closed on Sundays in 1937. Later it was shut down on Saturdays and Sundays.

AFTER LABOR DAY WHAT?

Then It's Time For Milner-Fuller's Service and Check-up.

When Labor Day has passed, your car has had a whole summer's driving. Lubrication has been used up . . . oil is probably dirty and grimy . . . spark plugs need cleaning and re-gapped . . Ignition points need to be cleaned.

Place your car in competent hands, we'll keep it running smoothly.

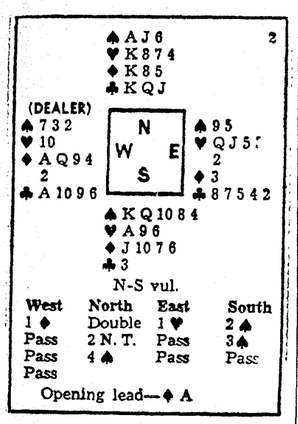
Remember Bidding When Play Starts

By Oswald Jacoby

It is a curious fact that most players forget about the bidding the moment that the play begins. When today's hand was played in a fairly important tournament, the correct defense was found at only two tables. Nevertheless, the facts were there for all of them to see.



West	North	East	South
Pass	2 N. T.	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	Pass Pass

Opening lead—♦ A

At most tables, West opened the ten of hearts, and declarer had easy sailing. He could win in his own hand with the ace of hearts, draw trumps and then knock out the ace of clubs. The contract was therefore easily made with five trump tricks, two hearts, two clubs and a diamond.

At the two tables, however, the West player considered the bidding before making his opening lead. Obviously the opponents had most of the missing high cards. Why then had East bid one heart after North's take-out double?

Such a bid is sometimes made with a hand of moderate strength on the theory that if the bid is not made promptly, the opportunity may not be presented later on. In this case, however, it was obvious that East did not have a hand of moderate strength.

There could be only one reason for East's bid on what was obviously a very weak hand. East must have been so short in diamonds that he was afraid to pass the take-out double for fear that South might pass for penalties.

The two declarers we have referred to therefore laid down the ace of diamonds as their opening lead. They continued with the deuce of diamonds, allowing East to ruff (and simultaneously indicating where the re-entry was).

The deuce of diamonds, the lowest card in the suit, indicated that the re-entry was in a low suit—clubs. (If the entry had been in hearts, the nine of diamonds would have been led at the second trick.) East ruffed the second round of diamonds and carefully returned a club. West won with the ace of clubs and led another diamond, allowing East to ruff again, thus setting the contract.

N. E. REGISTRATION SYSTEM IS GIVEN

Enrollment To Start Sept. 11; Classes To Start Same Week

Opening of the fall semester at Northeast Louisiana State College will get underway with registration beginning Monday, September 11. Regular class work begins Friday and Saturday of that week.

Courses offered for the current school year by the institution, which recently was expanded to a senior college, provide a full pro-program of study for freshman, sophomore and junior class levels.

Additional instructors have been employed to take care of the broadened program and the anticipated increase in enrollment.

Registration for the first term will be carried out in alphabetized procedure for the convenience of students. The two-day enrollment period for freshman opens on September 11 with the following schedule: A-B, 9-10 a.m.; C-D, 10-11 a.m.; E-F, 11-12 a.m.; G-H, 1-2 p.m.; I-J-K, 2-3 p.m.; L-Mc, 3-4 p.m.

Continuing through September 12, the alphabetical arrangement for freshmen follows: M-N, 9-10 a.m.; O-P, 10-11 a.m.; Q-R, 11-12 a.m.; S-T, 1-2 p.m.; U-V-W, 2-3 p.m.; X-Y-, 3-4 p.m.

Enrollment for sophomores and juniors on Wednesday, September 13 is scheduled according to this procedure: A-D, 9-10 a.m.; E-H, 10-11 a.m.; I-Mc, 11-12 a.m.; M-Q, 1-2 p.m.; R-U, 2-3 p.m.; V-, 3-4 p.m.

The increased list of course offerings corresponding to the expansion of the college provides for the continuation of the R. O. T. C. here. Information has not been received as to the exact type of training which the military department will offer since the R. O. T. C. has been placed on a senior basis.

Northeastern officials have been advised by 4th army headquarters regarding the standing of college students with respect to military induction. Students representing 80 per cent of last year's sophomores who participated in the R. O. T. C. are eligible for deferment, announced Lt. Gen. LeRoy Lutes, is to be effective until a permanent policy is established. The status of incoming freshmen who enroll for military training will be announced later, General Lutes said.

The local draft board announced that any person enrolled in college may ask for postponement of induction into military service. The board will secure information regarding the student's standing in college prior to reaching a decision.

CUT WEDDING CAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gill shown cutting their wedding cake following their recent marriage. Mrs. Gill is the former Miss Cecile Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Haynes of West Monroe. Mr. Gill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gill of Alexanria.

Miss Cecile Haynes Lovely Bride Of Mr. Wallace Gill

Among the lovely events of the late summer was the wedding of Miss Cecile Haynes and Mr. Wallace Gill, who spoke their nuptial vows in an impressive double-ring service at the First Methodist Church of Monroe. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Haynes of West Monroe, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gill of Alexandria.

The couple stood before an altar of white gladioli and greenery, with Dr. A. M. Serex, pastor, officiating in the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of Saturday, August 12. The chancel rail, entwined with graceful southern smilax, served as a pretty background for attractive floral arrangements. On either side of the altar were tall seven-branched candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. These were flanked by floor standards overflowing with white gladioli and fern.

A program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Alma Woodham, organist, who also played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional. She accompanied Mrs. A. M. Serex, who sang "Oh Promise Me," and "Oh Perfect Love."

The bride's only attendant was her close friend, Miss Louise Griggs of West Monroe, who served as maid of honor. She was wearing a crisp blue organdy frock with hat and veil of matching hue. Blue shoes completed the colorful effect.

The bride chose for her wedding dress a beautiful white embroidered organdy model fashioned with a fitted bodice, featuring a rolled collar, and joined to a full skirt of street length. Her small white hat was accented by a shoulder-length veil. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white tube roses with white satin streamers. For something old she used a handmade linen handkerchief, trimmed with handmade lace, that had belonged to her late maternal grandmother. Enhancing its sentiment was the fact that it had been carried by several brides in the family.

Immediately after the wedding an informal reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother was wearing a handsome navy blue crepe. The waist was designed with horizontal tucks and trimmed in crystal buttons. She wore white accessories and a corsage of tube roses and asters. Mrs. Gill, mother of the groom, was striking in a gown of navy blue and pink crepe made along soft lines. She chose pink accessories and a corsage of asters in matching hue.

The bride's table, overlaid with a white linen cloth, was centered with an artistic arrangement of white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern. At one end punch was served from a handsome cut-glass bowl and at the other end was a tiered wedding cake, flanked by crystal candelabra. Crystal trays holding a variety of confections were passed among the guests.

Hazel Jean Willis August Bride Of Mr. Ewing Lawrence

The Hodge Baptist Church was the scene Saturday evening at eight o'clock of the wedding of Miss Hazel Jean Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Z. Z. Willis of Hodge, and Mr. Ewing Lawrence of Saline, Louisiana.

The couple exchanged vows before a background of greenery, interspersed with lovely pink roses and baskets of white Gladioli flanked by branched candelabras holding tall slender burning tapers. ers.

Mrs. James Norred at the piano rendered a program of nuptial music prior to the ceremony and while Miss Janice Smith and Miss Colleen Austin lighted the candles. They were becomingly gowned in identical soft green organdy dresses of full, ankle-length skirts, sweetheart necklines and fitted bodice. Their corsages were of white asters. Mrs. Norred accompanied Miss Dorothy Willis, sister of the bride who sang, "I Love Thee Truly."

Miss Gloria Dean Willis served her sister as bridesmaid. Her gown was lovely, blueee shadow organdy, full skirt and little cap sleeves. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mr. Dona Ray Hood served the groom as best man.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kelcy Smith in Hodge. The bride's table was overlaid with a lovely crocheted cloth, centered with a beautiful arrangement of pink roses. The lovely tiered wedding confection embossed with lilies of the valley was at one end of the table and the crystal bowl of punch at the other. Mrs. Byron Philips presided over the crystal bowl of punch. Miss Janice Smith served the cake to the guests after it had been cut by the bridal pair. Mrs. Hugh Maxwell assisted with the serving courtesies of the evening. Miss Ann Lowrey presided over the bride's book. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Saline, Louisiana.

'Greedy Drillers' Opposed By Brooks

Washington, Sept. 2—(AP)—Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) said yesterday he doesn't want "a bunch of greedy companies" drilling Barksdale air base, near Shreveport, La., for oil and gas.

An interior department official said that the air force wants to transfer jurisdiction over oil and gas deposits in parts of the field's bombing and gunnery range to the interior department.

The official explained that when this happens, the department's bureau of land management could grant leases for development of mineral wealth in the land.

Before leaving for Louisiana, Brooks said he was "unalterably opposed" to the transfer and had delivered a protest to Secretary of Interior Chapman.

CUT WEDDING CAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gill shown cutting their wedding cake following their recent marriage. Mrs. Gill is the former Miss Cecile Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Haynes of West Monroe. Mr. Gill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gill of Alexanria.

Among the lovely events of the late summer was the wedding of Miss Cecile Haynes and Mr. Wallace Gill, who spoke their nuptial vows in an impressive double-ring service at the First Methodist Church of Monroe. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Haynes of West Monroe, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gill of Alexandria.

The couple stood before an altar of white gladioli and greenery, with Dr. A. M. Serex, pastor, officiating in the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of Saturday, August 12. The chancel rail, entwined with graceful southern smilax, served as a pretty background for attractive floral arrangements. On either side of the altar were tall seven-branched candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. These were flanked by floor standards overflowing with white gladioli and fern.

A program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Alma Woodham, organist, who also played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional. She accompanied Mrs. A. M. Serex, who sang "Oh Promise Me," and "Oh Perfect Love."

The bride's only attendant was her close friend, Miss Louise Griggs of West Monroe, who served as maid of honor. She was wearing a crisp blue organdy frock with hat and veil of matching hue. Blue shoes completed the colorful effect.

The bride chose for her wedding dress a beautiful white embroidered organdy model fashioned with a fitted bodice, featuring a rolled collar, and joined to a full skirt of street length. Her small white hat was accented by a shoulder-length veil. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white tube roses with white satin streamers. For something old she used a handmade linen handkerchief, trimmed with handmade lace, that had belonged to her late maternal grandmother. Enhancing its sentiment was the fact that it had been carried by several brides in the family.

Immediately after the wedding an informal reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother was wearing a handsome navy blue crepe. The waist was designed with horizontal tucks and trimmed in crystal buttons. She wore white accessories and a corsage of tube roses and asters. Mrs. Gill, mother of the groom, was striking in a gown of navy blue and pink crepe made along soft lines. She chose pink accessories and a corsage of asters in matching hue.

The bride's table, overlaid with a white linen cloth, was centered with an artistic arrangement of white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern. At one end punch was served from a handsome cut-glass bowl and at the other end was a tiered wedding cake, flanked by crystal candelabra. Crystal trays holding a variety of confections were passed among the guests.

Presiding at the punch bowl was the bride's cousin, Mrs. Fredna Moore, who wore a printed silk dress. Serving the wedding cake was Mrs. Hank Fox, of Dallas, also a cousin of the bride. Her daughter, Miss Cecile Travers, of Dallas, presided over the bride's book. Both wore identical dresses of black and white nylon.

After the reception, Mrs. Gill changed her wedding gown for a smart green and white pique frock for travel. Following a honeymoon in Galveston and Houston, the couple are now residing at 807 Bres avenue of this city.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and she attended Northeast Junior College for two years. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lecompte High School, Lecompte, La. He served four and one-half years in the U. S. navy.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding included: Mrs. Connie Petrus, Connie Lee Petrus, and Gertrude Gaines, all of Bastrop, La. AUGUST BRIDE

CHURCH CEREMONY UNITES BARBARA NELL RAMSEY AND CECIL HARRIS

The First Baptist Church, Columbia, Louisiana, was the scene of a beautiful and impressive wedding on Saturday, 26 August at 5:30 o'clock when Miss Barbara Nell Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Ramsey, became the bride of Cecil L. Harris of Shreveport, Louisiana.

The Rev. J. D. Kitchingham read the marriage service. The vows were spoken before the altar which was adorned with Southern Smilax, fern, gladiolus, and against the background of greenery were white baskets of pale pink asters, gladiolus and fern, and cathedral candelabra with white tapers.

The nuptial music was rendered at the organ by Mrs. Earl Harris. Preceding the ceremony and lighting of the candles, Mrs. Harris played several pre-nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. L. B. Jarrell who sang, "Because" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told".

For something old the bride wore the gold locked given her maternal grandmother by her groom on their wedding day. For something borrowed she placed a $2.50 gold piece in her shoe worn by her paternal grandmother when she was married.

Miss Charlotte Ann Brown, Columbia, Louisiana, niece of the bride was maid of honor, and Miss Mary Nell Thrasher, Arcadia, Louisiana, and Miss Nell Rose Moody, Cotton Valley, Louisiana, were bridesmalds. All were attired in imported organdy, Miss Brown's of yellow, Misses Thrasher and Moodys blue over matching taffeta slips, with mitts and sash to match. Each wore in their chaplet of organdy ruffles and matching flowers. They carried bouquets of baby asters stitched upon a French Maline fan with long satin streamers.

Ushers were Stancil Ramsey, Liberty, Texas, brother of the bride and Billy Mathews, Monroe, Louisiana.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ramsey chose a navy blue crepe with rose accessories. Her corsage was of rose baby asters.

Mrs. Harris, the groom's mother, wore a light blue crepe with pink accessories and she also had a corsage of pink baby asters.

At a reception in the social room of the church the guest were greeted by Mrs. Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Harris and members of the wedding party.

The brides table was overlaid with pink rose buds and topped with a miniature bride and groom, under a archway of orange blossoms. On either side of the cake were tall white candles burning in silver candelabra. Miss Frances Gartman presided at the punch bowl while Miss Carolyn Lee served the cake. Miss Odel Rose Rogers played soft music. Mrs. Gregory Wilson registered the guest in the brides book.

After the reception the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to an unannounced destination. For traveling Mrs. Harris wore a brown suit smartly styled. Her blouse was blue, the same shade was featured in the decor of her brown velvet hat, her accessories were brown. Her orchid corsage completed the striking ensemble.

After the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Harris will make their home at 902 South Jones Street, Ruston, Louisiana.

The bride is a graduate of the Columbia high school. This fall she will enter her senior year at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

The groom is a graduate of Shreveport High School and received his B. S. Degree from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, Louisiana. He is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity; was in Who's Who 1949-1950 and member of the Omercron Delta Kappa Honorary Fraternity.

MISS LYDIA ANN JARMAN BRIDE OF WILLIAM AUBREY PARKER, JR.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edmund Jarman of Lafayette, formerly of this city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lydia Ann, to Mr. William Aubrey Parker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Aubrey Parker, Sr., of Baton Rouge. The ceremony took place on Saturday, September 2 at 3:30 p. m. at the home of the bride in the presence of the immediate families. The Rev. W. L. Stagg, Jr. of Pineville, La. officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by Dr. R. L. Holmes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lafayette.

The living room and dining room were decorated for the occasion with white gladioli, stock, feverfew, and baby gardenias. The bay window in the living room formed the setting for the ceremony.

The bride wore wine and dusty rose satin with black accessories and an orchid corsage. The bride's mother was in black crepe with a corsage of peach glamellias, and the mother of the groom wore beige crepe with yellow glamellias.

A small reception was held immediately following the ceremony and the couple cut the tiered wedding cake before leaving for the Ozarks on their wedding trip. On their return, they will reside in Baton Rouge where the groom is attending Louisiana State University.

The bride graduated from Neville High school where she was a member of Lambda Sigma Chi and Delta Beta Sigma sororities, and attended Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Baton Rouge high school, and will graduate from L. S. U. in February. He is a member of Scabbard and Blade, Samurai Interfraternity, and Sigma Chi social fraternity.

Troopers To Patrol On 24-Hour Basis

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—State troopers will patrol Louisiana highways on a 24-hour basis during the Labor Day week end, Director of Public Safety Goldman Grant announced today.

"State police patrols will be maintained on all main-traveled highways on a 24-hour basis until the Labor Day week end is over," he said, adding:

"We will do everything possible to protect lives and property. We hope to continue the progress we have made this year in cutting down the holiday accident traffic toll."

Colonel Grant urged motorists to exercise "extreme caution."

"It's better to lose a minute than to lose a life," he said.

For most state employes, the long holiday began today and will not end until they return to work Tuesday, the day after Labor Day. State offices are closed on Saturdays, except for skeleton crews in some cases.

AUGUST BRIDE

The First Baptist Church, Columbia, Louisiana, was the scene of a beautiful and impressive wedding on Saturday, 26 August at 5:30 o'clock when Miss Barbara Nell Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Ramsey, became the bride of Cecil L. Harris of Shreveport, Louisiana.

The Rev. J. D. Kitchingham read the marriage service. The vows were spoken before the altar which was adorned with Southern Smilax, fern, gladiolus, and against the background of greenery were white baskets of pale pink asters, gladiolus and fern, and cathedral candelabra with white tapers.

The nuptial music was rendered at the organ by Mrs. Earl Harris. Preceding the ceremony and lighting of the candles, Mrs. Harris played several pre-nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. L. B. Jarrell who sang, "Because" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told".

For something old the bride wore the gold locked given her maternal grandmother by her groom on their wedding day. For something borrowed she placed a $2.50 gold piece in her shoe worn by her paternal grandmother when she was married.

Miss Charlotte Ann Brown, Columbia, Louisiana, niece of the bride was maid of honor, and Miss Mary Nell Thrasher, Arcadia, Louisiana, and Miss Nell Rose Moody, Cotton Valley, Louisiana, were bridesmaids. MISS JULIA MARIE THOMPSON WEDS WILLIAM A. JIMERSON IN JONESBORO

White baskets of white gladioli and white tuberoses and woodland fern interspersed with slender burning white tapers in branched candlebras, set a beautiful scene for the wedding of Miss Julia Marie Thompson and Mr. William A. Jimerson in the Jonesboro Methodist church Sunday afternoon at one thirty o'clock August 20th.

While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Charles Thompson and W. H. Jones, Jr., Mrs. Howard Hearn at the organ played a program of nuptial music. She rendered "Consolation" by Mendlessohn and "Serenade" by Schubert while Miss Katherine Jimerson, sister of the bridegroom lighted the candles. Her dress was of ice - blue, off - the shoulder organdy. She wore a bandeau of blue asters in her hair. The long, slender, lighted taper was artistically decorated with a lacy rosette centered with a soft satin bow and a miniature wedding bell. Mrs. Hearne accompanied Mrs. S. O. Sommers who sang beautifully "Because" by Guy d'Hardelot and "always" by Irving Berlin. "Traumeral" by Schuman was softly played while the Rev. A. A. McKnight pastor of the church heard the double-ring wedding vows. Traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Thompson of Jonesboro, and the bridgegroom is the son of Mr. Dave Jimerson and the late Mrs. Jimerson of Quitman. Both are graduates of Louisiana Tech.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. W. H. Jones, Jr., who served as matron of honor. Mrs. Jones was becomingly attired in a soft pink organdy over taffeta with a fitted bodice and ballerina length full skirt, soft pink ribbon at the waist line. She carried a colonial bouquet made of rows of pink and blue asters and one pink beauty aster was placed in the center, ruffled in blue maline and cascades of satin ribbon.

The bride entering on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage was lovely for her wedding in a bouffant length skirt of white shadow organdy over white taffeta and it fell in voluminous folds in slimmering lines. The fitted bodice of cobwebby Chantilly lace featured a sweetheart neckline and little cap sleeves edged in dainty lace.

The chapel length veil of French diaphanous illusion flowed from a Juliet brocaded cap. Her pointed mitts were of sheer organdy and she chose slippers of white satin. For her flowers she carried garlands of white tuberoses, clustered on the white Bible and topped with a specimen white orchid from which fell cascaded white streamers caught with fleur de mour and tuberoses.

Mr. John Earl Jimerson, brother of the bridegroom served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Thompson chose a black sheer dress and her corsage was of white carnations and tuberoses.

Mrs. Cora Vail, of Quitman, grandmother of the bridegroom, in whose home he had been since his mother's death when he was a small boy, chose a becoming dress of soft green, her corsage was of white carnations and white tuberoses.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents in Jonesboro. The bride's table was laid with a lovely handmade cutwork cloth centered with a crystal bowl of white carnations and white asters interspersed with maiden hair fern and flanked on either side with crystal candleholders of slender burning tapers artistically decorated with lacy medallions and centered with satin ribbon holding miniature wedding bells.

The three tiered wedding confection, embossed in soft pink rosebuds and topped with a bridal pair, was placed at one end of the table. The crystal bowl of punch was at the other. Miss Effie Smart poured the punch and Mrs. W. H. Jones, Jr. served the cake to the guests after it had been cut by the bride and bridegroom. Mrs. A. L. Weeks presided over the gifts. Miss Katherine Jimerson had charge of the bride's book, and Mrs. Ernest Bishop and Mrs. J. Briehn assisted with the courtesies of the afternoon.

Through the reception rooms white gladiola and white carnations and ferns were used at vantage points. The piano held a lovely arrangement of white carnations and tuberoses in the center. On one end the bride placed her bouquet. The maid of honors bouquet was placed at the opposite end.

Later the couple left for a short wedding trip, Mrs. Jimerson chose for traveling a becoming figured taffeta suit of dusty rose with tiny covered buttons gracefuly down the fitted front of the jacket. She pinned the orchid corsage from her bouquet on her shoulder and her accessories were white. The couple will be at home on North Cooper street in Jonesboro.

Jena Men Named By Grand Conclave

Jena, La., Sept. 2—(Special)—Two members of the Jena chapter of the Order of DeMolay were elected to grand offices at the recent grand conclave held in Bogalusa.

Jerry Hendryx was elected grand preceptor of the order in Louisiana and C. J. Dyer was elected grand standard bearer.

Delegates and members from DeMolay chapters throughout La. attended the grand conclave and the members from Jena reported an excellent program of entertainment was arranged by the Bogalusa chapter for the visitors.

MEN IN ARMED FORCES

Norman D. Head of Newellton, a member of the air reserve, was recalled to active duty this week and processed at Brooks Air Force base in San Antonio for assignment to a regular air force unit.

With prior military service, Head became active in reserve training after he was discharged in 1948.

Recall to active duty is due to a government plan to bring its air force units to full strength.

Head is the son of C. N. Head, also of Newellton. He has been an engineering student at the Louisiana State University.

Half of all traffic fatalities occur at intersections of streets and highways.

Bob Thomas: IN MOVIELAND

Hollywood, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Frankie Parker, longtime tennis star, is thinking of giving up the courts for the movie sets.

"I feel I have about two more good tennis years in me yet," said the handsome athlete, who is 34. "But a married fellow has to look to a more stable future and I hope to find it in pictures."

At present, Parker is playing a reporter in "Ace in the Hole," but he doesn't aim for an acting career. He has been chatting with Producer-Director Billy Wilder about a job in the production end. Before the war Parker was an assistant director in the special effects department at MGM.

Saturday Sidelights. . . . Few stars of today have much perspective on Hollywood history. Robert Ryan is an exception. In his new dressing room at RKO, he has put up photographs of three movie pioneers—Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., D. W. Griffith and Charlie Chaplin. "I figure those are the three men who made our industry what it is," he explains. . . .

Further evidence that movie audiences are smarter than ever: The new film "711 Ocean Drive" has a final chase through the inner passages of Hoover dam. When I saw the film, a patron behind me likened it to the chase through Vienna sewers in "The Third Man." "Why don't they think up something new," he said. Note to producers: No more chases through the plumbing. . . .

Far be it from Hollywood to undergo a good thing. You'll soon see two pictures inspired by the Kathy Fiscus tragedy—"Three Secrets" and "Ace in the Hole." And in each picture the newspaperman is the villain. Aw, com on, fellas.

The publicity directors of all the studios have issued a call to the major talent and executive guilds for aid in stopping "irresponsible publicity sources." The head press agents say they want to "help protect the press against undependable channels of news."

I can appreciate their desire to improve the publicity coming out of Hollywood. But I don't dig that line about protecting the press. If you don't mind, gents, I'd prefer to do my own open-field running without the aid of downfield blocking.

MANY NEW BOOKS ADDED TO OUACHITA PARISH LIBRARY

One of the first signs of fall is a renewed activity in the publishing world. During the past two weeks many new and exciting books have been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. One of the best books that has appeared in a long time is a historical novel "The Merchant of the Ruby" by Alice Harwood. The scene of this story is England and the time is the end of the 15th century during the reign of Henry VII. The story is based on the adventures of Perkin Warbeck, pretender to the English throne, who pretended to be Richard, Duke of York, son of Edward IV, who had disappeared from the Tower of London with his brother Edward. This is one of the most romantic and intriguing stories of English history. Miss Harwood has done full justice to the tale and has made it come alive. People who read "The Goldsmith's wife" by Jean Plaidy will be especially interested in the two stories. The remarkable fact is that Miss Plaidy and Miss Harwood interpret them in the same manner. If you are at all interested in English history you will love "The Merchant of the Ruby."

Frank Yerby writes books that can not be called great but that do make interesting light reading. His latests offering is called "Floodtide" and is laid in Natchez. As usual he has his two heroines, one a lady and the other one, hard to define. This book will be widely read by those who want an exciting book.

"Owen Glen" by Ben Ames Williams has been acclaimed by some critics as his finest novel. It is a moving story with a setting in an Ohio mining town during the last decade of the 19th century. It tells the story of Owen Glen, Welsh miners son and the growing power of labor. It is a powerful story of the growth of one part of American life.

"The Spanish gardener" by A. J. Cronin is different from anything he has written before .This is a story of the frustration of Harrington Brande on being sent to a minor port of Spain as consul. How he tries to dominate the life of his frail nine-year old son Nicholas and the ends he uses to break up the friendship between Nicholas and the Spanish gardener are almost unbelievable. This story deals a great deal with twisted psychology, but is one that will be long remembered, if you read it.

"A Game for Empires" by Pearl Frye is a closely authenticated biographical novel of young Horatio Nelson, and his progress to recognition as a naval genius. This is a book that those who love a genuine sea story will want to read. Followers of the Hornblower stories by C. S. Forester will especially want this one. This book deals with his naval career and shows his three days spent with Lady Hamilton, merely as an unfortunate episode.

"The House of Breath" by William Goyen is an exquisitely written and often brilliant first novel by a young Texan whose short stories have appeared in many of the very literary magazines. It is set in the town of Charity, Texas and treats of the town, the Ganchion house and the river and endows them with almost human qualities. It is not a book which will be widely popular, because everyone either dies or moves away, but it is a very sensitive and creative book which is apt to provoke a good deal of critical attention.

"Melody" by Elswyth Thane is also different from her usual type of book. It is the story of Adrian Locke a successful portrait painter, who has managed to remain a bachelor. How an old love returned and what happened makes a light and frothy novel of no great depth.

Emily Hahn who startled convention several years ago with her "China to Me" and has been trying to live it down ever since, has written a novel which she calls "Purple Passage". It is based on the life of the 17th century novelist, Aphra Behn. Aphra, who lived ahead of her time was convinced that women were equal to men and wrecked her own life proving it. This is a vivid recreation of the period and will be widely read, especially by women.

If you are interested in any the books mentioned call your branch of the library and ask to have your name put on the list for the book you want. It is the aim of the library to supply the books the people want and we are eager to hear from you.

MISS JULIA MARIE THOMPSON WEDS WILLIAM A. JIMERSON IN JONESBORO

White baskets of white gladioli and white tuberoses and woodland fern interspersed with slender burning white tapers in branched candlebras, set a beautiful scene for the wedding of Miss Julia Marie Thompson and Mr. William A. Jimerson in the Jonesboro Methodist church Sunday afternoon at one thirty o'clock August 20th.

While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Charles Thompson and W. H. Jones, Jr., Mrs. Howard Hearn at the organ played a program of nuptial music. She rendered "Consolation" by Mendlessohn and "Serenade" by Schubert while Miss Katherine Jimerson, sister of the bridegroom lighted the candles. Her dress was of ice - blue, off - the shoulder organdy. She wore a bandeau of blue asters in her hair. The long, slender, lighted taper was artistically decorated with a lacy rosette centered with a soft satin bow and a miniature wedding bell. Mrs. Hearne accompanied Mrs. S. O. LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

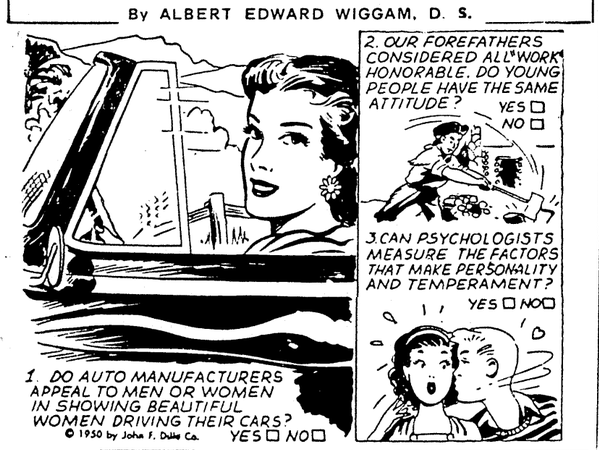
By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.



Answer to Question No. 1

1. Women, according to Psychologist Mel S. Hattwick, in his fascinating book, "How to Use Psychology for Better Advertising." He points out that manufacturers must get wifey to prod hubby into buying the new car. So they feature a lovely gal at the wheel, and pronto, the wife identifies herself as that gal. She pictures herself driving past Mrs. Jones' with lovely hat, flying scarf, etc. We see ourselves as we want others to see us! Good advertisers know this.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No so strongly. Psychologists and sociologists of the University of Kentucky had 235 high school students check numerous statements about "work." Analysis revealed that 40 per cent of the students preferred to make money by luck or to receive it as a gift than to "work" for it. One-half thought "most work rewarding." A majority disagreed with the old concepts of the "honorableness" of work. Half said they would do just what was expected of them but not an ounce more.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Psychologist L. L. Thurstone, University of Chicago, has outlined seven separate basic factors of personality. 1. "A pressure for activity" 2. "Masculinity" 3. "Impulsiveness" 4. "Dominance" 5. "Emotional Stability" 6. "Sociability" 7. "Reflectiveness." If high in these you are one kind of person, if low, another kind. Our booklet "How To Be Popular" will improve your personality all around. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed stamped envelope.

Emergency Fund Resolution Signed

Washington, Sept. 2. — (AP) — President Truman today signed a resolution to permit the Pentagon to begin spending the $16,700,000,000 provided in emergency military appropriations yet to be passed by the senate.

Congress passed the resolution after being advised by chairman of the appropriatons committees that the money in the bill is needed now.

It is expected that the emergency measure will become law around the middle of September. It passed the house August 26.

Discussion in the senate has centered on an allotment of $4,000,000,000 of foreign arms aid. Defense officials have said half of that money is earmarked for tanks, artillery and modern aircraft to withstand a mechanized assault.

Just how the weapons themselves are to be divided has not been disclosed, but Secretary of Defense Johnson told the senate appropriations committee that out of the whole $4,000,000,000 north Atlantic treaty countries get $3,504,000,000, with the rest for Greece, Turkey, Iran and the far east.

QUITMAN

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson had as their guests this week end, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Hawkins and son, Harold Gene, and Mrs. C. H. Kyle all of Bastrop.

Mrs. Alton Stringer was called to the bedside of her father who is seriously ill in Bastrop.

Mrs. Stringer was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Murray of Quitman.

Mrs. Clarence Wilkerson and daughter, Toni of Beaumont and Mrs. "Red" McQueen of Alexandria are the guests of their parents this week, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nash.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Hinton were the guests of their brother-in-law, Mr. Allin Holston who is a patient of the Veterans' Hospital in Alexandria Monday evening. Mr. Allin's condition is still termed as being critical. They also visited Mr. Drew Jimerson and Mr. Joe Shovan who are also patients of the Veterans' Hospital.

Friends regret that the condition of Mr. Willis Harvey is much worse. Mr. Harvey is now a patient of the McDonald Clinic in Jonesboro and his son "Sonny" Harvey, who left for service in the navy three weeks ago and is now stationed in San Diego, has been called to the bedside of his father.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Black, Mrs. Drew Jimerson, Mrs. Joe Shovan and daughter, Mrs. Billy Hargrove and her little daughter, and Mrs. Lee Wilkerson were guests of Mr. Drew Jimerson and Mr. Joe Shovan Sunday who are patients of the Veterans' Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey had as their week-end guests their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bailey.

Flynn and LaDell Stewart, who have been making their homes in California, where Mr. LaDell Stewart is a premedical student and Mr. Flynn Stewart is employed, are now guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stewart of Quitman. LaDell will attend school at L. S. U. this term to obtain work he is unable to get at the college in California.

Mrs. Thelma McConathy and son George and Mrs. Frankie Malinski and little "Sonny" Pilcher visited relatives and friends in Shreveport Tuesday.

A revival is in progress at the Quitman Methodist Church with the Rev. W. H. Akin pastor of the church bringing the series of services which begin at eight o'clock each evening. The revival began Friday night, August 18, and will continue through August 27. A Bible study course is being taught each morning from nine o'clock until ten. The Rev. Akin cordially invites you to attend one or all of these services.

Miss Willie Mae Meeks of Ruston was the guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drew Jimerson Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Quick had as their week-end guest their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Walker of Homer.

Friends are happy that Mrs. James Norred has returned to her home in Quitman after being a patient in a Jonesboro Clinic for several days.

Mrs. Drew Jimerson visited her husband in the Veteran's Hospital in Alexandria this week end. Mr. Jimerson has been a patient in the Veteran's Hospital the past two weeks suffering from a bronchial disorder. Local operations were performed Wednesday.

Mr. Joe Shovan who has been a patient of the Veterans' Hospital in Alexandria visited his home near Quitman this week end but returned to the hospital Sunday for further treatment. His condition is much improved.

Mr. Edd Vail returned to his home in Alexandria Saturday after spending several days as guest of his brothers, Gilbert and G. B. W. Vail of Quitman and other relatives and friends in Ruston. Mr. Vail is employed by the Veterans Hospital as Gate Keeper where he has worked for the past ten years.

Friends regret that Mrs. Allin Holsten of Ruston who is a patient in Veterans' Hospital in Alexandria is critically ill. Mr. Holsten has been a patient there for the past several months. His wife is the former Miss Ruby Hinton of Quitman.

Friends regret to learn that Mr. Harold McConathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McConathy of Quitman is ill and now confined to the Jackson Mississippi Hospital. His friends wish to him a complete and speedy recovery.

Mrs. Cleo McConathy was among those receiving their degree from Louisiana Tech this semester. Mrs. McConathy majored in Education and is a member of the Quitman High School Faculty, where she has taught a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Loventhaul and daughter of New Orleans were guests of relatives and friends in Quitman and Jonesboro this week end.

Residence Turned Into Giant Toaster

Unity, N. H., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Lightning turned the home of Russell Schultz into a giant toaster yesterday.

The first indication that there was something wrong came to Schultz when he tried to get out of bed. He was thrown back again and again as he placed his feet on the floor.

Finally, he reached the cellar in heavy rubber-soled shoes. He was tossed several feet when he threw a master switch. The lights stayed on. His wife was knocked across the kitchen when she brushed against an oil stove.

"The house was like a giant toaster," Schultz said. "All the wires in the walls were overheated. About 2,300 volts of electricity were coming into the house instead of the usual 110."

Electric company officials broke the circuit. Lineman Daniel L. Croke said lightning was the cause.

"Lightning does some pretty queer things," he said. "It s hard to explain them sometimes."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Women, according to Psychologist Mel S. Hattwick, in his fascinating book, "How to Use Psychology for Better Advertising." He points out that manufacturers must get wifey to prod hubby into buying the new car. So they feature a lovely gal at the wheel, and pronto, the wife identifies herself as that gal. She pictures herself driving past Mrs. Jones' with lovely hat, flying scarf, etc. We see ourselves as we want others to see us! Good advertisers know this.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No so strongly. Psychologists and sociologists of the University of Kentucky had 235 high school students check numerous statements about "work." Analysis revealed that 40 per cent of the students preferred to make money by luck or to receive it as a gift than to "work" for it. One-half thought "most work rewarding." A majority disagreed with the old concepts of the "honorableness" of work. Half said they would do just what was expected of them but not an ounce more.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Psychologist L. L. Thurstone, University of Chicago, has outlined seven separate basic factors of personality. 1. "A pressure for activity" 2. "Masculinity" 3. "Impulsiveness" 4. "Dominance" 5. "Emotional Stability" 6. "Sociability" 7. "Reflectiveness." If high in these you are one kind of person, if low, another kind. Our booklet "How To Be Popular" will improve your personality all around. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed stamped envelope.

Emergency Fund Resolution Signed

Washington, Sept. 2. — (AP) — President Truman today signed a resolution to permit the Pentagon to begin spending the $16,700,000,000 provided in emergency military appropriations yet to be passed by the senate.

Congress passed the resolution after being advised by chairman of the appropriatons committees that the money in the bill is needed now.

It is expected that the emergency measure will become law around the middle of September. It passed the house August 26.

Discussion in the senate has centered on an allotment of $4,000,000,000 of foreign arms aid. Defense officials have said half of that money is earmarked for tanks, artillery and modern aircraft to withstand a mechanized assault.

Just how the weapons themselves are to be divided has not been disclosed, but Secretary of Defense Johnson told the senate appropriations committee that out of the whole $4,000,000,000 north Atlantic treaty countries get $3,504,000,000, with the rest for Greece, Turkey, Iran and the far east.

SAFETY PRECAUTION

To combat the danger of carbon monoxide gas, there should be a circulation of fresh air through an automobile, whether it is idling or in actual traffic use.

Laws in some states require that cars on the road maintain spaces between them of one car length for each 10 miles per hour of speed.

APRONS FOR YOURSELF OR FOR GIFTS

By Sue Burnett

Every homemaker loves to have a plentiful supply of aprons on hand—for all the chores about the house and to slip on when company comes. And for gifts, too, as Mrs. H. J. Ferguson suggests in her letter. "I often pick up remnants of gay cottons and make aprons for my friends. Will you show me some styles that are suitable?"

Pattern No. 8524 is a sew-rite perforated pattern in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 14, bib apron, 2 3/8 yards. of 36 or 39 inch; half apron, 1 5/8 yards.

Two separate patterns, 25 cents each.

For these patterns, send 25 cents, in coins, for each pattern ordered, your name, address, sizes desired, and the pattern number to Sue Burnett, Morning World, 1150 Ave. Americas, New York 19, N. Y.

Ready for you now—the new fall and winter issue of Fashion. 48 pages of smart new styles, special interesting features, free pattern printed inside. Send 25 cents today for your copy.

James Marlow:

THE NATION TODAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the twelfth and last in a series explaining the big changes in the social security program.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—There are four main social security programs: Old-age and survivors' insurance (pension system). Public assistance (relief for needy people), services for children, and unemployment insurance.

In improving social security, congress has made the biggest changes in old-age and survivors' insurance. But it did not overlook the other three. Here they are, with the changes made:

1. Public assistance. There were three parts to this: Aid for the needy old, needy blind, and dependent children. Congress has added one more: Aid for totally and permanently disabled, under 65 and in need.

A. Old age assistance. Federal government and state together put up the money for people over 65, in need. They pay no tax for this. About 2,768,000 old people get it. Average age: 74.

Average payment to each: $45 a month, ranging from $19 in Mississippi to $71 in California. Total yearly cost: $1,438,000,000. Federal government's share: $793,000,000. Congress voted no extra money for this.

B. Dependent children. To help children when there's no parent to support them, by keeping them out of orphanages, giving them some kind of home life. To receive aid, child must live with some relative, such as surviving mother.

Getting this help: About 1,628,000 children a year. Federal government and states put up the money. Payment to children: $521,000,000. Government's share: $227,000,000. Congress voted an additional $79,000,000 a year.

Also new: Before only children got the money. Now the caretaker—for instance, widowed mother—will get a payment. Average payment per family now: Around $75 monthly, ranging from $26 in Mississippi to $135 in state of Washington.

C. Aid to blind. About 76,000 blind people in need get this help. Federal government and states chip in. Cost yearly: $43,000,000. Government's share: $22,000,000. Congress added no new money. But—

Until now all states—except Pennsylvania, Missouri, Nevada—took part with federal government. Those three, although having own programs, got no federal money because they did not meet federal relief requirements. Congress has eased the rules. Now those three can get federal money to add to own for needy blind.

D. For first time, congress now says people permanently and totally disabled will get federal money help if over 18, under 65, and in need. About 200,000 people need it.

Federal government will put up about $65,000,000 yearly. States to put up more or less equal amount.

2. Services for children, a three-part program.

A. Maternal and child health. To aid health of mothers and children, born and unborn. Provides health supervision by physicians and dentists in pre-natal clinics, health services for school children, and so on.

Federal government and states put up the money. Cost to government: Around $11,000,000 yearly. Congress has upped this to $16,500,000.

B. Services for crippled children. Countrywide effort made to bring crippled children—for example, those with epilepsy, cerebral palsy, rheumatic fever—to diagnostic clinics, then give them care and treatment.

Federal government and states put up the money. Cost: $15,000,000 yearly. Government's share: $7,500,000. Congress has doubled this now to $15,000,000 yearly.

C. Child welfare services. Every state has child welfare program. Could be called program for helping children who are in trouble. For example: Runaways.

Government makes flat gift or grant to states of $3,500,000 yearly without need for state to share. Congress has increased this to $10,000,000.

3. Unemployment insurance. Only one change in this: The so-called "Knowland" amendment.

Every employer of eight or more must pay tax on his payroll. Can be as high as three per cent. Is running less than two per cent. Tax goes into fund administered for states by federal government under direction of secretary of labor.

When worker loses job, state dips into fund for money to pay him weekly till he finds new work. Same state unemployment office which gives him pay is also supposed to help him find work by directing him to openings. If he refuses such openings, if it's fair and reasonable job, his unemployment pay can be shut off.

But rules govern all this: For example: A man can't under rules be sent to job in strike-bound plant to act as strikebreaker. If state doesn't live up to rule, the secretary of labor can penalize it. For instance, by making tax on employers full three per cent.

But Senator Knowland, California Republican, offered an amendment which congress approved. It's now part of law. Simply stated, it means: Secretary of labor can't penalize a state for what it does to rules until courts of that state approve or disapprove of state's action.

Note: Congress also gave veterans a special break in changing the law.

This was the old law: War veteran—in service between December 16, 1940 and July 24, 1947—got credit toward old-age pension for his time in service but only if he died within three years after getting out. He had to die to get the credit and his family got the benefits.

The credit he got was: Credit for earning $160 a month for every month he was in service.

New law: Now he doesn't have to die to get credit. Now veterans get credit for earning $160 per month for every month in service.

When 65 and wanting pension, this mythical but credited income of $160 for every month in service is added to actual earnings in peacetime job so pension can be figured on total earning before retiring.

Only one hitch: A veteran does not get this credit if he is under another government retirement plan, such as most government workers are, and entitled to a government-worker's pension.

Mackenzie's Column

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Time will demonstrate, I believe, that Soviet Delegate Jakob A Malik's month-long obstructive presidency of the United Nations security council was a tremendous boon for the peace organzation.

Malik's antics reduced to their essence and emphasized many of the Bolshevist tactics which the democracies have come to dislike and fear. For a month he WAS Russia—a Russia on parade before the whole world. In the United States the exhibition was especially impressive because untold thousands of citizens had a close-up of the U. N. proceedings on their television sets.

In no other way could the Soviet challenge to democracy have been so well demonstrated. As a result a host of people who previously paid small attention to the United Nations have now become U. N.-minded. And they have had the Communist threat impressed upon them.

Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate, summed the matter up succinctly in a speech over the Columbia broadcasting system. Labeling Malik as a "circus barker", he added:

"The more he talked, the less he was believed. Every time the representative of the Soviet government addressed one of his speeches to the world, some other delegate replied with facts. I don't believe that anywhere in the world lies wil live very long when the facts which controvert them can be openly and fully presented."

The New York Times refers editorially to this characteristic of Malik's operations by remarking that his "middle initial (A) must stand for ananias."

It would have been hard to believe, in advance of the event, that the 44 year old Malik could present such a change in personality as he has exhibited during his presidency of the council. Previously he was known as an affable individual of sunny disposition, who greeted acquaintences with a smile and a hearty handshake.

Malik is a man of broad education, and has served his country with much distinction in many positions. A measure of his standing with the powers that be in Moscow is that twice—in 1944 and 1945—he has received the coveted decoration of the Order of Lenin.

Malik's transformation on assuming the presidency of the council shows well the mold in which the true Bolshevist is cast. Surely is must have gone against the grain for a man of culture to play the part which Austin labeled "circus barker" and which most people would have regarded as school-boy stuff if it hadn't had such grave objectives.

The president of the council for September has been one of Malik's chief opponents during the past month—British delegate Sir Gladwyn Jebb. His attitude towards the job is shown in a remark which a spokesman quotes him as making:

"We shall turn the calendar back to July 31. We shall pretend that Malik has never been president and get on with our work."

That is the pithy way he has of putting things. He is noted as a phrase maker, is a polished speaker, and is very quick on the trigger in debate. He always is one of the centers of attraction during council sessions.

Things bid fair to move under Sir Gladwyn's presidency. Indeed they may move better than ever before as a result of the revulsion from the Malik regme.

EXCITING TRIMS AND PATTERNS

A straight line back and front, back panels to stress new side flares emphasize the elegance of Persian Lamb with mink-trimmed sleeves. I. J. Fox.

Mother and daughter pay heed to Fall fashion in look-alike washable corduroy jumpers and crisp cotton blouses with stripes that pick up the jumper's colors. Th esuspenders on both jumpers are easily adjustable for perfect fit. Both are Jack Borgenicht styles.

LAKE PROVIDENCE

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Teague and son, Wallace motored to Bell City, La., on Sunday to take daughter and sister, Miss Mary Joy Teague there to teach in the public school for the 50-51 session.

Miss Claudia Williams, Natchitoches, on a visit in Lake Providence with Miss Virginia Hider, was entertained on Friday evening of the past week at a dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Hider. Twenty five guests enjoyed the evening dancing and refreshments of punch, cake and sandwiches served buffet style.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Leach and son, Marion, Mr. Louis Leach and grandson, Marc Pure motored to Memphis the past Sunday to spend several days.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Gore had the pleasure of entertaining their daughter, Miss Pat Gore's friends Miss Caroline Butler, and Sam Ray and Roger McGrath of Yazoo City, Miss., over the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Roush and daughters, Sandra and Ronda, Nashville, Tenn., are guests in the John Deen home that Mrs. Roush might be with Mrs. Deen's sons, while she is a patient at a Vicksburg hospital, where she recently underwent major surgery.

Mr. Carl Brupbacher, band leader at Lake Providence high took the football cheerleaders Sara Ann Schneider, Alice Hammack, Pat Wagley, Martha Carolyn McClendon, and Peggy Schwartz to Monroe on Wednesday to purchase uniforms of white blouses, red weskit, red short skirt blue lined and red tights. Sara Ann Schneider is also leader for the pep squad as well as a cheerleader.

Miss Bettie Jo Abernethy left Thursday for Little Rock for a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. W. B. Goetz, and Mr. Goetz.

Miss Gertrude O'Sullivan of Vicksburg is in Lake Providence, her former home, for a vacation visit with Mrs. Kate Sullivan, Miss Katie Sullivan, and Mrs. Nellie Surles and Mrs. Mamie O'Sullivan. Miss O'Sullivan is receiving a warm welcome on her return visit by the many friends in the old home town.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Howington on Wednesday at the Terral Clinic. A charming name is being selected for the gracious little lady, their second daughter.

Mrs. D. F. Davis and Mrs. C. R. Brown left Thursday for Caney Lake, near Minden, to attend the Methodist conference for children workers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Deare, Jr., are in Hot Springs to spend a few days and will visit with friends in Little Rock before returning.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Babb and oldest daughter, Mary Katherine plan to leave early in September for Greenville, S. C., where Miss Babb will enroll at Bob Jones academy for the 1950-51 school year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Holt are happy to entertain the latter's father and brother, A. G. Cobb, and R. O. Cobb, and wife, of Odessa, Texas.

Three talented musicians of Lake Providence presented the Rotary program on Wednesday. Miss LaVerne Davis, graduate of Northwestern school of music rendered piano selections "Star Dust", "Sun rise Serenade", "Among My Souvenirs" and "Peg O' My Heart", and Miss JoRene Myers, recent graduate of M. S. C. W. and sister, Miss Patsy Myers, sang "Mona Lisa", "Sentimental Me" and "Enjoy Yourself", with Rotary pianist, Mrs. David Tschabold, accompanist. F. A. Babb contributed a three minute talk on "Aims and Purposes of Rotary".

Mrs. L. B. Pitts and daughter, Jerry of Terry, Miss., are in Lake Providence for a visit with Mrs. Pitts' brother in law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mitchell and daughters, Pansy and Peggy, and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hayward and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Myers have spent the past two weeks in Meridian. Miss., and Biloxi, Miss. Younger son, George was left with maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George McAfee in Meridian, while Mr. and Mrs. Myers were in Biloxi.

Mrs. Hugh King entertained on Monday afternoon at a conversational hour that her sister in law, Miss Lillian King of Westwego, might enjoy an hour with former faculty members at the Lake Providence High School. Guests included Mrs. M. M. Walsworth, Miss Gwendolyn Walsworth, Mrs. Charles Muirhead, Mrs. W. W. Ward, Mrs. Henry Winters, Mrs. J. O. Pinkston, Jr., and Mrs. William Murhead.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ward have recently entertained the former's brother and sister in law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ward and children of Brookhaven, Miss.

SAFETY PRECAUTION

To combat the danger of carbon monoxide gas, there should be a circulation of fresh air through an automobile, whether it is idling or in actual traffic use.

Laws in some states require that cars on the road maintain spaces between them of one car length for each 10 miles per hour of speed.

APRONS FOR YOURSELF OR FOR GIFTS

By Sue Burnett

Every homemaker loves to have a plentiful supply of aprons on hand—for all the chores about the house and to slip on when company comes. And for gifts, too, as Mrs. H. J. Ferguson suggests in her letter. "I often pick up remnants of gay cottons and make aprons for my friends. Will you show me some styles that are suitable?"

Pattern No. 8524 is a sew-rite perforated pattern in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 14, bib apron, 2 3/8 yards. of 36 or 39 inch; half apron, 1 5/8 yards.

Two separate patterns, 25 cents each.

For these patterns, send 25 cents, in coins, for each pattern ordered, your name, address, sizes desired, and the pattern number to Sue Burnett, Morning World, 1150 Ave. Americas, New York 19, N. Y.

Ready for you now—the new fall and winter issue of Fashion. 48 pages of smart new styles, special interesting features, free pattern printed inside. Send 25 cents today for your copy.

James Marlow:

THE NATION TODAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the twelfth and last in a series explaining the big changes in the social security program.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—There are four main social security programs: Old-age and survivors' insurance (pension system). Public assistance (relief for needy people), services for children, and unemployment insurance.

In improving social security, congress has made the biggest changes in old-age and survivors' insurance. But it did not overlook the other three. Here they are, with the changes made:

1. Public assistance. There were three parts to this: Aid for the needy old, needy blind, and dependent children. Congress has added one more: Aid for totally and permanently disabled, under 65 and in need.

A. Old age assistance. Federal government and state together put up the money for people over 65, in need. They pay no tax for this. About 2,768,000 old people get it. Average age: 74.

Average payment to each: $45 a month, ranging from $19 in Mississippi to $71 in California. Total yearly cost: $1,438,000,000. Federal government's share: $793,000,000. Congress voted no extra money for this.

B. Dependent children. To help children when there's no parent to support them, by keeping them out of orphanages, giving them some kind of home life. To receive aid, child must live with some relative, such as surviving mother.

Getting this help: About 1,628,000 children a year. Federal government and states put up the money. Payment to children: $521,000,000. Government's share: $227,000,000. Congress voted an additional $79,000,000 a year.

Also new: Before only children got the money. Now the caretaker—for instance, widowed mother—will get a payment. Average payment per family now: Around $75 monthly, ranging from $26 in Mississippi to $135 in state of Washington.

C. Aid to blind. About 76,000 blind people in need get this help. Federal government and states chip in. Cost yearly: $43,000,000. Government's share: $22,000,000. Congress added no new money. But—

Until now all states—except Pennsylvania, Missouri, Nevada—took part with federal government. Those three, although having own programs, got no federal money because they did not meet federal relief requirements. Congress has eased the rules. Now those three can get federal money to add to own for needy blind.

D. For first time, congress now says people permanently and totally disabled will get federal money help if over 18, under 65, and in need. About 200,000 people need it.

Federal government will put up about $65,000,000 yearly. States to put up more or less equal amount.

2. Services for children, a three-part program.

A. Maternal and child health. To aid health of mothers and children, born and unborn. Provides health supervision by physicians and dentists in pre-natal clinics, health services for school children, and so on.

Federal government and states put up the money. Cost to government: Around $11,000,000 yearly. Congress has upped this to $16,500,000.

B. Services for crippled children. Countrywide effort made to bring crippled children—for example, those with epilepsy, cerebral palsy, rheumatic fever—to diagnostic clinics, then give them care and treatment.

Federal government and states put up the money. Cost: $15,000,000 yearly. Government's share: $7,500,000. Congress has doubled this now to $15,000,000 yearly.

C. Child welfare services. Every state has child welfare program. Could be called program for helping children who are in trouble. For example: Runaways.

Government makes flat gift or grant to states of $3,500,000 yearly without need for state to share. Congress has increased this to $10,000,000.

3. Unemployment insurance. Only one change in this: The so-called "Knowland" amendment.

Every employer of eight or more must pay tax on his payroll. Can be as high as three per cent. Is running less than two per cent. Tax goes into fund administered for states by federal government under direction of secretary of labor.

When worker loses job, state dips into fund for money to pay him weekly till he finds new work. Same state unemployment office which gives him pay is also supposed to help him find work by directing him to openings. If he refuses such openings, if it's fair and reasonable job, his unemployment pay can be shut off.

But rules govern all this: For example: A man can't under rules be sent to job in strike-bound plant to act as strikebreaker. If state doesn't live up to rule, the secretary of labor can penalize it. For instance, by making tax on employers full three per cent.

But Senator Knowland, California Republican, offered an amendment which congress approved. It's now part of law. Simply stated, it means: Secretary of labor can't penalize a state for what it does to rules until courts of that state approve or disapprove of state's action.

Note: Congress also gave veterans a special break in changing the law.

This was the old law: War veteran—in service between December 16, 1940 and July 24, 1947—got credit toward old-age pension for his time in service but only if he died within three years after getting out. He had to die to get the credit and his family got the benefits.

The credit he got was: Credit for earning $160 a month for every month he was in service.

New law: Now he doesn't have to die to get credit. Now veterans get credit for earning $160 per month for every month in service.

When 65 and wanting pension, this mythical but credited income of $160 for every month in service is added to actual earnings in peacetime job so pension can be figured on total earning before retiring.

Only one hitch: A veteran does not get this credit if he is under another government retirement plan, such as most government workers are, and entitled to a government-worker's pension.

Mackenzie's Column

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Time will demonstrate, I believe, that Soviet Delegate Jakob A Malik's month-long obstructive presidency of the United Nations security council was a tremendous boon for the peace organzation.

Malik's antics reduced to their essence and emphasized many of the Bolshevist tactics which the democracies have come to dislike and fear. For a month he WAS Russia—a Russia on parade before the whole world. In the United States the exhibition was especially impressive because untold thousands of citizens had a close-up of the U. N. proceedings on their television sets.

In no other way could the Soviet challenge to democracy have been so well demonstrated. As a result a host of people who previously paid small attention to the United Nations have now become U. N.-minded. And they have had the Communist threat impressed upon them.

Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate, summed the matter up succinctly in a speech over the Columbia broadcasting system. Labeling Malik as a "circus barker", he added:

"The more he talked, the less he was believed. Every time the representative of the Soviet government addressed one of his speeches to the world, some other delegate replied with facts. I don't believe that anywhere in the world lies wil live very long when the facts which controvert them can be openly and fully presented."

The New York Times refers editorially to this characteristic of Malik's operations by remarking that his "middle initial (A) must stand for ananias."

It would have been hard to believe, in advance of the event, that the 44 year old Malik could present such a change in personality as he has exhibited during his presidency of the council. Previously he was known as an affable individual of sunny disposition, who greeted acquaintences with a smile and a hearty handshake.

Malik is a man of broad education, and has served his country with much distinction in many positions. A measure of his standing with the powers that be in Moscow is that twice—in 1944 and 1945—he has received the coveted decoration of the Order of Lenin.

Malik's transformation on assuming the presidency of the council shows well the mold in which the true Bolshevist is cast. Surely is must have gone against the grain for a man of culture to play the part which Austin labeled "circus barker" and which most people would have regarded as school-boy stuff if it hadn't had such grave objectives.

The president of the council for September has been one of Malik's chief opponents during the past month—British delegate Sir Gladwyn Jebb. His attitude towards the job is shown in a remark which a spokesman quotes him as making:

"We shall turn the calendar back to July 31. We shall pretend that Malik has never been president and get on with our work."

That is the pithy way he has of putting things. He is noted as a phrase maker, is a polished speaker, and is very quick on the trigger in debate. He always is one of the centers of attraction during council sessions.

Things bid fair to move under Sir Gladwyn's presidency. Indeed they may move better than ever before as a result of the revulsion from the Malik regme.

AEC 'Tests' Atomic Bomb Blast With Pencil, Paper

Gives Estimate Of What Would Happen Under Ground, Under Water

By Frank Carey

(Associated Press Science Writer)

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The atomic energy commission (AEC) has conducted two major atom bomb "tests" with pencil and paper.

The AEC wanted to find out what an A-bomb—and presumably an H-bomb—might do if exploded (1) underground or (2) deep under the sea.

Outside of the two high-airburst bombs used in combat in Japan, actual tests so far have been an airburst relatively close to the ground in New Mexico, three such at Eniwetok, an airburst above water and a shallow underwater burst at Bikini.

AEC's estimate of what would happen in underground and deep underwater blasts are contained in its new book "The Effect of Atomic Weapons."

AEC scientists apparently figure that from atomic tests already held—and from earthquake and other studies—you can get a good idea of what to expect.

Here's the picture they present:

If a bomb of the Hiroshima type were dropped from an airplane and penetrated 50 feet in ordinary soil before exploding—

A crater about 800 feet wide and 100 feet deep would be formed.

About a half-million tons of potentially radiaction earth would be blown out of the crater. The crater area would be so radioactive you couldn't drive a fast car across it in safety.

Appreciable quantities of material from the crater might be carried as much as four miles downwind and about eight tenths of a mile upwind.

A shock wave would pass through the earth around the crater. It would have the effect of a strong earthquake, capable of causing "appreciable damage."

There probably would be quite a bit of destruction in a considerable area around the crater—say from 1,350 to 3,300 feet from the point of underground explosion. Brick and other wall-bearing buildings would undoubtedly collapse, although wood-frame buildings would resist reasonably well, depending on the method of support. Underground utilities would take quite a licking.

There probably would be "appreciable damage" to masonry walls, chimneys and foundations up to 1,800 to 5,000 feet (pretty close to a mile).

Finally, you might expect "light" damage at 2,700 to 10,500 feet — almost two miles away.

Bad as all this sounds, the damage would actually be less than that to be expected from an atomic bomb burst in the air.

The scientists figure that an underground bomb would cause blast damage only one-half to two-thirds as far away as an air burst.

The AEC's report doesn't say anything about an H-bomb, but some scientists have figured that an airburst H-bomb 1,000 times more powerful than an A-bomb would cause almost complete destruction of buildings for about 10 miles in all directions, compared with one mile in the case of the A-bomb.

If an airburst H-bomb could destroy virtually all buildings for 10 miles in all directions, an underground H-bomb would do that in a radius of five to seven miles.

The scientists figure that casualties from blast and burns would be less in the case of a ground-burst (surface) bomb than an airburst one. Presumably there would be even fewer in the case of an underground bomb, but in a high airburst bomb there is little hazard from "residual" radioactivity. Initial rays from the bursting air bomb are extremely dangerous, however.

Now how about that deep underwater burst?

If the blast took place at around 1,000 feet below the surface of the sea, damage would probably be as follows:

"Severe" damage to merchant-type hulls and light naval craft would extend out more than a half-mile. But heavy, multiple-bottom vessels would probably survive as close as 2,000 feet.

Machinery on ships as distant as three quarters of a mile from the blast point might be put out of commission.

"Apart from damage caused by waves," says the AEC's book, "it is believed that, with the possible exception of piers and breakwaters, little harm would result to harbor and shore installations."

Radioactivity is a distinct hazard in any underwater atomic burst, however. The AEC scientists say "the general consensus at the present time is that the area highly contaminated by an underground explosion would be less than in the case of an underwater burst."

All these estimates for an underwater burst refer to a bomb of the Hiroshima type.

As the power of the bomb is increased, its blast, heat and radiation effects are also increased—but not to the same extent.

In his first interview since he returned to Hollywood, Frank Sinatra seemed to be in a much jollier frame of mind than he was in New York a few weeks ago. In fact, he coyly announced that he's "getting married" to his new television show, which, he said, will keep him so busy seven days a week that he won't have time for anything else. That'll be a great improvement over what he's been doing for the past few months and I must say that in Frankie's case all work and no play might be a good thing. If he throws himself into his job as wholeheartedly as he's thrown himself into his romantic pursuits, it's just possible that he may even get a new perspective on life. Heaven knows, he needs one.

Speaking of Sinatra, one is naturally reminded of Ava Gardner. According to most of the speculation around town, Miss G was going to have a lot of explaining to do to her bosses when she got back from Europe. Well, she's back but so far I haven't heard of any roof-raising out at M. G. M. The studio's chief concern at the moment seems to be Ava's loss of weight, and she'll have to go on a build-up diet to regain it before she can be put in a new picture. Now if only there were some kind of diet by which a lost reputation could be regained, everything would be hunky-dory.

From the sound of things, Roberto Rossellini would have the world believe that he's been done wrong by. In a statement to the press in Venice, Italy, he announced plans to sue R. K. O., charging that the studio had employed "bad publicity" to publicize his and Ingrid Berman's matie, "Stromboli." If this whole matter weren't so utterly disgusting, that statement would be laughable. In my opinion, Roberto Rossellini, has already proved that he's the kind of a guy who considers any publicity good publicity — which probably accounts for this latest blast via the press.

Missourian Killed Near Baton Rouge

City Police Capt. Raoul Duhon gave this report:

Boettger, apparently blinded by the rising sun, collided with a three-ton gravel truck crossing the highway at a stop-light intersection. Both vehicles overturned, but the truck driver was unhurt.

Twin Writes Parents His Brother Killed

Goodwill, W. Va., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Huston Blevins read the telegram from the defense department and accepted the news quietly.

Chester, one of their 20-year-old twin sons fighting in Korea, was believed missing in action.

The 43-year-old coal miner and his wife said they hoped he would "turn up". That was August 22.

Yesterday they had this letter from Lester, the other twin:

". . . Well, mom, this finds me awful lonesome. I hate to break the news to you and the family. Mom, Chester got killed in action August 19, 1950. . . . He died an easy death. He never knew what hit him.

Mom, I was carrying out wounded men when he got killed. I was under heavy machine (gun) fire. Mom, there are two sets of twins in our company. (The others) were the Smith Brothers. One of them got killed and the other got wounded in the leg. Well, Mom, I guess that the Lord wanted it that way. . . ."

OUR CHILDREN

FEAR OF BEING DIFFERENT

The fear of being different often costs children and young people character qualities, gleams of personality they might otherwise enjoy. A child's taste in clothes, his preferences in sports, entertainment, behavior, may, and often does, differ from that of the greater number of his group and although his mind clings to its own idea, a though the child yields reluctantly, the pressure of the group wins and the child's personality loses some of its richness, its color and quality.

The differences in people are what make them distinctive. Those differences are precious because they are what lend color, character and interest to the individual. When he is reduced to the level of the group to where he looks like all others, talks as all others, behaves like the rest of his group he does not count his full weight. He just goes along. He has no thought of his own, his actions are not colored by his own personality but by those of the crowd. He might as well be a mannikin.

That is why I have great patience and sympathy with the boy or girl who refuses, even to stubbornness, to go along with the group. He has an idea of his own and he clings to it. He may be wrong. If so, time will soon prove it. Our part is to help him to keep his mind open, saying, "I think," and "I'll try this out and see what comes of it" rather than to be dogmatic about it and say, "I know I'm right." Nobody knows he is right in an untried field, but it is wise and right to test out one's own idea before taking the word of others who are quite as ignorant of the matter. The important point is keeping an open mind on controversial subjects and holding to an inquiring attitude on all new ideas.

Even in ordinary matters on which we would expect no great heat to arise, we find children afraid to be different. If the crowd wears short socks in zero weather the child whose parents know this is a bad idea fights to the death to avoid wearing coverings on her legs. She fears to be different. The same thing is true of boys and girls who have no desire to smoke or drink or engage in sex play but who fear to be marked as different by the group who follow such doubtful practices. Fear makes them followers of unworthy leaders when courage would make them leaders of worth-while followers.

The strength to be different is the essential spirit of leadership. It bespeaks character, assurance, courage of the finest kind. The child, the young person, the mature individual who can cling to his precious difference, express and defend it, is a distinctive personality, a leader. We should teach children to defend their precious difference.

Baby does not touch things to be naughty, he is only learning about the world around him. Dr. Patri tells how to deal with this childhood problem in his leaflet P-6, "Touching Things." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o this paper. P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19. N. Y.

NEW PSYCHOLOGY COURSE IS SET

Will Be Held In Tech With Dr. W. J. Bordelon Instructor

Ruston, Sept. 2.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech has scheduled a course in advanced child psychology, designed primarily for in-service teachers, which will be offered during the fall semester.

Dr. G. W. Bond, dean of the School of Education, said the class will meet from 8-11 a.m. on Saturdays and will carry three hours of college credit.

September 16 has been announced as the date of registration for the course.

The class will be conducted by Dr. W. J. Bordelon, associate professor of education at Tech. Dr. Bordelon is a graduate of Southwestern Louisiana Institute and holds the M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Louisiana State University.

Missourian Killed Near Baton Rouge

City Police Capt. Raoul Duhon gave this report:

Boettger, apparently blinded by the rising sun, collided with a three-ton gravel truck crossing the highway at a stop-light intersection. Both vehicles overturned, but the truck driver was unhurt.

Twin Writes Parents His Brother Killed

Goodwill, W. Va., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Huston Blevins read the telegram from the defense department and accepted the news quietly.

Chester, one of their 20-year-old twin sons fighting in Korea, was believed missing in action.

The 43-year-old coal miner and his wife said they hoped he would "turn up". That was August 22.

Yesterday they had this letter from Lester, the other twin:

". . . Well, mom, this finds me awful lonesome. I hate to break the news to you and the family. Mom, Chester got killed in action August 19, 1950. . . . He died an easy death. He never knew what hit him.

Mom, I was carrying out wounded men when he got killed. I was under heavy machine (gun) fire. Mom, there are two sets of twins in our company. (The others) were the Smith Brothers. One of them got killed and the other got wounded in the leg. Well, Mom, I guess that the Lord wanted it that way. . . ."

OUR CHILDREN

FEAR OF BEING DIFFERENT

The fear of being different often costs children and young people character qualities, gleams of personality they might otherwise enjoy. A child's taste in clothes, his preferences in sports, entertainment, behavior, may, and often does, differ from that of the greater number of his group and although his mind clings to its own idea, a though the child yields reluctantly, the pressure of the group wins and the child's personality loses some of its richness, its color and quality.

The differences in people are what make them distinctive. Those differences are precious because they are what lend color, character and interest to the individual. When he is reduced to the level of the group to where he looks like all others, talks as all others, behaves like the rest of his group he does not count his full weight. He just goes along. He has no thought of his own, his actions are not colored by his own personality but by those of the crowd. He might as well be a mannikin.

That is why I have great patience and sympathy with the boy or girl who refuses, even to stubbornness, to go along with the group. He has an idea of his own and he clings to it. He may be wrong. If so, time will soon prove it. Our part is to help him to keep his mind open, saying, "I think," and "I'll try this out and see what comes of it" rather than to be dogmatic about it and say, "I know I'm right." Nobody knows he is right in an untried field, but it is wise and right to test out one's own idea before taking the word of others who are quite as ignorant of the matter. The important point is keeping an open mind on controversial subjects and holding to an inquiring attitude on all new ideas.

Even in ordinary matters on which we would expect no great heat to arise, we find children afraid to be different. If the crowd wears short socks in zero weather the child whose parents know this is a bad idea fights to the death to avoid wearing coverings on her legs. She fears to be different. The same thing is true of boys and girls who have no desire to smoke or drink or engage in sex play but who fear to be marked as different by the group who follow such doubtful practices. Fear makes them followers of unworthy leaders when courage would make them leaders of worth-while followers.

The strength to be different is the essential spirit of leadership. It bespeaks character, assurance, courage of the finest kind. The child, the young person, the mature individual who can cling to his precious difference, express and defend it, is a distinctive personality, a leader. We should teach children to defend their precious difference.

Baby does not touch things to be naughty, he is only learning about the world around him. Dr. Patri tells how to deal with this childhood problem in his leaflet P-6, "Touching Things." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c o this paper. P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

HALF YOUR WORLD IS STILL HUNGRY!

If you have friends or relatives overseas help them with a CARE package!

CARE

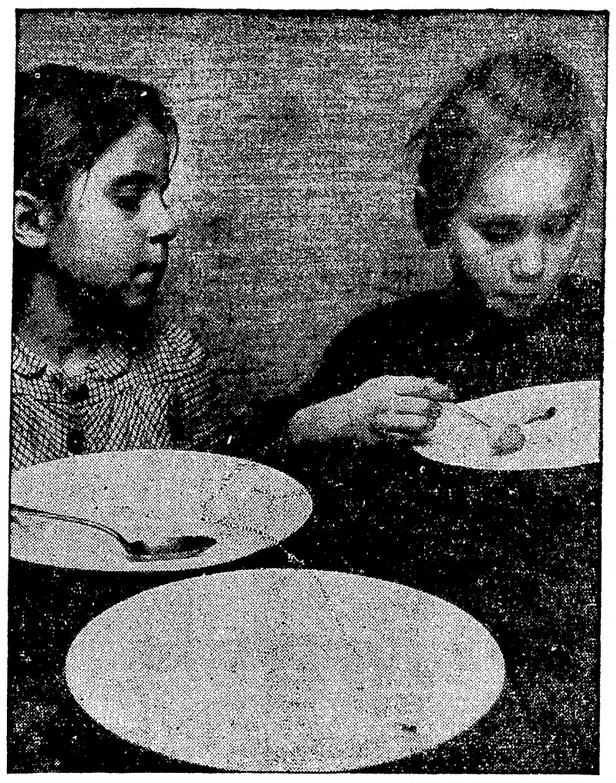
NEW YORK 5, N. Y.



GERMANY. This is the end of the meal for the five children in this Berlin family. Now to bed . . . hungry . . . to worry if there will be anything at all to eat tomorrow.

For as long as they can remember, these children have known nothing but war and death and slow starvation. Can there be peace when so many thousand children have known only empty plates?

PHILIPPINES. The father of these hungry children was a Philippine guerrilla who fought alongside the Americans at Bataan. Now unemployed and penniless, he and his wife and six children live in this squalid hut made of scraps of wood and sheet metal. These are but a few of the thousands of hungry unemployed in the Philippines.

CARE, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization is attempting to aid the cause of peace by feeding and clothing needy people throughout the world. Since the end of the war, the American people have sent more than 9 million CARE packages overseas. Some were sent to friends . . . some were sent to relatives . . . some were "undesignated" backages – food for a hungry child in Germany or "a war orphan in the Philippines."

All nine million were delivered, of course, for CARE guarantees delivery or your money back.

CARE packages are duty free and ration free and the recipient pays nothing.

MEMORIAL METHODIST CHURCH
Every worshipper at Memorial Methodist Church for the 7:30 p.m. service Sunday is to bring some object to designate their profession or type of work to place on the altar. This being the service coming nearest Labor Day it is fitting that each individual should consecrate his particular profession to the service of God and his fellow man. The carpenter will bring his square, the plumber his wrench, the housewife her scissors, the school boy his book, the musician his music book or small instrument, the barber his clippers, the salesman his pad.
The pastor's sermon will be taken from the 6th chapter of Isaiah and entitled "Three Pairs of Wings". A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. Our revival dates are Sept. 10-17 with Rev. E. E. McKeithen of Laurel, Miss. our evangelist.

The Church School
Although we have had excellent attendances at our summer sessions of the Church School, nevertheless it is nearing time for our full fall and winter program to begin. Fall opening date will be Sunday September 17, the Sunday after public schools open. A meeting of all the teachers from last year, plus those who have agreed to assist this year, is called for Friday night of this week, Sept. 8, to discuss final plans.

Bible Comments
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The key verse for an understanding of the Apostle Peter, and what he became, is found in the words of Jesus to Peter, recorded in Luke 22:31-32: "Simon, Simon, behond Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."
Was it a coincidence that Jesus said, "Simon, Simon," and not "Peter, Peter?" Simon was the name of the disciple's weakness, the name of what he was; Peter meaning Rock, was the name that Jesus gave him.
For Jesus perceived the strength that was in him beneath his weakness, once divine power had made him great. It was of this divine power that Peter himself was to write (II Peter 1:3), knowing full well what it had accomplished in him.
The prayer of Jesus, too, was significant. It was not that Simon should not fail, but that his faith should not fail. It is the failure of the man. And this is true in the lesser as well as the greater things of life.
The inventor who loses faith in his power to produce something new is done for. The business man who loses faith in himself and his enterprise is already on the way to collapse. The writer, or artist, who loses faith to put upon the page or canvas what he sees, has also failed. Faith is at the very foundation of all creative achievement. And this is particularly true in the moral and spiritual areas of life.
There is one exception. It is when despondent and frustrated men turn to a power greater than their own, and in their very weakness are made strong. Paul tells of this in II Corinthians 12:9-10, but it was something Peter had not yet learned. He was boastful and confident in himself. He had not yet learned that it is in humility and in the consciousness of one's weakness that strength is found.
Proof that he suffered a temporary loss of faith lies in the fact that he denied Jesus only a few hours after boasting that he, Simon Peter, would never abnegate Jesus. It was as if he had suffered a blackout of the vision that prompted him to throw aside his fishing net and follow in the footsteps of Jesus.
No doubt Simon had anticipated an earthly kingdom in which he was to have a place and power. He was intensely disillusioned when the soldiers arrested Jesus, his idol and Master. It was the intensity of this disillusionment that moved his lips to frame a denial. When a man's faith in goodness is destroyed, often he will turn with equal passion towards evil. For stop halfway.
A reassurance of faith came to Peter the next morning when the cock crowed, recalling the prayer and prophecy of Jesus. Peter went out and wept bitterly. The disillusionment was over. And Peter began to sense the greater things that lay ahead.

NEW PASTOR

Baptist ministers of Ouachita parish are welcoming into their midst, Olyn Harmon (above) to the pastorate of Emmanuel Baptist church in Monroe. The new pastor comes from the First Baptist church in Independence, La. where he was leader in a highly successful revival campaign. When attending the Baptist Theological seminary in New Orleans, and later as member of the Washington Parish association, Rev. Filer J. Seal, now pastor of Trinity church in West Monroe, was associated with Olyn Harmon and expresses high approval of his selecton as a Monroe pastor.

DECISION NEAR ON COLOR TV

FCC Asserts Method Used By Columbia System Alone Satisfactory

By Max Hall

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Color television, not far around that corner now, will soon be the subject of another hot decision—to be made this time by the television manufacturers.
They were put on the spot yesterday when the federal communications commission (F. C. C.) issued its long-awaited report on color TV.
Boiled down, the F. C. C.'s ruling was:
1. The color method developed by the Columbia Broadcasting System is the best that the commissioners have seen—in fact the only one good enough to meet F. C. C. requirements, even though it cannot be received in black and white on the 7,000,000 existing TV sets, as other new methods can.
(The color systems whose telecasts can be received on present sets in black and white include those of the Radio Corporation of America and Color Television, Inc., the two competitors over which CBS got the nod.)
2. The commission would rather postpone a final decision on color, in order to investigate possible improvements to the CBS method and look into new plans that have been developed since the nine - month hearings ended last May.
3. But the commission can't afford to postpone a decision any longer, with new television sets pouring out of the factories at more than half a million a month, unless it can find some way of assuring that new black-and-white sets will be capable of receiving black-and-white pictures from CBS type color broadcasting. (Otherwise, instead of just 7,000,000 obsolete sets, the public might have millions more.)
4. So the F. C. C. asked the manufacturers to stop making present-type receivers almost at once, and change to receivers that would pick up black-and-white pictures not only from present black-and-white stations but also from CBS-type color stations.
5. And the F. C. C. said that if the manufacturers will do this, it will reopen the whole color TV case and consider not only the CBS method (and improvements on it), but any other method that could be reveived on both color sets and the new black-and-white sets which the industry would then be turning out.
6. The F. C. C. further said that if the manufacturers won't agree to this, it will not be able to wait any longer, but will immediately issue a final order adopting CBS color standards. This would mean a go-ahead for color broadcasting, but a person who wanted to receive from both black-and-white and color stations would have to own two different sets, or would have to make aletrations in his present set.
The manufacturers were given until Sept. 29 to reply. The Radio-Television Manufacturers Association declined to give any comment immediately. Most individual manufacturers also were reluctant to comment, but those who did expressed disappointment. They included F. A. D. Andrea, president of Andrea Radio Corp. and Pioneer radio and TV manufacturer.
The F. C. C. has no direct authority to tell manufacturers what they must make, but it has indirect power over them because it can set standards for broadcasting. Factories naturally turn out the kind of equipment that can meet those standards.
Most manufacturers have opposed the CBS method. Some of them, like RCA and General Electric, have developed color systems of their own. The manufacturers have made a big point of the fact that the CBS method is not "compatible" with present sets, while other new methods are. They have shown little enthusiasm for producing new-type sets to accomodate the CBS method.
Now they find themselves with two alternatives. They can go along with the F. C. C., produce the two-way black-and-white sets, and preserve their chance to beat out CBS in the race for color standards. Or they can refuse to go along, and continue to turn out present-type sets, and hope that CBS color television will fail to get a foothold.
CBS hailed the F. C. C. decision as "a gratifying victory for the CBS color system." Frank Stanton, CBS president, said in New York that the company was "proceeding promptly with plans for broadcasting CBS color television programs to the public. We plan to be on the air with 20 hours per week of color television programs within 30 days after the commission approves it.

Bible Comments
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The key verse for an understanding of the Apostle Peter, and what he became, is found in the words of Jesus to Peter, recorded in Luke 22:31-32: "Simon, Simon, behond Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."

Was it a coincidence that Jesus said, "Simon, Simon," and not "Peter, Peter?" Simon was the name of the disciple's weakness, the name of what he was; Peter meaning Rock, was the name that Jesus gave him.

For Jesus perceived the strength that was in him beneath his weakness, once divine power had made him great. It was of this divine power that Peter himself was to write (II Peter 1:3), knowing full well what it had accomplished in him.

The prayer of Jesus, too, was significant. It was not that Simon should not fail, but that his faith should not fail. It is the failure of the man. And this is true in the lesser as well as the greater things of life.

The inventor who loses faith in his power to produce something new is done for. The business man who loses faith in himself and his enterprise is already on the way to collapse. The writer, or artist, who loses faith to put upon the page or canvas what he sees, has also failed. Faith is at the very foundation of all creative achievement. And this is particularly true in the moral and spiritual areas of life.

There is one exception. It is when despondent and frustrated men turn to a power greater than their own, and in their very weakness are made strong. Paul tells of this in II Corinthians 12:9-10, but it was something Peter had not yet learned. He was boastful and confident in himself. He had not yet learned that it is in humility and in the consciousness of one's weakness that strength is found.

Proof that he suffered a temporary loss of faith lies in the fact that he denied Jesus only a few hours after boasting that he, Simon Peter, would never abnegate Jesus. It was as if he had suffered a blackout of the vision that prompted him to throw aside his fishing net and follow in the footsteps of Jesus.

No doubt Simon had anticipated an earthly kingdom in which he was to have a place and power. He was intensely disillusioned when the soldiers arrested Jesus, his idol and Master. It was the intensity of this disillusionment that moved his lips to frame a denial. When a man's faith in goodness is destroyed, often he will turn with equal passion towards evil. For stop halfway.

A reassurance of faith came to Peter the next morning when the cock crowed, recalling the prayer and prophecy of Jesus. Peter went out and wept bitterly. The disillusionment was over. And Peter began to sense the greater things that lay ahead.

NEW PASTOR

Baptist ministers of Ouachita parish are welcoming into their midst, Olyn Harmon (above) to the pastorate of Emmanuel Baptist church in Monroe. The new pastor comes from the First Baptist church in Independence, La. where he was leader in a highly successful revival campaign. When attending the Baptist Theological seminary in New Orleans, and later as member of the Washington Parish association, Rev. Filer J. Seal, now pastor of Trinity church in West Monroe, was associated with Olyn Harmon and expresses high approval of his selecton as a Monroe pastor.

DECISION NEAR ON COLOR TV

FCC Asserts Method Used By Columbia System Alone Satisfactory

By Max Hall

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Color television, not far around that corner now, will soon be the subject of another hot decision—to be made this time by the television manufacturers.

They were put on the spot yesterday when the federal communications commission (F. C. C.) issued its long-awaited report on color TV.

Boiled down, the F. C. C.'s ruling was:

1. The color method developed by the Columbia Broadcasting System is the best that the commissioners have seen—in fact the only one good enough to meet F. C. C. requirements, even though it cannot be received in black and white on the 7,000,000 existing TV sets, as other new methods can.

(The color systems whose telecasts can be received on present sets in black and white include those of the Radio Corporation of America and Color Television, Inc., the two competitors over which CBS got the nod.)

2. The commission would rather postpone a final decision on color, in order to investigate possible improvements to the CBS method and look into new plans that have been developed since the nine-month hearings ended last May.

3. But the commission can't afford to postpone a decision any longer, with new television sets pouring out of the factories at more than half a million a month, unless it can find some way of assuring that new black-and-white sets will be capable of receiving black-and-white pictures from CBS type color broadcasting. (Otherwise, instead of just 7,000,000 obsolete sets, the public might have millions more.)

4. So the F. C. C. asked the manufacturers to stop making present-type receivers almost at once, and change to receivers that would pick up black-and-white pictures not only from present black-and-white stations but also from CBS-type color stations.

5. And the F. C. C. said that if the manufacturers will do this, it will reopen the whole color TV case and consider not only the CBS method (and improvements on it), but any other method that could be reveived on both color sets and the new black-and-white sets which the industry would then be turning out.

6. The F. C. C. further said that if the manufacturers won't agree to this, it will not be able to wait any longer, but will immediately issue a final order adopting CBS color standards. This would mean a go-ahead for color broadcasting, but a person who wanted to receive from both black-and-white and color stations would have to own two different sets, or would have to make aletrations in his present set.

The manufacturers were given until Sept. 29 to reply. The Radio-Television Manufacturers Association declined to give any comment immediately. Most individual manufacturers also were reluctant to comment, but those who did expressed disappointment. They included F. A. D. Andrea, president of Andrea Radio Corp. and Pioneer radio and TV manufacturer.

The F. C. C. has no direct authority to tell manufacturers what they must make, but it has indirect power over them because it can set standards for broadcasting. Factories naturally turn out the kind of equipment that can meet those standards.

Most manufacturers have opposed the CBS method. Some of them, like RCA and General Electric, have developed color systems of their own. The manufacturers have made a big point of the fact that the CBS method is not "compatible" with present sets, while other new methods are. They have shown little enthusiasm for producing new-type sets to accommodate the CBS method.

Now they find themselves with two alternatives. They can go along with the F. C. C., produce the two-way black-and-white sets, and preserve their chance to beat out CBS in the race for color standards. Or they can refuse to go along, and continue to turn out present-type sets, and hope that CBS color television will fail to get a foothold.

CBS hailed the F. C. C. decision as "a gratifying victory for the CBS color system." Frank Stanton, CBS president, said in New York that the company was "proceeding promptly with plans for broadcasting CBS color television programs to the public. We plan to be on the air with 20 hours per week of color television programs within 30 days after the commission approves it.

THE CHURCH SCHOOL

Although we have had excellent attendances at our Summer Sessions of the Church School, nevertheless it is nearing time for our full Fall and Winter Program to begin. Fall opening date will be Sunday, September 17, the Sunday after public schools open. A meeting of all the teachers from last year, plus those who have agreed to assist this year, is called for Friday night of this week, Sept. 8, to discuss final plans.

Pheasants Are New Crop For Florida Farm

By Florine Cooter
NEA Special Correspondent

Panama City, Fla.—(NEA)— A Florida man has a new slant on small farms for retiring businessmen.

W. E. Banzhaf is the owner of Florida's first pheasant farm near Panama City. After three years of operation, he now has approximately 4,500 birds of various sizes confined in the wire pens strung over his five acres .

Not only is it unusual to find pheasants in such a domesticated setting, but they are far from their normal haunts in semi-tropical Florida.

There have been attempts during the last few years among southern sportsmen to bring the pheasant to their area as wild game. Amendments a few years ago to the regulations of the Florida Game and fresh water Fish Commission provide for raising of pheasants for propagation and food purposes only.

Spring and summer are the busiest seasons for the pheasant farmer, since that is the time the young are hatched. All eggs must be hatched in Banzhaf's 800-egg incubator because the sensitive birds refuse to sit on their eggs in confinement. Pheasant eggs require 24 days in the incubator.

Banzhaf packs most of his birds for northern markets during the fall and winter months. They go mostly by order to private clubs, although he also has a growing local market.

The farm has drawn numerous visitors and, reflecting his old love of the outdoors, his visitors mean more than just prospective customers. It was his first ambition to stimulate interest in helping to bring back the pheasant as wild game.

S.P. McDonald, Florida state conservation officer, explains that the state, while endeavoring to keep a reserve of other types of game, has never considered the pheasant a sound investment since the species requires good farming territory with an abundance of grain.

"I'd sure like to change their minds," Banzhaf confessed.

Mississippian In Japan Given Death

Kobe, Japan, Sept. 2—(AP)—An army court-martial has sentenced Recruit James L. Clark, 22, Marks, Miss., to die for the murder of four Japanese.

The army, announcing the verdict today, said witnesses had testified that Clark fatally stabbed four members of a Japanese family July 4.

Alaskan Dog Arrives Here

Scotty Irby Gets Husky Dog From Relatives In Alaska

"Chena", a cold black six-week old husky puppy, has arrived in Monroe following a week's journey by plane and train from Fairbanks, Alaska.

His newly acquired master, Scotty Irby, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Irby of 3212 Lee avenue, is elated over his prized possession.

Mrs. Irby explained that "Chena" (the word means river in Alaskan) was a gift from Scotty's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse V. Hall, who reside in Fairbanks.

"Chena" is classified as a husky but is actually one-fourth wolf. Mrs. Irby related that his father is so wild no one can lay hands on him.

The pooch was flown from Alaska to the United States and arrived in Monroe via train.

The husky's jet black coat is most too heavy for Louisiana's climate though after several days here he remains unusually playful and energetic. The tips of his four toes are white.

Mrs. Irby said "Chena" thoroughly enjoys a bath and finds it soothing to his heavy coat.

When grown, the husky will be extremely large. Mrs. Irby pointed out that within the next few weeks they had been advised to begin teaching him to pull.

Eager to learn of the dog's trip, Mrs. Hall phoned Monroe from Fairbanks the night after Chena arrived. Mrs. Hall is from Winnsboro and her husband formerly resided in West Monroe.

Concordia Dean On Lutheran Hour

"The International Lutheran Hour" has announced that Professor L. C. Wuerffel, dean of Concordia Theological Seminary in St. Louis, Missouri, will be the guest speaker on the Mutual Broadcasting System during the month of September.

Professor Wuerffel has chosen the following topics for his sermons: Sept. 3rd, "The Training of Children"; Sept. 10th, "The Evil of Selfishness"; Sept. 17th, "Do We Need Doctrines?"; and Sept. 24th, "The Coming of Judgment Day".

These services will be broadcast on the Mutual Broadcasting System and may be heard in this vicinity over radio station KLIC (1230) at 12:30 p.m. every Sunday afternoon.

Dokeys Will Meet Here On Monday

The Knights of Khorassan (Dokeys) will meet in the Knights of Pythias hall, 127 ½ St. John St., Monday night.

Royal Vizier H. B. Balfour, Jr. urges attendance bv all members, coming wearing the fez emblem.

Plans will be discussed for attendance Sept. 9 at the new Dokey temple in Pine Bluff, Ark.

How To Fly 188 Miles On 63 Cents

By NEA Service

Oklahoma City, Okla. —(NEA)— Landrum L. Hughes flew to Dallas, Tex., the other day for 63 cents.

That's what it cost him for fuel for the 188-mile hop in his four-place, 145-horsepower plane, and he hopes that some day automobiles and trucks, as well as other airplanes. will be traveling on the same cheap fuel.

The Oklahoma City inventor does it by using butane gas, which costs from five to seven cents a gallon, instead of gasoline at 32 cents a gallon.

The trick is in his adapter device, which feeds the butane from a tank installed behind the pilot's seat into a conventional carburetor. After two years of work to perfect the device, he's now seeking patents, and the Civil Aeronautics Authority has granted him a certificate to use it in planes.

Although airports aren't likely to have butane on hand at the moment, Hughes was able to refuel on his flight to Dallas by utilizing a tankful used at the field for heating buildings. Otherwise, however, he could have switched to gasoline in his plane's regular tanks.

Since butane is lighter than gasoline, it compensates for the weight of the extra tank. But he is perfecting a method of storing the gas in the wings of small planes to eliminate the tank.

Hughes says his butane adapter has been tried out on cars and trucks, and works as well as it does in his planes.

Dog Has His Own Account

By NEA Service

Lexington, Ky.—(NEA)—There are lots of wealthy dogs around. Some have mink jackets and gold-plated collars. But Nigel the Sultan, a handsome Dalmatian, is the only dog who has his own checking account.

His paw-print is on file at the Security Trust Company here, among the signatures of the bank's other accounts. And his checks are duly processed and honored. It's all very legal.

Nigel's checking account was set up for him by his owner, J. H. Ransom. Ransom figured Nigel deserved it. After all, he was earning a comfortable income at stud. making anywhere from $50 to $250 apiece for the pups. As a successful businessman, Nigel should be able to spend a little here and there for little luxuries like liver and dog biscuits if he wanted to.

It's a typical American story of success. Nigel is the son of an immigrant. His father, Nigel of Welfield, capped a brilliant career as a show dog with a championship at the famous Madison Square Garden dog show.

The bankers aren't worried about his way to follow his father until an accident ended his career in his chosen profession. His leg was cut by a mower. But the versatile Nigel immediately took up another profession, as a stud dog. And he's a big success.

Ransom bought him four years ago. He wanted a sire with distinct black rings around his eyes, something his other Dalmatians lacked. Nigel obligingly produced sons and daughters with black eyes.

And now, the successful entrepreneur has his own checking account, with a picture of himself in the corner of each check. He has his own stationary, too, with the same picture on it.

The bankers aren' worried about the account. They know Nigel as an upstanding member of the community who has a steady income. They don't figure on encountering any rubber checks or on his funds becoming insufficient.

But there is one thing puzzling them—how will Nigel manage to balance his account each month?

Wants Compulsory Quartet Singing

Huntsville, Ark.—Sherman Clark likes quartet singing so much he thinks there ought to be a law making courses in appreciation of quartet singing compulsory in all schools.

Clark, guiding light of most of the singing conventions in the Ozarks of northwest Arkansas, recently launched a campaign to bring about national and state laws on the subject.

In his column "Springs" in the Madison County Record," he "strongly urged all singers and would-be ones to join me in a mighty crusade for state and national laws making musical appreciation a required subject for all students in all public, private and parochial schools."

The laws, he added, "must make it a felony for any male or female to throw flintrocks larger than goose eggs at any person with his an honest endeavor to produce a sound remotely resembling music."

Clark, who describes himself as "a sort of professional amateur writer-entertainer-dreamer paid mainly in the golden coin focno-mainly in the golden coin of contentment," lives alone in his small cabin on Hock's creek. His "Home on Hock" is lined with manuscripts song books and volumes of classic and modern literature.

He said his campaign for musical appreciation laws drew immediate response. "State Rep. Rolla Fitch and State Sen. John Cloer phoned to say they are getting an appropriate bill ready to push through the Arkansas legislature," he said.

SHARPEN TEETH

One of the largest trees in the world is the giant cypress of Tule, located near Oaxaco, Mexico. The giant tree has a circumference of 175 feet.

Ouachita Valley Association Has Broad Comprehensive Plans

Nearly everyone living in the Ouachita River Valley is aware of the fact that an extensive development program is under way, at the present time, but few people realize how many different kinds of projects are programmed for the improvement of the valley or what agency is responsible for putting them into operation.

When people talk about the Valley development they are apt to emphasize flood control, navigation, recreation or the special features they are interested in and thus the casual listener might not be informed of the broad comprehensive plan under which all development projects are being worked out.

The general improvement of the main stem of the Ouachita River and its larger tributaries is under the control and management of the corps of engineers, U. S. Army. This includes the building of all large dams and reservoirs, control of floods, construction of levees and the management of the water for navigation, stream cleansing and sediment abatement, public recreation, wild life preservation, hydro power production, municipal and industrial waters, drainage and irrigation.

Soil and water conservation on the upper branches and small streams of the watershed as well as land and water management in the forest and on the farms of the entire basin are under the supervision of the Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

All of the soil and water conservation projects and the land and water management programs go to make up the master project embodied in the comprehensive development plan for the valley.

Recently other Federal agencies have interested themselves in the Ouachita program and are proposing additional projects operating largely in the field for social betterment. The new development angles are being considered by an inter-agency committee and were discussed at a public hearing held at El Dorado, Arkansas, August 17th.

At the El Dorado hearing, H. K. Thatcher, executive vice president of the Ouachita Valley Association outlined the scope of the comprehensive plan of the Ouachita Basin as it is now authorized by the congress and expressed the general opinion of the people of the valley in regard to the plan. His statement, reproduced in part is as follows:

Program Authorized

The people of the Ouachita Valley are always glad of an opportunity to present their soil and water problems to the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the corps of engineers, U. S. Army. They are also glad to present them to other federal agencies who may be able to contribute something to the solution of their problems. But, at the outset, it must be pointed out that the Ouachita river drainage basin already has a congressionally approved and authorized comprehensive program including multiple and single purpose dams and reservoirs, flood control, modern 9' river navigation, hydro power production, stream cleansing and sediment abatement, wild life protection, public recreation development, water for domestic and industrial use, integrated drainage system, soil and water conservation, land management and for other purposes.

The soil and water conservation and land management survey is now being made jointly by the forest service and soil conservation service and soil conservation of Agriculture. The completed report is due in June 1951 and will become an integral part of the overall basin plan of development and improvement.

This comprehensive plan is embodied in Public Law 516 by the 81st Congress, and is the result of long years of careful study and numerous surveys. While it may not cover all of the improvement features that the people would like to see, they want it thoroughly understood that they are entirely satisfied with the agencies which developed the segments of this comprehensive plan and who are now in the process of helping to motivate them. They do not want interference from any source in carrying out the features of this comprehensive plan. The studies have been completed, the authorizations granted and it is now time for action.

If any other agencies, Federal, State or private, have anything to offer which would supplement or enhance the present program and these can be accepted without causing delay, disturbance in cost - benefit ratio, or material change in the comprehensive plan, the people, of course, want these offerings considered.

ECONOMIC SCOPE

The Ouachita River basin covers 25,000 square miles in Southeastern Arkansas and Northeastern Louisiana. The northern one-fourth of the basin lies in the Ouachita Mountain plateau which has elevation up to 2,000'. Adjoining the mountainous area is a coastal plain region of rolling hills with elevation up to 400'. The balance of the basin is in the alluvial soils of the Mississippi River flood plains.

The basin has 9,500,000 acres of commercial timber and a million more in farm lands. 65 per cent of this timber is pine. The Ouachita Valley is said to be the fastest pine growing section in the Nation.

The commercial minerals of the Valley include Bauxite, Barite, Cinnabar, Clays, Chalk, Gypsum, Lignite, Manganese, Slates, Sand and Gravel, low grade Iron Ore and great reserves of Natural Gas and Petroleum and their derivatives.

Fishing is good in all lakes and streams.

Soon a million people will be living in the Ouachita Valley and today there live within 500 miles of the Valley, 65,000,000 Americans providing a market unparalelled in the world today.

WATER POLICY

Aside from air, water is perhaps man's most essential requirement and the Ouachita River with its tributaries provides enormous quantities of pure, clean, usable water for both domestic and industrial consumption. No other basin in the United States

Thus, the Ouachita Basin has three basic surplus water problems. (1) to control the rush of waters out of the hills; (2) to confine and utilize the waters in the main stem of the Ouachita and its principal tributaries; and, (3) to drain surplus waters from the low, flat lands of the basin.

The fundamental philosophy of the comprehensive plan developed for the Ouachita Basin is to determine by survey all feasible projects that can advance the plan to its ultimate goal and then to build, construct and to carry out these projects if they can be economically justified. These investments must be made in good times and bad and without regard to timing, employment characteristics or business conditions. Except for national security reasons there is no need for deviating from this policy.

PRIMARY OBJECTIVES

The primary objectives of the comprehensive plan may be listed as follows:

1. Control at or near the high points in the watershed, excessive run-off waters by forest plantings, grass lands, strip cropping, terracing, check dams, ponds, lakes, pools and reservoirs, thus conserving as much water in place as possible and preventing violent overflows down stream.

2. The main stem of the river and tributaries to be cleared of debris and obstructions, channel cut-offs made to straighten the river or streams and channels dredged in order to speed up water flow to lessen flood heights and dilute refuse to a point of tolerance.

3. Protect low land from overflow by levees where necessary.

4. Drainage of alluvial lands by an integrated drainage system that will carry the excess waters off the land and into main drainage bayous, canals, creeks and rivers with care to prevent the piling up of waters in any particular area.

5. The practice of good land and water management on all land in every part of the basin.

6. The development of a modern all year nine foot navigation barge channel on the Red-Black-Ouachita rivers in Louisiana and Arkansas up stream as far as can be economically justified. This also to include the canalization of some of the main tributaries for the purpose of limited barge transportation.

7. Construction of multiple-purpose dams and reservoirs where feasible to include waters assigned to flood control, recreation, fish and wild life preservation, municipal water supplies, industrial water supplies, navigation, stream renovation and sediment abatement, hydro power and irrigation.

8. Single purpose dams to impound water for specific requirements.

9. Agricultural and industrial expansion.

The Ouachita Valley has had every phase of its rivers and tributaries studied and surveyed during the past 25 years. Development work has begun in all areas and the need now is for speedy completion of the projects. Whatever justification credits that have been built up in the valley are needed to complete the work outlined in the comprehensive plan and any attempt to shift these credit benefits to any other watershed will be resisted.

SINGLE MANAGEMENT

Agricultural and industrial expansion comes to an area by virtue of having an abundance of domestic and commercial water, coupled with available commercial minerals; plentiful raw materials from farms and forests; good transportation systems; plenty of cheap fuel for making power; good living conditions and a contented industrious people.

All of these assets are to be found in the Ouachita River Valley ready for use. With reasonable management they will yield abundant returns.

Water, being the limiting factor, it is obvious that multiple-purpose reservoirs should be managed judiciously and in accordance with a master plan in order to provide water for year round domestic and industrial use, assist navigation, provide for recreation facilities, stream cleansing and sediment abatement and for the manufacturing of hydro-electric power to supplement gas-steam electric generating systems.

It is equally obvious that the management of these reservoirs and other flood control dams and large structures or check-dam devices should be in the hands of the agency responsible for the behavior of the rivers and streams.

COUNTERFEITERS

Lloyd Heath in an article in Stamps magazine, tells the story of an attempt in Korea to counterfeit and market the 15 weum UPU issue. Heath, just returned from Korea, says the counterfeiters were about to be brought to trial when the invasion took place. The fake stamps may be on the market now, warns Heath. They are on unwatermarked, paper, not gummed or perforated. The red and yellow colors are lighter in shade than the genuine adhesives. The lettering on the fakes is slightly larger than on the originals.

Marching off to war, these marines—and others like them headed for Korea—will soon get a chance at G. I. benefits.

Korea Soldiers Will Get Vet's Benefits

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

The powerful national veterans organizations have their full weight behind it. And congressmen admit that something must be done about the matter very soon.

In general it is predicted that Korean combat veterans will be given just about the same GI Bill of Rights beneifts provided World War II vets. But there are some ticklish questions yet to be settled. They involve committing the U. S. Treasury to annual expenditures of hundreds of millions of dollars for many years to come.

The key questions are these:

Should the benefits be limited to those men who actually see action in Korea?

Should benefits be given to all men who might serve in the Korean theater, but who might not see combat action?

Should benefits be extended to all men who enlist or who are drafted in connection with the Korean crisis?

Veterans Administration gives a rough estimate of $31.000,000 for providing 10,000 veterans with rehabilitation and GI bill benefits. The president has authorized the drafting of 185,000 men for this year.

If all of these men are given benefits, as they were during World War II, the bill will be $573.5 million. Without an official declaration of war, however, there are precedents for limiting benefits to only those men who see action in Korea.

Practically all of the 15-odd bills which have already been introduced would limit benefits to those men actually in combat. Also they all prohibit the "pyramiding" of benefits. In other words, men in the service who have already used some veterans benefits from World War II service can't get more benefits from Korean service.

The World War II benefits not now extended to Korean vets, but which probably will be soon, include vocational and rehabilitation training, total non-service-connected disability pensions, privilege of hospitalization in VA institutions for non-service-connected disablements, education and home business loan benefits, $20 unemployment compensation for a year, automobiles for amputees, mustering out pay and homestead preference.

There is sentiment for letting one World War II benefit be added to a Korean vet's rights. That's vocational and rehabilitation training for any World War II vet who took some other GI training but who might be disabled fighting the Reds.

Another extra benefit which the American Legion is expected to press for is the granting of an automatic National Life Insurance Policy of $5000 for a period of 120 days. This would give all men in Korea, who hadn't already taken advantage of it, a chance to buy GI insurance.

Even without special Congressional action, however, the men who will be veterans of the Korean fighting are not without some benefits. Those who suffer injury or diease are entitled to disability compensation at full wartime rates. Dependents of those killed in action get death compensation benefits. A widow without children gets $75 a month. It's $30 more for the first child and $25 more for each additional child.

Your Fortune In Your Feet

By Saul Pett
AP Newsfeatures Writer

New York—I had my fortune told by a lady who read my feet.

Now, what's so funny? After all, sole reading is just as legitimate as palm reading. True, it tickles more, but it involves the same life lines and heart lines and head lines and bumps used in reading character and the future from a hand.

For example, I have a lot of Venus on the bottoms of my feet just as I do in my palms. This means I'm loving, warm-hearted and a good family man. That's what Carmelita said.

Carmelita is a dark, attractive, Spanish-born lady who reads palms nightly in the Cog Rogue, a night club. Privately, she reads feet, too. She says this is an old Chinese custom and every bit as accurate as hand analysis.

So I took off my shoes and sox. Carmelita used a small flashlight. She handled my feet very delicately. She didn't actually tickle; I imagined she did. My tootsies were tense.

Carmelita studied my left foot and appeared delighted.

"Ah," she said, "you have more Venus than I thought. But then you're critical and analytical, too. Your little toe is very long. That gives you a certain astuteness which your face doesn't show."

"Really?"

"Yes. And your Mercury pads show you inherited a lot of intuition. You should use it more."

Carmelita paused and frowned.

"This concerns a great emotional conflict," she said, "which has occured in the last five years or will take place in the very near future. It has or will change your whole personality. But your critical toe tips restrain you from using your intuition more."

"You're more sensitive than I thought. You have suppressed your introspective nature. That is shown in the middle toe. The pad is so prominent it lends force to your type. It's so big I'm surprised you don't have a corn there."

Carmelita switched to my right foot.

On your toes and your soles. That's where your fortune can be read, Carmelita tells reporter Saul Pett.

"You have become too cautious. broken. You see it? It crossed the Your destiny line is beautiful but other three lines near the center of your foot. You must dare more. Fate is with you. You will succeed.

"But watch your health between 57 and 59. There is a warning for that period and you must watch your health then. But there's nothing fatal. Your life line is long.

"And here we have the complex you. You have your neuroses, like many people, but you know the nature of them. You're not the type to rush to a psychoanalyst. Your heel indicates that. It's clear and clean. No lines. That means your subconscious is clear.

"You will have three careers. The first will involve your mind and your hands. The second will be an opportunity to teach others. The third will be forced on you by circumstances. You will have to travel far since your right little toe is longer than the left. As we gain experience, this little toe grows. But you will come back safely."

Sheepishly, I asked about women

"There will be a second woman," Carmelita said. "But her status is not yet clear. Notice the little triangle between your life, head and heart lines. You know, I like your right foot better than your left. If you had followed the left, you would have been terribly hurt.

"And the hair on your feet. That indicates great moral strength. True, you're unconventional but you have your own principles and you will never violate them."

I thanked Carmelita and put on my sox and shoes. I left on tiptoe anxious not to abuse my two little prophets.

That's what it cost him for fuel for the 188-mile hop in his four-place, 145-horsepower plane, and he hopes that some day automobiles and trucks, as well as other airplanes, will be traveling on the same cheap fuel.

The Oklahoma City inventor does it by using butane gas, which costs from five to seven cents a gallon, instead of gasoline at 32 cents a gallon.

The trick is in his adapter device, which feeds the butane from a tank installed behind the pilot's seat into a conventional carburetor. After two years of work to perfect the device, he's now seeking patents, and the Civil Aeronautics Authority has granted him a certificate to use it in planes.

Although airports aren't likely to have butane on hand at the moment, Hughes was able to refuel on his flight to Dallas by utilizing a tankful used at the field for heating buildings. Otherwise, however, he could have switched to gasoline in his plane's regular tanks.

Since butane is lighter than gasoline, it compensates for the weight of the extra tank. But he is perfecting a method of storing the gas in the wings of small planes to eliminate the tank.

Hughes says his butane adapter has been tried out on cars and trucks, and works as well as it does in his planes.

Dog Has His Own Account

By NEA Service

Lexington, Ky.—(NEA)—There are lots of wealthy dogs around. Some have mink jackets and gold-plated collars. But Nigel the Sultan, a handsome Dalmatian, is the only dog who has his own checking account.

His paw-print is on file at the Security Trust Company here, among the signatures of the bank's other accounts. And his checks are duly processed and honored. It's all very legal.

Nigel's checking account was set up for him by his owner, J. H. Ransom. Ransom figured Nigel deserved it. After all, he was earning a comfortable income at stud, making anywhere from $50 to $250 apiece for the pups. As a successful businessman, Nigel should be able to spend a little here and there for little luxuries like liver and dog biscuits if he wanted to.

The bankers aren't worried about his way to follow his father until an accident ended his career in his chosen profession. His leg was cut by a mower. But the versatile Nigel immediately took up another profession, as a stud dog. And he's a big success.

Ransom bought him four years ago. He wanted a sire with distinct black rings around his eyes, something his other Dalmatians lacked. Nigel obligingly produced sons and daughters with black eyes.

And now, the successful entrepreneur has his own checking account, with a picture of himself in the corner of each check. He has his own stationary, too, with the same picture on it.

The bankers aren' worried about the account. They know Nigel as an upstanding member of the community who has a steady income. They don't figure on encountering any rubber checks or on his funds becoming insufficient.

But there is one thing puzzling them—how will Nigel manage to balance his account each month?

Wants Compulsory Quartet Singing

Huntsville, Ark.—Sherman Clark likes quartet singing so much he thinks there ought to be a law making courses in appreciation of quartet singing compulsory in all schools.

Clark, guiding light of most of the singing conventions in the Ozarks of northwest Arkansas, recently launched a campaign to bring about national and state laws on the subject.

In his column "Springs" in the Madison County Record," he "strongly urged all singers and would-be ones to join me in a mighty crusade for state and national laws making musical appreciation a required subject for all students in all public, private and parochial schools."

The laws, he added, "must make it a felony for any male or female to throw flintrocks larger than goose eggs at any person with his an honest endeavor to produce a sound remotely resembling music."

Clark, who describes himself as "a sort of professional amateur writer-entertainer-dreamer paid mainly in the golden coin focnomainly in the golden coin of contentment," lives alone in his small cabin on Hock's creek. His "Home on Hock" is lined with manuscripts song books and volumes of classic and modern literature.

He said his campaign for musical appreciation laws drew immediate response. "State Rep. Rolla Fitch and State Sen. John Cloer phoned to say they are getting an appropriate bill ready to push through the Arkansas legislature," he said.

SHARPEN TEETH

One of the largest trees in the world is the giant cypress of Tule, located near Oaxaco, Mexico. The giant tree has a circumference of 175 feet.

Ouachita Valley Association Has Broad Comprehensive Plans

Nearly everyone living in the Ouachita River Valley is aware of the fact that an extensive development program is under way, at the present time, but few people realize how many different kinds of projects are programmed for the improvement of the valley or what agency is responsible for putting them into operation.

When people talk about the Valley development they are apt to emphasize flood control, navigation, recreation or the special features they are interested in and thus the casual listener might not be informed of the broad comprehensive plan under which all development projects are being worked out.

The general improvement of the main stem of the Ouachita River and its larger tributaries is under the control and management of the corps of engineers, U. S. Army. This includes the building of all large dams and reservoirs, control of floods, construction of levees and the management of the water for navigation, stream cleansing and sediment abatement, public recreation, wild life preservation, hydro power production, municipal and industrial waters, drainage and irrigation.

Soil and water conservation on the upper branches and small streams of the watershed as well as land and water management in the forest and on the farms of the entire basin are under the supervision of the Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

All of the soil and water conservation projects and the land and water management programs go to make up the master project embodied in the comprehensive development plan for the valley.

Recently other Federal agencies have interested themselves in the Ouachita program and are proposing additional projects operating largely in the field for social betterment. The new development angles are being considered by an inter-agency committee and were discussed at a public hearing held at El Dorado, Arkansas, August 17th.

At the El Dorado hearing, H. K. Thatcher, executive vice president of the Ouachita Valley Association outlined the scope of the comprehensive plan of the Ouachita Basin as it is now authorized by the congress and expressed the general opinion of the people of the valley in regard to the plan. His statement, reproduced in part is as follows:

Program Authorized

The people of the Ouachita Valley are always glad of an opportunity to present their soil and water problems to the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the corps of engineers, U. S. Army. They are also glad to present them to other federal agencies who may be able to contribute something to the solution of their problems. But, at the outset, it must be pointed out that the Ouachita river drainage basin already has a congressionally approved and authorized comprehensive program including multiple and single purpose dams and reservoirs, flood control, modern 9' river navigation, hydro power production, stream cleansing and sediment abatement, wild life protection, public recreation development, water for domestic and industrial use, integrated drainage system, soil and water conservation, land management and for other purposes.

The soil and water conservation and land management survey is now being made jointly by the forest service and soil conservation service and soil conservation of Agriculture. The completed report is due in June 1951 and will become an integral part of the overall basin plan of development and improvement.

This comprehensive plan is embodied in Public Law 516 by the 81st Congress, and is the result of long years of careful study and numerous surveys. While it may not cover all of the improvement features that the people would like to see, they want it thoroughly understood that they are entirely satisfied with the agencies which developed the segments of this comprehensive plan and who are now in the process of helping to motivate them. They do not want interference from any source in carrying out the features of this comprehensive plan. The studies have been completed, the authorizations granted and it is now time for action.

If any other agencies, Federal, State or private, have anything to offer which would supplement or enhance the present program and these can be accepted without causing delay, disturbance in cost - benefit ratio, or material change in the comprehensive plan, the people, of course, want these offerings considered.

ECONOMIC SCOPE

The Ouachita River basin covers 25,000 square miles in Southeastern Arkansas and Northeastern Louisiana. The northern one-fourth of the basin lies in the Ouachita Mountain plateau which has elevation up to 2,000'. Adjoining the mountainous area is a coastal plain region of rolling hills with elevation up to 400'. The balance of the basin is in the alluvial soils of the Mississippi River flood plains.

The basin has 9,500,000 acres of commercial timber and a million more in farm lands. 65 per cent of this timber is pine. The Ouachita Valley is said to be the fastest pine growing section in the Nation.

The commercial minerals of the Valley include Bauxite, Barite, Cinnabar, Clays, Chalk, Gypsum, Lignite, Manganese, Slates, Sand and Gravel, low grade Iron Ore and great reserves of Natural Gas and Petroleum and their derivatives.

The fertile rolling soils of the hills and alluvial valleys produce cotton, corn, rice, small grains, soybeans, fruits, berries, nuts, vegetables and potatoes.

Beef cattle, dairy cattle, hogs and poultry thrive on the luxurious grasses and legumes found growing everywhere.

Fishing is good in all lakes and streams.

Soon a million people will be living in the Ouachita Valley and today there live within 500 miles of the Valley, 65,000,000 Americans providing a market unparalelled in the world today.

WATER POLICY

Aside from air, water is perhaps man's most essential requirement and the Ouachita River with its tributaries provides enormous quantities of pure, clean, usable water for both domestic and industrial consumption. No other basin in the United States

Thus, the Ouachita Basin has three basic surplus water problems. (1) to control the rush ot combines such a plentiful supply of good waters with all of the other essentials for good living and profitable industrial expansion. All of this mind you, plus the safest geographic location in the Nation.

The annual rainfall in the Ouachita River basin is 51". The average annual run-off is between 14" and 20". Excessive rains occur in the Spring of the year and when these torrential rains fall in the mountains the water virtually leaps out of the hills to join the waters which have fallen on the lower flat lands. When this happens devastating floods occur.

waters out of the hills; (2) to confine and utilize the waters in the main stem of the Ouachita and its principal tributaries; and, (3) to drain surplus waters from the low, flat lands of the basin.

The fundamental philosophy of the comprehensive plan developed for the Ouachita Basin is to determine by survey all feasible projects that can advance the plan to its ultimate goal and then to build, construct and to carry out these projects if they can be economically justified. These investments must be made in good times and bad and without regard to timing, employment characteristics or business conditions. Except for national security reasons there is no need for deviating from this policy.

PRIMARY OBJECTIVES

The primary objectives of the comprehensive plan may be listed as follows:

1. Control at or near the high points in the watershed, excessive run-off waters by forest plantings, grass lands, strip cropping, terracing, check dams, ponds, lakes, pools and reservoirs, thus conserving as much water in place as possible and preventing violent overflows down stream.

2. The main stem of the river and tributaries to be cleared of debris and obstructions, channel cut-offs made to straighten the river or streams and channels dredged in order to speed up water flow to lessen flood heights and dilute refuse to a point of tolerance.

3. Protect low land from overflow by levees where necessary.

4. Drainage of alluvial lands by an integrated drainage system that will carry the excess waters off the land and into main drainage bayous, canals, creeks and rivers with care to prevent the piling up of waters in any particular area.

5. The practice of good land and water management on all land in every part of the basin.

6. The development of a modern all year nine foot navigation barge channel on the Red-Black-Ouachita rivers in Louisiana and Arkansas up stream as far as can be economically justified. This also to include the canalization of some of the main tributaries for the purpose of limited barge transportation.

7. Construction of multiple-purpose dams and reservoirs where feasible to include waters assigned to flood control, recreation, fish and wild life preservation, municipal water supplies, industrial water supplies, navigation, stream renovation and sediment abatement, hydro power and irrigation.

8. Single purpose dams to impound water for specific requirements.

9. Agricultural and industrial expansion.

The Ouachita Valley has had every phase of its rivers and tributaries studied and surveyed during the past 25 years. Development work has begun in all areas and the need now is for speedy completion of the projects. Whatever justification credits that have been built up in the valley are needed to complete the work outlined in the comprehensive plan and any attempt to shift these credit benefits to any other watershed will be resisted.

SINGLE MANAGEMENT

Agricultural and industrial expansion comes to an area by virtue of having an abundance of domestic and commercial water, coupled with available commercial minerals; plentiful raw materials from farms and forests; good transportation systems; plenty of cheap fuel for making power; good living conditions and a contented industrious people.

All of these assets are to be found in the Ouachita River Valley ready for use. With reasonable management they will yield abundant returns.

Water, being the limiting factor, it is obvious that multiple-purpose reservoirs should be managed judiciously and in accordance with a master plan in order to provide water for year round domestic and industrial use, assist navigation, provide for recreation facilities, stream cleansing and sediment abatement and for the manufacturing of hydro-electric power to supplement gas-steam electric generating systems.

It is equally obvious that the management of these reservoirs and other flood control dams and large structures or check-dam devices should be in the hands of the agency responsible for the behavior of the rivers and streams.

COUNTERFEITERS

Lloyd Heath in an article in Stamps magazine, tells the story of an attempt in Korea to counterfeit and market the 15 weum UPU issue. Heath, just returned from Korea, says the counterfeiters were about to be brought to trial when the invasion took place. The fake stamps may be on the market now, warns Heath. They are on unwatermarked paper, not gummed or perforated. The red and yellow colors are lighter in shade than the genuine adhesives. The lettering on the fakes is slightly larger than on the originals.

Marching off to war, these marines—and others like them headed for Korea—will soon get a chance at G. I. benefits.

Korea Soldiers Will Get Vet's Benefits

By Douglas Larsen

NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington —(NEA)— Congress is now preparing to extend veterans benefits to the men who are fighting in Korea.

The powerful national veterans organizations have their full weight behind it. And congressmen admit that something must be done about the matter very soon.

In general it is predicted that Korean combat veterans will be given just about the same GI Bill of Rights beneifts provided World War II vets. But there are some ticklish questions yet to be settled. They involve committing the U. S. Treasury to annual expenditures of hundreds of millions of dollars for many years to come.

The key questions are these:

Should the benefits be limited to those men who actually see action in Korea?

Should benefits be given to all men who might serve in the Korean theater, but who might not see combat action?

Should benefits be extended to all men who enlist or who are drafted in connection with the Korean crisis?

Veterans Administration gives a rough estimate of $31,000,000 for providing 10,000 veterans with rehabilitation and GI bill benefits. The president has authorized the drafting of 185,000 men for this year.

If all of these men are given benefits, as they were during World War II, the bill will be $573.5 million. Without an official declaration of war, however, there are precedents for limiting benefits to only those men who see action in Korea.

Practically all of the 15-odd bills which have already been introduced would limit benefits to those men actually in combat. Also they all prohibit the "pyramiding" of benefits. In other words, men in the service who have already used some veterans benefits from World War II service can't get more benefits from Korean service.

The World War II benefits not now extended to Korean vets, but which probably will be soon, include vocational and rehabilitation training, total non-service-connected disability pensions, privilege of hospitalization in VA institutions for non-service-connected disablements, education and home business loan benefits, $20 unemployment compensation for a year, automobiles for amputees, mustering out pay and homestead preference.

There is sentiment for letting one World War II benefit be added to a Korean vet's rights. That's vocational and rehabilitation training for any World War II vet who took some other GI training but who might be disabled fighting the Reds.

Another extra benefit which the American Legion is expected to press for is the granting of an automatic National Life Insurance Policy of $5000 for a period of 120 days. This would give all men in Korea, who hadn't already taken advantage of it, a chance to buy GI insurance.

Even without special Congressional action, however, the men who will be veterans of the Korean fighting are not without some benefits. Those who suffer injury or diease are entitled to disability compensation at full wartime rates. Dependents of those killed in action get death compensation benefits. A widow without children gets $75 a month. It's $30 more for the first child and $25 more for each additional child.

Your Fortune In Your Feet

By Saul Pett

AP Newsfeatures Writer

New York—I had my fortune told by a lady who read my feet.

Now, what's so funny? After all, sole reading is just as legitimate as palm reading. True, it tickles more, but it involves the same life lines and heart lines and head lines and bumps used in reading character and the future from a hand.

For example, I have a lot of Venus on the bottoms of my feet just as I do in my palms. This means I'm loving, warm-hearted and a good family man. That's what Carmelita said.

Carmelita is a dark, attractive, Spanish-born lady who reads palms nightly in the Cog Rogue, a night club. Privately, she reads feet, too. She says this is an old Chinese custom and every bit as accurate as hand analysis.

So I took off my shoes and sox. Carmelita used a small flashlight. She handled my feet very delicately. She didn't actually tickle; I imagined she did. My tootsies were tense.

Carmelita studied my left foot and appeared delighted.

"Ah," she said, "you have more Venus than I thought. But then you're critical and analytical, too. Your little toe is very long. That gives you a certain astuteness which your face doesn't show."

"Really?"

"Yes. And your Mercury pads show you inherited a lot of intuition. You should use it more."

Carmelita paused and frowned.

"This concerns a great emotional conflict," she said, "which has occured in the last five years or will take place in the very near future. It has or will change your whole personality. But your critical toe tips restrain you from using your intuition more.

"You're more sensitive than I thought. You have suppressed your introspective nature. That is shown in the middle toe. The pad is so prominent it lends force to your type. It's so big I'm surprised you don't have a corn there."

Carmelita switched to my right foot.

"You have become too cautious. broken. You see it? It crossed the Your destiny line is beautiful but other three lines near the center of your foot. You must dare more. Fate is with you. You will succeed.

"But watch your health between 57 and 59. There is a warning for that period and you must watch your health then. But there's nothing fatal. Your life line is long.

"And here we have the complex you. You have your neuroses, like many people, but you know the nature of them. You're not the type to rush to a psychoanalyst. Your heel indicates that. It's clear and clean. No lines. That means your subconscious is clear.

"You will have three careers. The first will involve your mind and your hands. The second will be an opportunity to teach others. The third will be forced on you by circumstances. You will have to travel far since your right little toe is longer than the left. As we gain experience, this little toe grows. But you will come back safely."

Sheepishly, I asked about women

"There will be a second woman," Carmelita said. "But her status is not yet clear. Notice the little triangle between your life, head and heart lines. You know, I like your right foot better than your left. If you had followed the left, you would have been terribly hurt.

"And the hair on your feet. That indicates great moral strength. True, you're unconventional but you have your own principles and you will never violate them."

I thanked Carmelita and put on my sox and shoes. I left on tiptoe anxious not to abuse my two little prophets.

On your toes and your soles. That's where your fortune can be read, Carmelita tells reporter Saul Pett.

YUM! YUM! WHAT FUN!

Jack Carson Starred In Comedy, With Lola Albright As Co-Star

Columbia's "The Good Humor Man" is a Jack Carson comedy that dextrously mixes comedy, mystery and romance in the best fun-packed tradition of "The Fuller Brush Man," which successfully made an all-out assault on millions of funnybones. But the current comedy at the Paramount Theater has something its illustrious, and hilarious, predecessor never had! That something is Captain Marvel!

And Captain Marvel makes a difference. The cloaked miracle man, whose feats of super-human strength and agility surpass even those of Superman, comes to vivid life in "The Good Humor Man." Not that the good captain is materialized in physical form; he is just the phantasmogoric image projected in Jack Carson's mind as he tackles his enemies in the vigorous style the comic book hero would.

Jack is a Good Humor ice cream salesman, enterprising, good-natured and with more than a streak of a boy in him. This is recognized by the entire membership of the local Captain Marvel Club, composed of kids, who tender Jack the signal honor of being the only grown-up admitted to the secret order. NIATPAC LEVRAM, simply Captain Marvel pronounced backwards, is their battle cry. And when the thousands of kids in the Captain Marvel clubs throughout the country hear this blood-curdling battle cry reverberate in "The Good Humor Man," they'll be thrilled to the core and will have all they can do to refrain from responding—if they can.

Carson, in "The Good Humor Man," is just another ice cream salesman, with a special yen for pretty Lola Albright, when he meets a disappearing blonde. The blonde, apparently fleeing from gangsters, begs Jack to protect her for the night, which he does, taking all the precautions that Captain Marvel would. The doors of the house are locked, the windows boarded, flour is sprinkled on the floor to record the prints of any intruders, and Jack falls asleep, in another room, reading about Captain Marvel. In the morning, there on the floor, is the blonde making a very pretty corpse, indeed. Carson, in an hilarious scene in which he again adopts the Captain Marvel personality, concludes, from some neat detective work, that he is the murderer!

But it is reserved for the laugh-loaded climax of "The Good Humor Man" to see the disciples of Captain Marvel really go into action! Jack and his girl are trapped in a school by the villains. When the local Captain Marvel club obtains this intelligence, elaborate plans for rallying the kids in the neighborhood are set in motion. From every house, kids make spectacular exits and, in every manner of conveyance imaginable, gather for the attack in the school.

'Francis' Comedy Star In Technicolor Western Hit

'Curtain Call At Cactus Creek' Opens Engagement At Joy Today

Razzle-dazzle action to the staccato of blazing six-shooters, tense roarious comedy and a backstage love story of charm and tenderness are combined in "Curtain Call at Cactus Creek," Technicolor western from Universal-International which opened at the Joy Theater today.

The new western-comedy is Donald O'Connor's first film since his smash success in "Francis," the hilarious story of a talking army mule. The talented O'Connor shares romance in the new comedy with Gale Storm. Walter Brennan, Vincent Price and Eve Arden also receive star billing with O'Connor and Miss Storm. A strong supporting cast includes cowboys, Indians, bandits, miners, and other rugged individuals of the old west as it was in Arizona territory during the '80s.

With the exception of Brennan, a sentimental bank robber, the four stars are seen as members of a theatrical troupe stagecoaching their way through the southwest.

This setup gives O'Connor ample opportunity to display the amazing versatility that has made him one of the outstanding comedians of the day. He sings, dances, rides, duels, makes love and acts, all with skill and finesse.

New 'Corliss Archer' Picture Coming Soon

When F. Hugh Herbert sat down in his study one evening and dashed out a short story for Good Housekeeping Magazine called "A family Affair," he hadn't the slightest idea that in Corliss Archer, his central character, he had fashioned a bobby soxer who was to be the epitome of all teen-agers throughout the United States. But the character became so popular, Herbert decided to write a play woven around her. That was how "Kiss and Tell," a Broadway hit for two seasons, came to be born. Lovely Joan Caulfield made a sensation in the role of Corliss and got her Hollywood contract on the strength of it.

When the play was made into a Hollywood movie, Shirley Temple was given the role and also made a stir in film circles as the irrepressible adolescent whose daily escapades had the whole country laughing.

The story is set in a small town with Shirley, as Corliss, portraying a typical American girl of high school age, but not so typical so far as her ingenuity, beguiling charm and ability to get into and out of amusing scrapes is concerned.

And Captain Marvel makes a difference. The cloaked miracle man, whose feats of super-human strength and agility surpass even those of Superman, comes to vivid life in "The Good Humor Man." Not that the good captain is materialized in physical form; he is just the phantasmogoric image projected in Jack Carson's mind as he tackles his enemies in the vigorous style the comic book hero would.

Jack is a Good Humor ice cream salesman, enterprising, good-natured and with more than a streak of a boy in him. This is recognized by the entire membership of the local Captain Marvel Club, composed of kids, who tender Jack the signal honor of being the only grown-up admitted to the secret order. NIATPAC LEVRAM, simply Captain Marvel pronounced backwards, is their battle cry. And when the thousands of kids in the Captain Marvel clubs throughout the country hear this blood-curdling battle cry reverberate in "The Good Humor Man," they'll be thrilled to the core and will have all they can do to refrain from responding—if they can.

Carson, in "The Good Humor Man," is just another ice cream salesman, with a special yen for pretty Lola Albright, when he meets a disappearing blonde. The blonde, apparently fleeing from gangsters, begs Jack to protect her for the night, which he does, taking all the precautions that Captain Marvel would. The doors of the house are locked, the windows boarded, flour is sprinkled on the floor to record the prints of any intruders, and Jack falls asleep, in another room, reading about Captain Marvel. In the morning, there on the floor, is the blonde making a very pretty corpse, indeed. Carson, in an hilarious scene in which he again adopts the Captain Marvel personality, concludes, from some neat detective work, that he is the murderer!

But it is reserved for the laugh-loaded climax of "The Good Humor Man" to see the disciples of Captain Marvel really go into action! Jack and his girl are trapped in a school by the villains. When the local Captain Marvel club obtains this intelligence, elaborate plans for rallying the kids in the neighborhood are set in motion. From every house, kids make spectacular exits and, in every manner of conveyance imaginable, gather for the attack in the school.

NOW SHOWING AT JOY

'Francis' Comedy Star In Technicolor Western Hit

Razzle-dazzle action to the staccato of blazing six-shooters, tense roarious comedy and a backstage love story of charm and tenderness are combined in "Curtain Call at Cactus Creek," Technicolor western from Universal-International which opened at the Joy Theater today.

The new western-comedy is Donald O'Connor's first film since his smash success in "Francis," the hilarious story of a talking army mule. The talented O'Connor shares romance in the new comedy with Gale Storm. Walter Brennan, Vincent Price and Eve Arden also receive star billing with O'Connor and Miss Storm. A strong supporting cast includes cowboys, Indians, bandits, miners, and other rugged individuals of the old west as it was in Arizona territory during the '80s.

With the exception of Brennan, a sentimental bank robber, the four stars are seen as members of a theatrical troupe stagecoaching their way through the southwest.

Price is the scenery-chewing star of the show, O'Connor is his stagestruck factotum, understudy, property man and press agent, who wants to shine in his own right; Miss Storm is the piquant ingenue and the colorful Miss Arden is a fading star of yesteryear.

This setup gives O'Connor ample opportunity to display the amazing versatility that has made him one of the outstanding comedians of the day. He sings, dances, rides, duels, makes love and acts, all with skill and finesse.

New 'Corliss Archer' Picture Coming Soon

When F. Hugh Herbert sat down in his study one evening and dashed out a short story for Good Housekeeping Magazine called "A family Affair," he hadn't the slightest idea that in Corliss Archer, his central character, he had fashioned a bobby soxer who was to be the epitome of all teen-agers throughout the United States. But the character became so popular, Herbert decided to write a play woven around her. That was how "Kiss and Tell," a Broadway hit for two seasons, came to be born. Lovely Joan Caulfield made a sensation in the role of Corliss and got her Hollywood contract on the strength of it.

When the play was made into a Hollywood movie, Shirley Temple was given the role and also made a stir in film circles as the irrepressible adolescent whose daily escapades had the whole country laughing.

The story is set in a small town with Shirley, as Corliss, portraying a typical American girl of high school age, but not so typical so far as her ingenuity, beguiling charm and ability to get into and out of amusing scrapes is concerned.

DOROTHY DIX

Masculine Virtues

Traits That Appeal Before Wedding May Appal Later

IF MANY of the qualities that look so alluring to a man in a woman before marriage wear a different aspect in his eyes after marriage, so also do women discover that the traits of character that were fascinating in a lover are often unbearable in a husband.

For instance, there is the caveman stuff. There are mighty few women who don't fall for that. If every maiden got her heart's desire, she would be wooed with a club and dragged by the hair of her head to the altar by a determined he-man who married her despite her protests, real or pretended. She longs to be dominated. She is thrilled by being ordered about by a man who is big and strong and ruthless and who makes her jump when he tells her just where she gets off

Good. But not so good after marriage. Masterful men are interesting figures in fiction, but they are a pain in the neck around the home. Intelligent, educated women who have held down good jobs before marriage don't take kindly to being bossed about by husbands who treat them as if they were feeble-minded girl babies.

HATE TO ASK

Nor do they relish having to ask husband's permission to go to see Mother, or play bridge on Wednesday afternoon. And they simply see red when their tyrants supervise the amount of lipstick they use and pick out their clothes. Perhaps you have noticed that when a woman says, "I'll have to ask my husband if I can do this or that," she always grits her teeth. That is the curse she is putting on her strong-man dream.

Another quality that few girls can resist in a man is sentiment. They adore the man who "understands women" and all the queer impulses that motivate them; who always sends violets because they are the color of their eyes, or lilies because they match their souls, and who makes love in beautiful romantic language on a moonlight night with sobbing music in the distance, instead of blurting out something that sounds like a proposal while they are dodging traffic in the middle of the day on a crowded street.

But after marriage there is no percentage to a wife in her husband understanding women too well and knowing when they cry for grief or just to get their own way, or because they are simply bound to have a new fur coat. Likewise, the wife soon finds out that when a man has a gift for love-making it is like any other talent. He is never happy unless he is using it, and he doesn't waste much of it on his wife. The great lovers of history were none of them renowned for their domesticity. It is the wife who had to help her husband propose who doesn't have to always be looking after her fences and keeping them painted.

Then there are the playboys who seem the answer to a maiden's prayer for a husband. They have such a keen line that a girl feels that one of them would make a simply thrilling fireside companion. Always the newest story and the best joke. And wouldn't it be grand to be married to a man who was a good dancer and always ready to go out and who wouldn't have to be dragged to places the way Mother does Father?

MARRIAGE IS SERIOUS

But, alas, when you get married the party is over, and you have to settle down to work and the playboy still wants to play and spend his money on good times instead of paying the butcher. And when the babies come he still steps out and leaves wifie to spend her evenings by her lonesome. Somehow gayety and light-heartedness and carefreeness in a man don't make a hit with a wife that they did with a sweetheart. Women are funny that way.

Then there is the go-getter, the man who is wrapped up in his business. He looks like a safe bet to a girl. She figures it out that, while he may be a little short on romance, he is long on dependability and she will never have to worry about him chasing after any other woman except the one on the dollar.

But after marriage a husband's absorption in business doesn't seem as shining a virtue as it did before and, no matter how profitable the enterprise, a woman who is interested in the cultural things of life gets fed up on listening to all the details of the grocery trade or the stock market, and as she yawns her head off she wonders why she ever thought a cash register would make a parlor ornament.

Then there are the men who appeal to women by being good sons until their wives find they can never cut Mother's apron strings. Or by their weaknesses until their wives get tired of picking them out of the gutter, or supporting lazy loafers, or keeping philanderers from wandering, and give it up and spend the remainder of their lives wondering what they ever saw in the men they married that made them do it.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By Oswald Jacoby

'Silent Treatment' Draws Groan

Written for NEA Service

A letter from New Haven reads as follows:

"Recently both sides needed fifty only but the discard pile was frozen from the start, and no one melded at all for several rounds. Finally, I made an unfortunate discard and the next player took the discard pile and made several melds including one canasta.

"My partner failed to meld anything and the next player completed one more canasta, built a couple of melds up to six of a kind, and discarded. My hand was joker-ace-ace-ace - king-king-king - 7-2-2-2. I drew another ace and promptly melded out concealed. My partner had nothing to say, but both opponents criticized me severely for melding out without giving my partner a chance to put some meld down.

"I contended that if I waited even one round, they would be likely to make one or two more canastas and that would cost us more than we could gain by my partner melding. What do you think?"

I think that my correspondent did exactly the right thing. Her opponents had melded but still had plenty of cards in their hands. The chances were that they could complete at least one more canasta if they had any way of suspecting someone was about to go out and get the hand over with. Hence, the correct play was to go right out and end the hand.

Of course, if the New Haven lady had some means of telling her partner to meld, without warning her opponents of the situation, then she should not have gone out. Unfortunately there was no such way available. If she asked, "Partner, may I go out?" her opponents would know the situation.

If she made the canasta in aces, melded the three kings, and held up one deuce, her opponents would not know that she was able to go out for sure, but they would know that she would surely have a chance to go right out. Hence they would meld everything they could anyway.

Finally, I think things are getting into a pretty state of confusion when opponents start doing the criticizing. In a partnership game, there are plenty of instances where a player will criticize his partner. Such criticism may be given in such manner as not to disrupt the happy home, assuming the partners are married and may often prove constructive and valuable. However, when one side starts criticizing the other, it is time to call a halt.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

The great lovers of history were none of them renowned for their domesticity. It is the wife who had to help her husband propose who doesn't have to always be looking after her fences and keeping them painted.

Then there are the playboys who seem the answer to a maiden's prayer for a husband. They have such a keen line that a girl feels that one of them would make a simply thrilling fireside companion. Always the newest story and the best joke. And wouldn't it be grand to be married to a man who was a good dancer and always ready to go out and who wouldn't have to be dragged to places the way Mother does Father?

MARRIAGE IS SERIOUS

But, alas, when you get married the party is over, and you have to settle down to work and the playboy still wants to play and spend his money on good times instead of paying the butcher. And when the babies come he still steps out and leaves wifie to spend her evenings by her lonesome. Somehow gayety and light-heartedness and carefreeness in a man don't make a hit with a wife that they did with a sweetheart. Women are funny that way.

Then there is the go-getter, the man who is wrapped up in his business. He looks like a safe bet to a girl. She figures it out that, while he may be a little short on romance, he is long on dependability and she will never have to worry about him chasing after any other woman except the one on the dollar.

But after marriage a husband's absorption in business doesn't seem as shining a virtue as it did before and, no matter how profitable the enterprise, a woman who is interested in the cultural things of life gets fed up on listening to all the details of the grocery trade or the stock market, and as she yawns her head off she wonders why she ever thought a cash register would make a parlor ornament.

Then there are the men who appeal to women by being good sons until their wives find they can never cut Mother's apron strings. Or by their weaknesses until their wives get tired of picking them out of the gutter, or supporting lazy loafers, or keeping philanderers from wandering, and give it up and spend the remainder of their lives wondering what they ever saw in the men they married that made them do it.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By Oswald Jacoby

'Silent Treatment' Draws Groan

Written for NEA Service

A letter from New Haven reads as follows:

"Recently both sides needed fifty only but the discard pile was frozen from the start, and no one melded at all for several rounds. Finally, I made an unfortunate discard and the next player took the discard pile and made several melds including one canasta.

"My partner failed to meld anything and the next player completed one more canasta, built a couple of melds up to six of a kind, and discarded. My hand was joker-ace-ace-ace - king-king-king - 7-2-2-2. I drew another ace and promptly melded out concealed. My partner had nothing to say, but both opponents criticized me severely for melding out without giving my partner a chance to put some meld down.

"I contended that if I waited even one round, they would be likely to make one or two more canastas and that would cost us more than we could gain by my partner melding. What do you think?"

I think that my correspondent did exactly the right thing. Her opponents had melded but still had plenty of cards in their hands. The chances were that they could complete at least one more canasta if they had any way of suspecting someone was about to go out and get the hand over with. Hence, the correct play was to go right out and end the hand.

Of course, if the New Haven lady had some means of telling her partner to meld, without warning her opponents of the situation, then she should not have gone out. Unfortunately there was no such way available. If she asked, "Partner, may I go out?" her opponents would know the situation.

If she made the canasta in aces, melded the three kings, and held up one deuce, her opponents would not know that she was able to go out for sure, but they would know that she would surely have a chance to go right out. Hence they would meld everything they could anyway.

Finally, I think things are getting into a pretty state of confusion when opponents start doing the criticizing. In a partnership game, there are plenty of instances where a player will criticize his partner. Such criticism may be given in such manner as not to disrupt the happy home, assuming the partners are married and may often prove constructive and valuable. However, when one side starts criticizing the other, it is time to call a halt.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

AND ONCE I NEARLY GOT ONE.

WELL, YES, THAT IS ONE OF THE REASONS.

IF IT WASN'T FOR THEM YA WOULDN'T HAVE MAMIE.

THEY'RE NOT SO FOND OF YOU, EITHER--MY MOTHER WARNED ME I WAS A NINNY TO MARRY A MULLINS.

DID SHE SAY THAT?

GOOD GOSH! AND ALL THESE YEARS THE INJUSTICE I'VE DONE THAT WOMAN!

HERE YOU ARE, SIR. TWO TICKETS TO ROUGH RAPIDS. AND HOW ABOUT TRAVEL INSURANCE?

TICKETS

HOW MUCH IS THAT?

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A DAY FOR $5,000. THAT COVERS ACCIDENT AND--

I WILL TAKE 75¢ WORTH, INSURING MYSELF FOR $15,000. I COULD USE THAT NICELY.

BOY, TAKE THIS TICKET TO MRS. MULLINS AT THAT ADDRESS AND TELL HER MR. MULLINS WILL MEET HER AT THE STATION.

YOU BETTER BEAT IT, UNCLE WILLIE, OR YOU'LL MISS YOUR TRAIN.

OH, WELL--YOU KNOW HOW IMPATIENT MAMIE IS. IF I AIN'T THERE SHE WON'T WAIT AND I CAN CASH IN ON MY TICKET LATER.

HO-HUM! AIN'T YOU AFRAID TO STAY OUT SO LATE, WILLIE?

AFRAID? MY BOY, I DON'T EVEN KNOW THE MEANIN IG OF THE WORD

THAT IS, WITH HIS WIFE MILES AWAY ON A TRAIN HE DON'T.

WELL, UNCLE WILLIE, YOU HAVE MY SYMPATHY.

I DON'T NEED NO SYMPATHY. BUT WAIT A MINUTE, MOON. I WANT TO CHECK UP ON SOMETHING.

HELLO, TICKET OFFICE? --IN CASE OF ANYTHING HAPPENING TO THE INSURED ON ACCOUNT OF HIS WIFE'S MISSING A TRAIN, WOULD THE INSURANCE COMPANY CONSIDER THAT A ACCIDENT?

YOUR HONOR! WE'RE NOT SAYING SLUG IS BALMY - HE JUST NEVER HAD MORE THAN FOUR DOLLARS AT ONE TIME AND HE DOESN'T KNOW HOW TO HANDLE BIG MONEY!

AND AS HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW, I WANT TO CONSERVE HIS CASH FOR HIS WIFE AND FAMILY.. AND GET A TRIP TO MEXICO FOR ME!

ALL WE ASK, YOUR HONOR, IS A JUST SETTLEMENT OF SLUG'S DEBTS BEFORE HE BLOWS THE WHOLE WAD!

I'VE BEEN GIVING HIM ROOM AND BOARD FOR FREE FOR TWO YEARS.. AND NOW HE RINGS IN A PAIR OF TWINS ON ME!

WHOEVER SHOT ME WITH THAT BEANSHOOTER IS GUILTY OF CONTEMPT OF COURT!

YOUR HONOR! THE PRISONER WANTS A PAPER AND PENCIL!

EVERYBODY CALLS ME MINNIE, BUT I'LL CHANGE IT TO MINERVA, NOW THAT SLUG IS RICH.

HAVE YOU TURNED DOWN ANY MOVIE CONTRACTS?

AND I TRIED TO SELL SLUG A NEW SUPER-DELUX, BUT HE SAYS HE'D RATHER DRIVE HIS OLD CAR.. I TELL YOU HE'S NUTS!

WAIT, SLUG, SURELY YOU'RE NOT GOING TO SIGN A CONFESSION!

NO! I JUST THOUGHT OF ANOTHER SWELL QUESTION TO SEND TO THE BRAIN-BUSTER PROGRAM

THE ONES I SAW TODAY, ALICE, LOOK JUST LIKE RECORDS ONLY THEY TURNED FASTER.

GO IN THERE AND TELL IT TO THE JUDGE!

I THINK HE JUST IMAGINED IT!

BUT SUPPOSE HE REALLY DID SEE THEM!

OH, MY GOODNESS

HERE, HIDE THIS, SAMPSON. THEY'LL PROBABLY SEARCH ME FIRST!

HELLO, JOHN, CAN YOU SEE ME?

THAT LAWYER ASKED ME SIXTEEN QUESTIONS SO FAST I COULDN'T ANSWER ANY OF THEM!

WELL, DON'T FEEL TOO BAD ABOUT IT, BINGO! IN SOME STATES THEY DON'T LET A DOG TESTIFY AT ALL!

I STILL SAY, ARNOLD, IF I HAD BEEN YOUR GUARDIAN WHEN WE WERE WITH THE CARNIVAL, WE'D BE LIVING ON EASY STREET TODAY!

LARGA GUIDES FLASH AND DALE TO A VOLCANO CRATER WHERE SHE HOPES HER BROTHER LOYO IS HIDING. SUDDENLY THERE IS A GRIM WARNING: "HALT OR I'LL SHOOT!"

"IS THAT YOU, LOYO?" LARGA CALLS. THE OUTLAW RUNS TOWARD THEM. "LARGA?" HE GASPS HAPPILY. "FLASH! YOU'VE ESCAPED FROM ZIN?" FLASH GREETS HIS OLD FRIEND: "RIGHT, LOYO, NOW WE CAN FIGHT BACK."

LEAVING A FEW MEN TO PROTECT THE GIRLS, FLASH LEADS THE LITTLE BAND OF FREE MEN WHO HAVE ESCAPED ZIN'S SLAVE-GAS. "WE'LL STRIKE FIRST AT ZIN'S LIQUIGEN-BOMB," FLASH DECIDES. "THAT'S HIS GREATEST WEAPON."

"HIDE," LOYO WARNS. "HERE COMES ONE OF ZIN'S ATOM-CARS." FLASH LAUGHS. "HIDE? NO, WE'LL CAPTURE IT. COME ON, MEN," HE SHOUTS.

BUT ZIN HAS ALREADY DISCOVERED FLASH'S ESCAPE. AS FLASH AND HIS MEN SWARM OVER THE ATOM-CAR, WAVES OF ZIN'S SEARCHERS FILL THE SKY AND HIGHWAYS OF THE OUTLAW MOON.

NOW, MY LITTLE FELLOW, COME IN...YOU LOOK WARM...HOW ABOUT SOME ICE CREAM?

GRANDFATHER HAS HAD US WORRIED TO DEATH... MY, WHAT A RELIEF TO KNOW SOMEONE HAS SEEN HIM...

MORE ICE CREAM...NOW YOU MUST HAVE SOME OF THAT CHOCOLATE CAKE...THERE WE ARE, SONNY...POOR GRANDFATHER...WE HAVE BEEN SO...SO UPSET...

I WISH HE'D ASK ME IF I HAVE SAW HIM... AN' HE WOULD KNOW.

HAVE YOU SEEN HIM... DO YOU KNOW WHERE HE IS?

WHERE?.. IS HE ALIVE?

B-BLUPP

OH...I MUST HAVE FRIGHTENED YOU...I..I WAS SO EXCITED AND HAPPY... W-WHERE IS HE?

I GUESS HE'S JUS' SO HAPPY. I WAS MISTOOK BY BEING FRIGHTENED.

UH...WHERE IS OUR POOR DEAR GRANDFATHER...CAN YOU TAKE ME TO HIM?

THE LITTLE PEST INSISTS ON THAT STUPID THING...PUT IT IN THE LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT

YESSIR, MR. WILLIAM.

OH, HE LIVES AT YOUR HOUSE... IS HE WELL...DOES HE SEEM HAPPY?

THE OLD FOOL...HE'LL NEVER GET OUT OF THE HOUSE AGAIN... UNTIL...

IT'S SO GOOD T'KNOW MY POOR OLD GESS WILL BE WITH HIS FAMBLY AGAIN WHICH LOVES HIM... HE'LL BE S'HAPPY...

LITTLE MAX IS THE MOST REMARKABLE LITTLE FELLOW...HE'S JUST AMAZING...WHY THIS IS THE FIRST HAPPINESS I'VE KNOWN IN YEARS. THANK GOODNESS I DON'T HAVE TO GO BACK TO THOSE OGRES...

YOUR MUSIC'S ATROCIOUS, BUT YOUR LYRICS--AH, BLONDEL, SING ME ANOTHER!

MY MASTER, TH' KING, IN ARMOR IS GIRT, ELSE HIS BIG NOSE I'D RUB IN TH' DIRT! THOUGH HE BUTCHERS TH' ENEMY, HIS FRIENDS HE DOES SCORN! A WORSE KING OF ENGLAND NEVER WAS BORN!

ISN'T THAT AWFUL?!!

JUST WAIT! I'LL FIX THAT BIG APE!

SO Y'DON'T LIKE MY STUFF, EH? OKAY, SO WHAT?

SO I'LL CUFF SOME SENSE INTO YOUR THICK SKULL... RIGHT NOW!

WHOP! CLANG CLATTER BUMP THUD

WHAT ON EARTH?

THE MINSTREL STRUCK THIS KNIGHT, YOUR HIGHNESS!

BLONDEL, YOU FOOL, NOW I CAN AID YOU ONLY WITH OFFER OF SWORD AND ARMOR!

NUTS TO THE ARMOR! JUST GIVE ME A SWORD AN' ROOM TO SWING IT!

GENTLEMEN... ONE! TWO!...

POOR DOPE! A PRICELESS MINSTREL, BUT BLESSED WITH THE JUDGMENT OF A FOOL!

YOU ARE BETTER NOW, SENOR EASY?

MUCH BETTER, MISS FERODEZ! THAT WAS A DIRTY WALLOP, COMING FROM WISE HORSE! TO THINK I TRUSTED THAT GUY!

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

HE'S AFTER THAT TREASURE YOUR ANCESTOR, CARLOS FERODEZ, BURIED SO MANY YEARS AGO! I'VE GOT TO FIND IT FIRST! CAN YOU DRIVE?

SI! IF YOUR HEAD HURTS, I DRIVE!

IT'S NOT MY HEAD, BUT I'VE GOT TO DO SOME FIGURING WITH THIS RANGER MAP! BETTER HEAD FOR CACTUS RANGE--THOSE HILLS AHEAD!

UNLESS WE CLIMB THE MOUNTAIN, WE MUST STOP!

I THINK THIS IS WHAT I'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR ANYHOW!

YOU HAVE THE BIG JOB--IF YOU WISH TO CLEAR AWAY ALL THIS BRUSH!

I'M LOOKING FOR SOME KIND OF A MARKER THAT SHOULD BE HERE!

THIS X, YOU SAY, MARKS WHERE THE TREASURE IS BURIED?

IT MUST! BRUSH HAS HIDDEN IT ALL THESE YEARS! NOW WE'LL DIG!

DOWN! SOMEBODY'S USING US FOR CLAY PIGEONS!
